ISTHMIAN CANAL MEANS MILLIONS TO PITTSBURGH

Will Give an All Water Route to Markets of the World.

FOREIGN TRADE WILL RECEIVE GREAT BOOM

Immense Saving in Time, Distance and Freight Charges Will Result.

11,000 MILES ARE SAVED ON JOURNEY TO 'FRISCO

Barges Could Be Loaded Here and No Transfer of Cargo Would Be Necessary — Impetus to Coal Trade.

Recent developments in the isthmian canal proposition have led the business men of Pittsburgh and vicinity to believe that the establishment of a waterway connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans is now but a question of a few years required for construction. With the canal practically an assured fact, the first thing which appeals to the local business man is just in what respect he will benefit by it.

Heads of all the great corporations, many of them with large manufacturing plants in this district, have been deeply interested in the isthmian canal for years. It is indeed an unthinking man who cannot and does not realize to what an extent Pittsburgh manufacturers will benefit by the construction of the canal.

On account of the deep interest aroused throughout this section of the country by the canal discussion now on in congress, The Gazette has made an effort to show in some measure how Pittsburgh and the surrounding districts will profit by the new waterway. Every business man agrees that the benefit to Pittsburgh manufacturers will be almost incalculable, as the greatest profit will doubtless arise from new markets created for Pittsburgh products, and the value of this item cannot be estimated.

By the River Route.

An important feature in the consideration of benefits to Pittsburgh is the completion of the United States government work on locks and dams in the Ohio river. Rivermen and others in a position to speak authoritatively on the subject feel sure that once navigation is established on the Ohio river between Pittsburgh and Louisville the year round, Pittsburgh manufactured products can be loaded in Pittsburgh in ocean-going barges and taken to their destination without breaking bulk.

A complete system of locks and dams has already been established on the Monongahela river. Plans are now being perfected which will open at least a part of the Allegheny river. The same plans are being pushed to completion on the Ohio river, so that Pittsburghers may feel sure that within a short time Pittsburgh will be the central harbor of one of the greatest inland waterways in the country. Such a state of affairs is of incalculable importance to Pittsburgh manufacturers.

Saving of Millions.

The profits which would pile up from Pittsburgh exports will amount to millions of dollars yearly. Freight charges yearly would be saved to the extent of several millions. Greater and more extensive markets would be established the world over, and the importance of Pittsburgh as a commercial center would expand far beyond the boundaries of the United States.

Pittsburgh as a city and as the center of the greatest manufacturing district in the world, produces a greater tonnage annually than any other city in the world. The products of the district are all staples and have ready market throughout the South American countries and on the Pacific coast of the United States.

Pittsburgh business men who are deeply interested in the furtherance of the isthmian canal think that the greatest factor of benefit to the district cannot now be estimated.

New Markets Found.

They feel that the unknown quantity of staples from the district which will find a ready market, once economic methods of transportation are found, may be even greater than the immense tonnage they are able to estimate, as directly resultant.

The fact that it will be possible to load merchandise here in sea-going barges will enable shippers to consign their product to ports thousands of miles away. The expense of loading thousands of tons of freight is, in itself, a great factor in the shipping bills, and when the lading has to be done two or three times, the expense increases correspondingly.

Distances by sea to ports on the Pacific and Indian oceans will be immensely lessened. As an instance the route to San Francisco via Cape Horn, the one in use now, is 14,840 miles. With an isthmian canal more than 10,000 miles of this distance would be saved.

Importance to Pittsburgh.

The principal staples now shipped from the Pittsburgh district include coal, iron and steel products, petroleum, fire brick, clay, pottery and building materials. Pittsburgh itself has a greater production of the following articles than any other city in the world: Steel and iron, plate glass, tumblers, tin plate, pickles, petroleum, steel cars, air brakes and elec-

DIPLOMATS DO NOT PUT STOCK IN PRINCE'S VISIT

They Say That the Emperor Is Too Erratic to Be a Constant Friend.

PLANS NEARLY FINISHED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—Though Prince Henry of Prussia will stop at the German embassy while in Washington, he will be the guest of the nation during his stay in this country. This means that all his expenses will be paid by the United States government. To provide the necessary funds for his reception and entertainment a provision appropriating $40,000 has been inserted in the urgent deficiency bill.

This sum is to be disbursed under the direction of the secretary of state. It will be used for the settlement of carriage, lodging, railroad and other bills which will be incurred in consequence of the visit of his royal highness. In making this appropriation, congress has acted in compliance with the request of the administration. The secret fund of the state department has already been drawn upon for various incidental expenses and a portion of the remainder must be set aside to pay the expenses of the special embassy, which will represent the United States at the coronation of King Edward.

Balance Was Light.

The balance could not have stood the payment of the bills for Prince Henry's entertainment as well. In the cities which the prince will visit, the best accommodations obtainable must be secured for him. The train which will convey him on his tour will be a special and will probably consist of an engine, two passenger and one baggage cars.

The committee in charge of the prince's itinerary will hold a meeting on Tuesday, when it is expected that the route of the royal guest will be made public.

Since the announcement of the coming of the prince, diplomats in Washington have been quietly making inquiries to ascertain the effect upon the administration of the overtures of Emperor William. One of these gentlemen said today that so far as the United States is concerned he is satisfied that no political results will follow the efforts of the emperor.

Emperor Is Erratic.

"The United States is naturally gratified that the German emperor should so ostensibly single it out for such unusual demonstrations of friendship," he said, "but I think the common sense of your officials prevents them from being blinded as to the real value of the protestations. William is erratic, and friendly as he is today to the United States, he is likely to overturn all the good that is being accomplished by an unfriendly act three months hence. He sent his remarkable cablegram to Kruger, and shortly afterward began making the most friendly overtures to Great Britain. This latter policy was opposed by the mass of his people. In the face of their objections, he continued to impress the world with his friendship for Great Britain. Then he suddenly turns from Great Britain and seeks to improve the relations of his government with the United States. William is an able, clever man, but he lacks stability in foreign affairs. I predict that the United States will find his friendship fitful, as has Great Britain."

AMERICAN PAGEANT TO ENTERTAIN THE PRINCE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Representatives of the various German societies of New York city met this afternoon to further consider plans for the reception of Prince Henry. It was decided that there should be a torchlight procession on the evening of February 28, the same evening on which the newspaper men of the country will meet the prince at dinner. It was announced that Dr. von Holleben had given his sanction to the procession. It is estimated that more than 30,000 marchers will be in line, and Prince Henry will review the parade from the building of the Arion society, Fifty-ninth street and Park avenue.

It was announced tonight that Morris K. Jessup, J. Pierpont Morgan, Edward D. Adams, George F. Baker, John Claflin, Elbert H. Gary, L. M. Goldberger, Abram S. Hewitt, Alexander E. Orr, William Rockefeller, James Stillman and William K. Vanderbilt will give a luncheon February 26 to Prince Henry at Sherry's. The gentlemen mentioned are, for this function, known as the reception committee of commerce and industry. The luncheon was arranged in the belief that it would please the prince to meet men from all over the United States prominent in business life. The invitations will be limited to 100 and they have already been sent out.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 26.—In the event of Prince Henry visiting St. Louis, his entertainment will be arranged and conducted by the World's Fair Company rather than by the municipal government. As yet the World's Fair management has received no official advices as to exactly when Prince Henry will arrive in St. Louis, or what the length of his visit will be.

Secretary Walter B. Stevens said today that it had been suggested that if Prince Henry's stay here shall permit, he be invited to lay the corner stone of one of the buildings on the World's Fair grounds.

STORM ON THE COAST.

Port Angelus Water Works Frozen and Supply Shut Off.

PORT TOWNSEND, WASH., Jan. 26.—The first boat from down the straits arrived today and reports Friday's storm oding much damage at small towns and to farms. At Port Angeles a boathouse was carried away and one or two small wharves were wrecked.

G. M. Lauridzen lost much property and in an effort to save his goods had both legs broken. The Port Angelus water supply is cut off on account of the water works being frozen.

MEXICO APPEALS TO CARNEGIE.

United States Consul General Hanna Hopes for a Donation of $4,000,000 for Libraries.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

MONTEREY, MEXICO, Jan. 26.—If the efforts now making by United States Consul General Philip C. Hanna are successful $4,000,000 of Andrew Carnegie's wealth will be used in the establishment of libraries in Mexico. Of this amount one-fourth is planned to be used in the establishment of a magnificent library in Monterey. The plan contemplates the expenditure of the remaining $3,000,000 in the establishment of libraries at Chihuahua, Durango, Tampico, Torreon and San Luis Potosi.

Gen. Hanna has taken up the matter with Mr. Carnegie direct and feels confident of success. He says he expects Mr. Carnegie to be particularly interested in the founding of a library in this city, because of the establishment here of the $10,000,000 steel plant and the consequent importing of skilled workmen from the states. Gen. Hanna expects to hear something in connection with the Carnegie move within the next few days.

BOOTH FAVORS INCREASED TAX ON MONOPOLY

Gives $500,000 as Just Assessment on Street Railways.

CITIZENS WILL CARRY FOURTEENTH WARD

"One of my first efforts in councils will be to force the street railways of this city to pay their share of tax. I figure that this amounts to $500,000 annually."

This comes from James J. Booth, who is seeking a seat in select council from the Fourteenth ward. He is a candidate on the Citizens party ticket, and his old business partner, Senator William Flinn, is making the fight of his life to defeat him. Of the enmity between them Mr. Booth says: "We are bitter enemies, and I think, as the years pass, that the bitterness will increase rather than decrease."

Today Mr. Booth has the machine of the banner ring ward of the city whipped to a standstill, and he says that he can hold his lines until the votes are in and counted.

Trouble for Machine.

With James J. Booth in select council, the machine will have fresh trouble every time the municipal legislature meets. For his voice is lifted against every job that may be attempted. The great street car trust will be among the first to find that there is a councilman who is ready to make it step to the city treasurer's office and settle for the enormous public privileges it enjoys.

"To make the street car trust pay its fair proportion of taxes is one of my greatest desires," said Mr. Booth yesterday. "That corporation should give Pittsburgh annually at least $500,000. There is no other city in the country where franchises are trifled away as they are in Pittsburgh. When the street railway lines secured the present franchise the city did not receive a cent. When the trust took over the various companies the franchises were figured in at something like $15,000,000. It is not surprising that some men are rich.

Would Benefit City.

"With an honest council, not subject to the dictation of the man who has asserted that he controls Pittsburgh's legislation, even to the reading of almost every ordinance before it is introduced, the city will be the richer by a half million a year. At the same time the citizens will get a better street car service. The throttling of the public should be stopped.

The latest and one of the greatest outrages in the history of the city is the gobbling of the point streets for warehouses. It was wrong to turn those thoroughfares over to the syndicate. The people did not realize what had been done until the job had been swiftly shoved through councils. If anything of the kind was attempted while I was in councils my voice would be raised against the jobbery. I see that alleged promises are made that the city will in the end be reimbursed. I do not believe that pledge will be kept.

His Reply to Nicola.

"I also noted that Frank Nicola is telling people in this ward that I am not fit to represent them in councils. Mr. Nicola knows that if I go to councils there will be no more Fort street vacations.

"I was sorry to see the Daughters of the American Revolution misled. Flinn knows that if he had wanted to stop the passage of the ordinance he could have done so. He knows all about it. I do not say that he is interested, but I do know that he has said that he is not in business for his health or in politics for sentiment.

"The Daughters should never allow the fort to be removed to Schenley park. If we were to suggest to the people of Philadelphia that Independence hall should be torn down and placed in Fairmount park we would be mobbed. Those who would attempt to move the old blockhouse from

OIL DRILLING TO BE STARTED IN MARYLAND

SUCCESS IS EXPECTED

W. G. Reel, an expert oil driller of Bellevue, has signed a contract to drill an oil well at Pocamoke City, Md.

This project means the drilling of the first oil well ever drilled in the Oyster state, and moreover it is the first time that such a project has been started with any hope of success east of the Alleghany mountains.

The Pocamoke City Oil Company has been formed for the purpose of investigating the signs of oil recently found in that vicinity. Pocamoke lies within 10 miles of the Atlantic coast, and the discovery of a paying oil well there would upset all the theories so tenaciously held to by oil men the country over.

It is a standard maxim among oil men that there is no oil on the eastern slope of the Appalachian mountain range, and none has ever been discovered there.

In Pocamoke City, however, the natives assert that oil underlies not only this one town, but much of the eastern coast of the state. Wells driven deep down into the sandy soil have shown good indications of an oil pool lying below, and a company was formed by the citizens of that place, headed by an old resident of the Pennsylvania oil fields, to make the final test for the precious fluid.

The local syndicate has quietly optioned dozens of farms in the neighborhood, and the announcement of the selection of Mr. Reel, an experienced man to manage the enterprise, was the final step in the matter.

Mr. Reel says that as soon as he can get his rig and the necessary tools he will begin the work. This will probably be within the next two weeks. The well is to be drilled to a depth of 2,500 feet, unless oil is struck at a higher level.

TRAINS TO RUN SLOWER IN PARK AVENUE TUNNEL

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—New York Central officials have at last instituted a reform of present conditions in the Park avenue tunnel that is expected to make it safe immediately. After waiting more than two weeks after the fatal collision of January 8 and 11 years since the grand jury's presentment following a former accident, they have put a speed limit of 20 miles an hour on in the tunnel, that the trains may be always within the engineers' control.

J. H. Franklin, superintendent of the line from the Grand Central station to Mott Haven, issued the order Saturday, the day after the coroner's verdict. He directed that the running time from Ninty-sixth street to Fifty-fifth street, or vice versa, shall be six minutes, or at least, not less. This reduces the average speed through the tunnel by one-third. As the tower operator's reports will enable him to get the time of all trains as they pass through the tunnel, Mr. Franklin will be in a position to enforce his order.

It was not unusual for trains to attain 30 miles an hour in the tunnel, and it has been stated that the Harlem train, for which Wisker was engineer, was going 35 miles an hour just before it smashed into the New Haven road's express, January 8. Under the new regulation, engineers cannot be blamed for failing to make up time in the tunnel and the incentive to fast running has been removed. The orders to see all lights before passing them remain in effect.

CATTLEMAN KILLED.

Pinioned Under Debris of Wrecked Caboose and Burned to Death.

HOUSTON, TEX., Jan. 26.—In a rear-end collision between two stock trains near Keller, 15 miles north of Fort Worth early today, W. T. Stillwell was killed and his body burned in the wreck, and J. C. Adkins was fatally injured.

An orange train was closely followed by a stock train running in two sections. The first section had been signalled and had come to a standstill but the second section, owing to a dense fog, failed to see the danger signal and crashed into the caboose of the first section. The engine plowed its way half way through the cab and pinned Stillwell under the wreck. The caboose took fire and Stillwell was burned to death. The cab next to the cab also was wrecked and many of the cattle killed and maimed.

A DEATH BLOW IS GIVEN FLINN BY UNION LABOR

United Labor League Issues a Call to Organized Workmen.

REPRESENTS ARMY OF 50,000 VOTES

Present Administration Is Denounced as Corrupt and Injurious.

Flinn and his machine have received a crushing blow from union labor.

The United Labor League of Western Pennsylvania, representing 50,000 voters, last night voted, with but one dissenting voice for the issuance to all organized labor in the city of Pittsburgh of a circular ringing with condemnation of Flinnism. The league calls for the large constituency that it represents and all friends of labor to ally themselves with the Citizens party at the polls in February. The "declaration of independence" issued by this body last night is as follows:

TO ORGANIZED LABOR IN THE CITY OF PITTSBURGH.

Brothers: We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all people are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among them are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights governments are instituted among men deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. Prudence will indeed dictate that important laws long established should not be changed for light and transient causes, and experience has shown that the members of our labor organizations are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to change the laws to which they are accustomed. But, when a long train of abuses, such as has been reported to by the present administration of the city of Pittsburgh, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to subvert the spirit of freedom and equality, upon which our organizations are founded, and eventually destroy them;

Brothers, it is our right, it is our duty, to abolish such practices and provide new guards for our future security and the security of the citizens of Pittsburgh by taking up the gauntlet that was thrown down to the labor organizations by the wire pullers of the present administration (who claim that labor organizations shall not be recognized).

Brothers, Let us assemble our forces and hurl them in a solid phalanx against the enemy at the polls next February and crush out of existence the corrupt organization that is intrenched in the legislative halls of our city government. Let us prove to our treacherous foes that we believe in honest government and in exercising the rights of American citizenship, and that we cannot be controlled by the ward committee of a corrupt political organization, as has been asserted by the leaders of that organization.

We believe that organized labor should be recognized and represented in every depart-

SANTIAGO NAVAL BATTLE A POLITICAL ISSUE.

Candidates for School Directors in Altoona Want Text Book That Will Give Schley Full Credit for Victory.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ALTOONA, PA., Jan. 26.—The question of how the naval battle of Santiago should be treated in school histories has become an issue in the election for school directors in this city. There is a strong sentiment against the adoption of any history as a text book that would not give Admiral Schley the honor of being the commander and victor of the battle.

The various candidates for the office of school director are being interviewed on the subject. Thomas Moore, one of the Democratic candidates when interviewed, said: "I am emphatically opposed to the adoption of any history that does not give Admiral Schley the credit for the victory."

DREAD SMALLPOX MAY SOON BECOME EPIDEMIC HERE

ANOTHER LAST NIGHT

The smallpox epidemic that has been raging in Philadelphia and the eastern end of the state threatens to become epidemic in Pittsburgh and the surrounding towns. Yesterday a fully developed case of the disease was discovered in the Allegheny county jail.

The increase in the number of cases reported from this city and the surrounding towns has been very noticeable of late and there are fears that the spread of the disease will reach serious proportions.

The officials of the bureau of health are confident, however, that such will not be the case, because a large proportion of the city's population has been vaccinated.

The case in the jail was discovered yesterday afternoon and removed at once to the municipal hospital. The entire jail building was at once subjected to rigorous disinfection and it is hoped that the disease will not spread further in the institution. Prisoners to the number of 220, who have not recently been vaccinated, were treated yesterday, and vaccination will be made on every inmate.

Came From Braddock.

The victim who was stricken yesterday is John Henry, colored, who was sent to jail on January 22 by Justice of the Peace Lewis Holtzman of Braddock, and the disease was in his system when he arrived. Henry came from Philadelphia about five months ago and went to Braddock, afterward moving to No. 642 Margaretta street.

Smallpox broke out in that house, but Henry jumped the quarantine and went to No. 2014 Fifth avenue, where he was arrested by the Braddock police.

When he was taken to the jail he complained of being ill and yesterday asked to see Dr. Chesarown. As soon as the latter clapped eyes on him he pronounced his ailment smallpox and the other prisoners had to undergo vaccination. The chairs, tables, beds and even the Bibles in the two cells he had occupied were burned.

Panic in Hospital.

A case of smallpox was discovered in the McKeesport hospital last night and as soon as the inmates and nurses, 157 of them, heard the news, desperate attempts were made to escape. The inmates were detained by policemen despatched by Mayor R. J. Black.

James Welsh, 20 years, brought to the hospital from Monessen a few days ago and supposed to have typhoid fever, is the man who has the smallpox. He was shaved on Saturday and at 5 p. m. yesterday Dr. Albert Veller saw several blotches on Welsh's face. He hunted up Drs. W. V. M. Taylor and W. F. Knox and the three decided the case was smallpox.

Secretary A. C. Wallace of the McKeesport board of health was notified and he decided to quarantine the institution. When the inmates of the hospital heard of the smallpox case and the quarantine decision there was wild excitement. Convalescent patients gathered together a few of their clothes and tried to escape and other patients, confined to bed, essayed to get away. Six of the nurses had their trunks packed. The police arrived, however, and guarded the exits of the building. James Walsh formerly lived in Pittsburgh in the Lawrenceville district.

Another Victim of the Day.

Another patient was admitted to the Municipal hospital last night. Reminick Williamson, 28 years old, colored, walked into the public safety building at 7 o'clock and said that he was suffering with smallpox. Dr. Booth was summoned and after examining the negro pronounced it smallpox. He was immediately taken to the Municipal hospital. Williamson said that he lived in West Virginia. He has been working on the Wabash tunnel in Greentree borough for the past 12 days.

The dread disease is invading Pennsylvania. In the eastern end of the state it is rampant, nearly every city being more or less affected. In Philadelphia there are said to be 1,100 cases and scores have died.

There are now 18 cases in the Municipal hospital. Most of them are colored people who came to this city from the south and brought the infection with them.

Many Put in Danger.

The victims in the past house were in many cases circulating through the city on street cars, and traveling over the streets for several days before they were discovered by the health authorities.

During 1901 there were 129 cases in this city. This month there have been 27 patients taken to the Municipal hospital. All the local railroad companies have established a rule that their employes must be immediately vaccinated.

The employes of the department of public works are required to be vaccinated. This edict was issued by Director J. Guy McCandless last week. Director of the Department of Public Safety A. R. Leslie made the same ruling. The policemen will report to Dr. Booth this week and be vaccinated.

WOMAN'S THROAT CUT BY NEGRO IN STREET

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Jan. 26.—A frightful crime occurred on Sixth street here tonight, in which Mary Beall, white, aged 30 years, was killed by Thomas Tucker, a negro, aged 28. The negro's head was almost severed from her body. It is presumed a razor was used. After the commission of the crime Tucker ran down Sixth street a block to his home, where he told his mother that he had killed the Beall woman and was going to kill himself.

He locked himself in a room and shot twice, but missed both times. He then took a knife or razor and slashed his throat. As he is drunk, it cannot be told now whether or not he will recover, or why the crime was committed. It is presumed that the two had been lovers and had quarrelled.

One Which Would Furnish 100,000,000 Gallons of Pure Water for $1,000,000.

FACTS ARE SUSTAINED BY ENGINEERS' FIGURES

The increasing probability that filtration for Pittsburgh will cost at the very least $1,000,000 above the estimate of the filtration commission has centered interest in the mechanical process. Both on Pittsburgh's sand process plant are to be opened February 26, and call for the plant to be completed by December 1, 1902. It is to cover 25 acres with a capacity of 20,000,000 gallons an acre daily, or a full capacity of 18,000,000 gallons every 24 hours.

It will cost almost $5,000,000, while a mechanical filter having a capacity of 100,000,000 gallons a day could be built for $1,000,000.

In the report of the filtration commission to the select and common councils of the city of Pittsburgh made to show the estimated cost of the sand filters with sedimentation basins, including the 25 acres of land necessary, was $3,115,000, and for sand filters with a storage reservoir $2,909,100. These estimates were based upon a capacity of 50,000,000 gallons daily. The total cost of maintenance per annum was placed at $134,180, or $10.51 for each 1,000,000 gallons. The report also stated that the additional cost for covering the 25 acres with a masonry roof would be $2,000,000. The cost of this, it was recommended to establish the meter system to prevent the waste of water, which was estimated at an additional outlay of $600,000.

Covers Not Provided.

In the proposals the bids are [illegible] to be for "filters, basins and appurtenances"—a receiving basin, pure water basins, 25 open filters, pumping plant and the required houses, laterals, piping connections and appurtenances, complete in every particular, but nothing is said about covering the beds with houses. Experts declare that the 25 acres for the filtration plant must be covered, otherwise they will freeze in winter, and the estimate that it will require at least $2,000,000 for this purpose. These figures do not include the cost of pumping water to the South Side.

It is said that the best data as to the cost of a sand filter plant for Pittsburgh with the beds covered, is to be had on the basis of the recent contracts which have been awarded for sand filters by the city of Philadelphia. It is said that the average of these contracts is $715,000 an acre.

Estimate Was $4,909,100.

The cost, based on the figures of Allen Hazen, the consulting engineer for the filtration commission, with the Philadelphia figures for the cost of covered filter beds, are as follows:

25 acres covered filter beds at $715	$17,875,000
Settling basins	2,000,000
Pump house	1,000,000
Pure water reservoir	1,000,000
Force mains	1,000,000
Tunnel water tower	1,000,000
Engineers and contingencies	6,000,000
Total	$4,909,100

This estimate is on a basis of 50,000,000 gallons daily. The beds are for a plant with a capacity of 75,000,000 gallons, or half as much again. It is probable that the cost will be increased in proportion.

The report of the filtration commissioners states that "filter No. 1 was first constructed at an approximate rate of 2,000,000 gallons an acre daily. On August 21, 1897, the rate was changed to 3,000,000 gallons, which was maintained throughout the experiment." This would make the nominal capacity of filters established at 75,000,000 gallons, but no allowance is here made for filters being out of service while being scraped, for repairs or accidents.

Other Acreage Necessary.

On this subject Col. A. H. Miner of the United States engineer corps, in charge of the experiments on filtration made at Washington, D. C., reports documents No. 234, says: "As shown by experience in other investigations and those carried on as described in this report of the Washington (D. C.) water supply, it has been decided to adopt in this estimate a rate of filtration for the finished method (sand filtration) of 3,000,000 gallons an acre a day. In order to supply 50,000,000 gallons at this rate, a considered filtering area of 20 acres must be in operation, and there must also be an area to be placed in use during the period of cleaning the filters and also in case of accident to the same, or on any occasion when a part of the plant is out of use. For this purpose a reserve of about 25 per cent of the acreage in operation is desirable. In other words, when three-quarters of the whole plant is in active operation, the remainder will be out of use undergoing scraping, refilling or any of the necessary operations to keep the plant in efficient condition."

Cost Is Increased.

Taking, therefore, Engineer Allen Hazen's estimate of 3,000,000 gallons daily capacity, less one-third, or having a working capacity of 2,000,000 gallons and increasing its figures pro rata to allow for an actual working capacity of 75,000,000 gallons daily capacity, the following figures are obtained:

Cost of construction of sand filters with sedimentation basins, $3,270,000. Cost of construction of mechanical filters, $1,750,000.

The estimates of Mr. Hazen for mechanical filter plants are not believed by the commissioners as they claim that the company whose figures Mr. Hazen used claimed that their figures were for a mechanical filter plant of 15,000,000 gallons daily, not capacity, exclusive of plants being out of service for washing, repairs, etc.

The figures used are Mr. Hazen's for covered filters, as it is understood that these would be necessary to secure the best results. The filtering beds selected at Albany, adopted at Washington and proposed for Philadelphia, are covered. Mr. Hazen, who has visited all of these cities, is an engineer of high standing and his figures are considered the most reliable made for the an advance in building material since the report was made.

Mechanical Filters.

Mechanical filters have been developed almost entirely in America and they have achieved an obvious and signal success in removing turbidities from impure and muddy waters.

Over 100 cities and towns now have them in use and many of them have increased their plants since the system was introduced.

It is generally acknowledged by sanitary engineers and bacteriologists that the classification that can be secured by mechanical filters, with the aid of sulphate of alumina, is more complete than can be obtained by any other system of filtration, without the use of coagulant.

The good results obtained by the mechanical system are evidenced by the success of the plant of the Union Water Company at Beaver Falls which cost about $50,000.

It is constructed according to the gravity system of the New York Continental Jewell Filtration Company. For 10 years previous to the introduction of this system the pressure system of having horizontal filters connected on the mains supply pipe was in use, but it proved unsatisfactory, and the change to the gravity system was made last January.

The Beaver Falls Plant.

The plant is located on the east side of the Beaver river on the site of old Brighton canal lock, about one mile from the center of the town of Beaver Falls. The old lock is used for a basin for the river water, beside which the pump house is located.

It contains two Wilson-Snyder steam pumps, with a capacity of 3,000,000 and 2,000,000 gallons, respectively, two Holly water power pumps with a capacity of 2,000,000 gallons, and one with a capacity of 750,000 gallons. These are used to pump the filtered water into the town mains and to the reservoir on College hill. The power for the water power pumps is furnished by one 125-horse power and three 65-horse power water turbines with 14 feet of head, or drop. There is also a 30-horse power water power turbine with a 14-foot head, or drop, running a 6,000,000 gallon pump that takes the water direct from the river's water basin and supplies the sedimentation tank in the filtration house, lifting the water 18 feet through a 10-inch pipe.

Protected from Cold.

The filtration house adjoining and also located on the river bank is a one-story frame building, 130x45 feet, in order to protect it from the cold, the outside is boarded and weatherboarded and it is also lined with sheeting. Last winter it was attempted to do without artificial heat, but some little difficulty was experienced from ice forming in the clear water basin. This is now heated. If the should form in the plant filtration would be impossible.

The sedimentation tank, into which the river water is pumped, is built of cypress wood and is 30 feet in diameter and 24 feet high. It has a capacity of 172,800 gallons. The water is controlled by a float and damper valve which controls the pump. The sediment in the tank is cleaned every two weeks by opening a valve in the bottom and draining the tank. The refuse being carried in waste pipes to the river.

Coagulent Is Used.

Above the sedimentation tank are two smaller tanks for the coagulent, or alum. Into one of these tanks (one being held in reserve) a barrel of alum, weighing 350 pounds, is placed, and by means of a small valve and regulator this coagulent is fed into the sedimentation tank in sufficient quantities to coagulate the sedimentation. It is not always necessary to use the coagulent and the supply, which is one exceeds three grains to the gallon, is regulated according to the condition of the river water.

From the top of the sedimentation tank a 24-inch feed pipe leads to seven gravity filters arranged on a line which have a capacity of 500,000 gallons every 24 hours each, or a total daily capacity for the plant of 3,500,000 gallons.

Of these four are of steel, horizontal, eight feet in diameter and 20 feet long, containing 118 cones each. Three are tanks of cypress wood, 10 feet in diameter and 10 feet high, containing 114 cones each. Each filter contains a sand bed of four feet of ocean sand. The 24-inch gravity feeds from the sedimentation tank feeds the filter through an eight-inch pipe, which in the filter is reduced to four two-inch perforated feed pipes.

Pumped to Reservoir.

The water passes through the sand to the cones and through them to a pipe leading to an aerating device, or air coiler, and the drops into the clear water basin. This basin is 114 feet long, 50 feet wide and 10 feet deep and always contains an average depth of seven feet of water. It is divided into three sections and has an outlet pipe of 24 inches, through which the water runs by gravity to the pumps, which in turn force it into the town mains and to the 3,000,000 gallon reservoir on College hill, one mile distant and 180 feet above the level of the pumping station.

The machinery is not delicate and the method of cleaning the filters is very simple, requiring only 20 minutes every 24 hours for each filter. It is done by one man, who by moving a lever closes off the supply pipe and reverses the flow from the filters, the only clear filtered water from the big service main.

It is turned in at the bottom of the filter and comes up through the sand, thoroughly cleansing and washing every particle of sand. The sediment and mud which have collected are washed into the river through a drain pipe, but the cones and valves are such that the sand does not escape. At this plant the same sea sand has been in use 10 years.

A Model Plant.

The reservoir on College hill gives a pressure of 43 pounds at the engine house, in the heart of Beaver Falls. At the same point there is a tank and tower containing 70,000 gallons at an elevation of 250 feet above the pump station, which has been erected for the purpose of supplying College borough and for use in case of fire, which will give a pressure of 90 pounds at the highest points in Beaver Falls. The tower is controlled by an Eastberg electric valve, and upon a telephone message from the town the button is pressed and the pressure in the mains is raised from 45 to 90 pounds instantly. By another arrangement the river water can be turned into the mains in case of fire, with all the force of the big pumps.

The plant is operated by four men—two in the pump house and a day and a night man to look after the filters. It supplies Beaver Falls, Bridgewater and Rochester, and will soon supply Freedom, New Brighton and the territory as far as Conway, the yards of the Pennsylvania Company, seven miles from Beaver Falls, for which pipes are now being laid down. This covers a population of from 40,000 to 50,000.

Cost Was Moderate.

The cost of the plant was about $10,000 for each 1,000,000 gallons capacity. The water is sparkling, pure and pleasing to the taste. The citizens who use it speak of it in terms of the highest praise and say that the water rates are not exorbitant.

The plan proposed for mechanical filtration for the city of Pittsburgh was for an available capacity of the filter plant of 75,000,000 gallons a day. The exterior dimensions of the filter house, which could be built over the present Highland reservoir and made a handsome ornament to the park, were 468.5x214.5 feet, and those of the engine and boiler house 99.67x98.33 feet.

It was proposed to supply 72 steel filters, with filter beds 24 feet in diameter, the outside diameter being 25 feet 11½ inches, and 18 feet high. The supply mains were 48 inches in diameter and the wash mains 24 inches in diameter. The available capacity of each filter of this size is 1,040,000 gallons per 24 hours.

Comparison Is Favorable.

The rate of filtration is about 104,600,000 gallons an acre a day. The raw water was to be supplied to the filters by pumps in an adjacent pumping station, and the filtered water would be discharged into flumes, from which it would flow to a pure water reservoir outside the building, or if built over the Highland reservoir, to the reservoir directly underneath, as is the case at Beaver Falls. It is said that this plant could now be furnished for about $1,000,000, since the expensive patents for the use of coagulents for the purification of water expired February 10, 1901.

The estimates for this plant, with a capacity for 75,000,000 gallons daily, as published in the report of the filtration commission, were $1,641,750, including the cost of the land at $75,000, but three acres being required, or $1,566,750 for the construction only, while the sand filtration plan, subsequently adopted, with a capacity of 50,000,000 gallons daily, was for $2,111,290, including the cost of the land at $490,000.

The cost of maintenance of the mechanical filtration plant was estimated by the commission at $196,807 per annum, or $10.78 per million gallons.

Would Cost Only $1,000,000.

These estimates were based upon the tests made for six months by the engineers of the commission, but the representatives of the mechanical filters assert that these figures were greatly exaggerated and that the cost of maintenance per million gallons would not be more than $1. They also claim that while the figures given for the sand filtration are based upon a supply of 50,000,000 gallons daily, the mechanical filter estimates are on the basis of 75,000,000 gallons daily. No bid was asked for the mechanical filtration.

It is claimed by the engineers of the mechanical filtration companies that they can now furnish a complete plant to supply 100,000,000 gallons of pure water every 24 hours for the city and the South Side for about $1,000,000. They assert that 98½ per cent of the bacteria can be removed and that the water will be bright and clear.

Moreover, it is understood that at least one of the mechanical filtration companies stood ready and willing to guarantee the the successful working of their plant if awarded the contract, while there is no one to guarantee the successful working of the plan adopted by the city.

MEMBERS OF CATHOLIC FEDERATION TAXED

Each Must Pay Three Cents to Maintain the Headquarters and Keep the Work Going.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 26.—The national executive committee of the American Federation of Catholic Societies, at a meeting here today, decided to establish permanent headquarters at Cincinnati, in charge of the secretary, Anthony Matre, and authorized him to employ an assistant. It was also decided to levy a per capita tax of 3 cents upon each member of the organization, the tax to be collected by the individual societies and turned into the national treasury.

The fund resulting from this tax is to be used to defray the expenses of fitting up and maintaining the national headquarters and conducting the work of the federation. It is estimated that there are about 300,000 members of the federation. Copies of the constitution of the federation were ordered printed for distribution. The members of the committee in attendance were: P. N. Mooney of Cleveland, chairman; T. P. Minahan of Columbus, Anthony Matre of Cincinnati, George Gibbons of Philadelphia, H. Fries of Erie, Pa., and E. O. Reardan of Anderson, Ind.

The annual meeting of the Ohio State Federation of Catholic Societies was also held here today. The following officers were elected: President, T. M. Minahan, Columbus; vice president, R. P. Burkhardt, Dayton; secretary, Anthony Matre, Cincinnati; treasurer, W. A. Manning, Cleveland. The state federation decided to revise its constitution in conformity with the constitution of the American federation.

M'KINLEY EULOGIZED.

Cleveland Minister Regrets That No Minister of the Gospel Was Present at His Death.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 26.—At many of the churches of Cleveland special McKinley memorial services were held today. In some of the churches where no special services were held, the life of the late president was eulogized by the ministers in preludes to their sermons, and by incidental mention. Special collections for the McKinley memorial were also taken at many of the churches.

At the First Methodist Episcopal church the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Charles Bayard Mitchell, made his morning service a McKinley memorial. His address was a lengthy reference to the dead president.

Dr. Mitchell said that Mr. McKinley's death was a beautiful example of Christian resignation and heroism; not a complaint, from the time of the first shot until his eyes closed in death. That no minister of the gospel was present when the president passed away was regretted by Dr. Mitchell, which fact he attributed to the orders of physicians in charge.

CONFERENCE OVER SCHLEY.

Secretary Long Had a Long Talk With President Roosevelt at the White House Last Night.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—Secretary Long was in conference with the president for over an hour tonight, presumably in regard to the appeal of Rear Admiral Schley from the findings of the court of inquiry.

The secretary was accompanied by Judge Advocate Lemly and Solicitor Hanna, who conducted the case before the court. The meeting with the president followed a gathering of the three gentlemen at Secretary Long's apartments, and when they departed for the White House they had with them bundles of papers which had the appearance of legal documents. Secretary Long declined to say anything for publication regarding the conference.

MISTAKEN FOR A BURGLAR.

Young Man, Long Absent From Home, Planned a Surprise and Was Surprised Himself.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Jan. 26.—Frank Fleming, son of Wilber Fleming of Verna Center, was shot last night by his father.

Frank, who recently returned from the west, thought to give his parents a surprise on his arrival home and was entering a window when his father, mistaking his for a burglar, fired, wounding him in the leg. He will recover.

Collections for McKinley Fund.

AKRON, O., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Collections were taken up in nearly all the churches here today for the McKinley memorial fund. The day had been set apart for the Young Men's Christian association, held day in the expectation of pushing forward the movement for the organization of an association here, and this served to exclude the McKinley service.

POLICEMAN HAD LONG CHASE TO CATCH A THIEF

NEWSPAPERS ARE STOLEN

Prisoner Admits Operating for Several Months Past With a Party of Confederates Who Divided the Spoils Each Day in Panther Hollow

Policeman John Hardiman had an exciting chase after a negro newspaper thief in Oakland early yesterday morning, during which both pursuer and pursued rolled down a steep hill into Junction hollow and narrowly escaped being killed or seriously injured. The officer, however, succeeded in capturing his man after a foot race through Panther hollow and Schenley park.

The prisoner is William Oram of No. 620 Gazzam street. By his own confession he is the leader of a gang of newspaper thieves who have stolen hundreds of dollars worth of newspapers from the cars in the Oakland district during the past year.

Complaints had been coming in to the Oakland police station for months past that papers were being stolen from the street corners where they had been thrown from different street cars for news dealers in that district. Some mornings the papers stolen would aggregate 500 or 1,000 and at other times only a small package would be reported as missing.

Watch Was Kept.

Officers were stationed at the corners where the thefts occurred, but without avail, as the papers would not be disturbed. As soon as the watch was taken off they would disappear again. A reward was offered for the capture of the thief, but no trace of him could be discovered, although papers would be reported as missing each morning.

About 6 o'clock yesterday morning Policeman Hardiman was waiting for a car at Craig and Forbes streets, when he noticed a negro standing in the shadow of a nearby sign board. He watched the man and was about to place him under arrest when a car approached and the conductor threw off half a dozen packages of papers.

Saw the Theft.

When the car disappeared the negro shouldered one of the largest bundles and started down Craig street in the direction of Junction Hollow, with Hardiman close behind. Hardiman waited until the negro had walked half a square and then coming up behind him he placed his hand on his shoulder. The negro turned and recognizing the officer dropped the package and started down Craig street, with Hardiman in pursuit.

Hardiman closed with the negro as he reached the brink of the hill overlooking Junction Hollow, and a desperate struggle ensued. In rolling about on the ground they toppled over the embankment, and, clasped together, rolled down the steep hill. Hardiman was underneath when the bottom was reached and the two men brought up against a fence railing.

The negro, who is a mulatto, ran across the Junction railroad tracks into Schenley park. Hardiman, who was cut and bruised by the fall, got himself together and continued the chase. The negro ran up Panther Hollow and being fleet of foot did fair to escape, when his foot caught in some vines and caused him to fall.

Prisoner Confessed.

Before he could recover Hardiman was up to him and placed him under arrest. The negro was winded and accompanied the officer to the station house without making any trouble.

At the station he confessed to being responsible for all the newspaper stealing and that he was the leader of a gang that makes considerable money from the stolen papers. He said the gang always met each morning in Panther Hollow to divide the stolen newspapers and afterward disposed of them to newsboys.

Oram claims to be 16 years old, but the police say he is several years older. He was held over by Magistrate John H. Armstrong at yesterday's hearings and an information will be made against him today.

FIGHT IN THE COURT.

Fourth Ward Voters Will Make a Battle for Their Ballots.

An attempt to disfranchise 34 voters of the Fourth ward will be fought in the courts if necessary. It will be remembered that a couple of weeks ago Judge Rodgers made an order placing 34 residents of the First district of the Fourth ward on the registry list. These men left a deposit with Delinquent Tax Collector S. P. Conner, and also an order for the receipts. Saturday he told them that as their names were not on the delinquent list the receipts would have to be gotten through the county treasurer.

The men called at the treasurer's office. They were refused the receipts on the ground that they had not left the deposit with the treasurer. This morning they will go before Judge Rodgers and request that an order be made compelling the treasurer to issue the receipts. If they are not successful further proceedings in the courts will be the result.

Representative John J. Sweeney, who was claiming a residence at the Finley hotel in the First district of the Fourth ward, is alleged to have given up his room at this hostelry and will now endeavor to show that his residence is in the Second district. The Citizens party will go into the courts to prove that he is not entitled to vote in that district.

WANTED STAHL'S BLOOD.

FORT WAYNE, IND., Jan. 26.—Miss Lulu Ortman, a stenographer employed by a local lumber firm, is held at the police station tonight on account of an attempt to shoot "Chick" Stahl, the Boston American league ball player.

Friends of Stahl informed Supt. of Police Gorsline this evening that the woman was armed and was looking for Stahl. The superintendent overtook her just as she met Stahl and was drawing a revolver. He disarmed her and took her to the station. She says Stahl jilted her for another girl and that she intends to kill him on sight.

Stahl refuses to talk further than to say that the girl has no reason to attempt his life.

KAUKAUNA, WIS., Jan. 26.—Kaukauna paper maker vote today not to strike because they didn't get the short hours which they asked for in their petition to the mill owners, but instead, after a four hours' session, voted to accept the 10 per cent advance offered them.

Killed By a Carbuncle.

KANSAS CITY, MO., Jan. 26.—Capt. Heinz Goss, aged 62 years a veteran of the civil war and a prominent business man in this city, died today from the effects of a carbuncle. He was a captain in a New York volunteer regiment. He was wounded at the battle of Fredericksburg, from the effects of which he was permanently crippled.

Flinn, and that while running on the Citizens party ticket he is really a friend of Flinn's; and, when he gets into councils, will vote to give the senator the filtration contract. Mr. Booth says that he does not believe that Senator Flinn would tell anyone a story of this kind, and it is being done without his knowledge.

"If Flinn knows too well that I am his enemy. He also knows that the breach between us will grow wider, if I go to council. He does not want me there, but he cannot keep me out.

Election Is Assured.

"Unless the ward is filled with liars, and I do not believe that it is, my election and that of the entire Citizens ticket is assured. The voters have been free to declare where they stand.

"Flinn's ideas and mine have never been the same. He did not want me to leave the firm, but I insisted and have not been in his office since the autumn of 1898. I do not have a cent's worth of interest in the firm, and I am thankful that I do not.

"When I signed the petition protesting against the removal of Director E. M. Bigelow, Flinn became very angry. He told me then that some day I would want something and then he would get even.

Wilmot Street Bridge.

"He has prevented the building of the Wilmot street bridge, because of his hatred for me. Now he is working overtime to keep me out of council. He has kept the people out of their rights in the bridge matter, but he cannot keep me out of council. If he sees me seated in a street car he will ride on the platform rather than occupy the same coach. Does that look as though our enmity was a sham? My life has not been angelic; I have erred like other men; but no man lives who can accuse me of duplicity or double dealing.

Bitter Against Flinn.

"In councils, Flinn will never be able to use me and he can always count that so long as there is a fight left in me, I will oppose everything he wants.

"If my election was to be left to the votes of the employes of Booth & Flinn, there would not even be a contest. Some of the foremen of the company here have been sent into the ward to work against me. They are not meeting with the success that an impatient master desires."

POLES MAKE PROTEST.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Representatives of the 200,000 Poles living in Chicago met in five mass meetings in different parts of this city tonight to protest against the alleged cruelties of Prussia in her Polish provinces. Nearly all of the speakers maintained that the final effort of the German officials in Poland was imbued solely with hatred and contempt for the people they rule.

It was told how children, flogged by their German teachers for saying their prayers in their native language, had been arrested and thrown into prison, together with their parents who voiced a protest. These and other indignities recited caused the deepest feeling and strong words against Prussia were heard on every hand.

Resolutions of protest were adopted at each meeting and will be forwarded to the Prussian government.

STOCKMAN FROZEN.

Young Man Loses His Life in the Recent Blizzard Which Raged Over Oregon.

HUNTINGTON, ORE., Jan. 26.—Grover F. Locke, aged 18, son of S. Locke, a stockman and broker of Huntington, was frozen to death in the blizzard last Friday evening.

The young man had started for his father's ranch, 12 miles distant. On the journey his horse refused to face the storm and young Locke attempted to cover the remaining distance on foot. He had gone only a short distance when he fell face downward in the snow. His body was found today in this position by a searching party.

Glass Workers Strike.

CENTRAL CITY, W. VA., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—A strike is on at the glass house of the Huntington Tumbler company. ment of our city government. We believe that the only way that this can be accomplished is for every member of our labor organizations to use his influence with friends, who are not members, and see that their votes are polled against the representatives of the corrupt ring, who have proved themselves enemies of organized labor by turning down the practical mechanic, the honest representatives of labor organizations, who are thoroughly competent to fill the positions for which they were recommended and indorsed by the labor organizations.

We look it to be the duty of our organizations to accept the opportunity now afforded by securing the aid of the non-partisan Citizens party, and together free the citizens of Pittsburgh forever from Flinnism.

Brown Denounced.

The order that this document go out to organized labor and its friends came last night after discussion of an hour. It was pointed out that Recorder J. O. Brown and his supporters had frequently turned their backs on the organized toilers, a recent instance being the refusal to place a representative of the plumbers' union as inspector of plumbing, after assurance had been given.

Promptly after this last disregard to the organized workingmen the United Labor league recorded its condemnation of the Pittsburgh administration. At the meeting last prior to last night the declarations now approved were submitted and referred to the legislative committee. This committee, through Chairman J. J. Kane of the plumbers, returned the paper with unqualified indorsement. After the short discussion it was passed by a practically unanimous vote by the 200 delegates who crowed the large assembly room in Moerhead hall.

A Growing Organization.

Charles E. Whitesides, chairman of the committee which is to carry out the intent of the action taken last night, represents the bricklayers in the Labor league and is a member of the committee of 25 of the Citizens party.

The Labor league is constantly extending its scope as a council of all organized labor in this district. Last night additional delegates were seated from the steam fitters, ornamental iron workers, amalgamated society of Carpenters and Slate and Tile Roofers. The elevator workers reported their decision to seat delegates.

M. M. Garland, former president of the Amalgamated association and surveyor of the port of Pittsburgh, asked the cooperation of the league for the McKinley memorial fund. It was decided unanimously to extend the support of the organization.

BLIZZARD IN NORTHWEST.

Prominent Montana Citizen Is Missing—Searching Party of Ten Men Sent Out.

BUTTE, MONT., Jan. 26.—The mystery of the strange disappearance of E. A. Goodchild, one of Montana's prominent citizens and a big mill man here, remains unsolved. A party of ten men has been engaged in the search, but so far without success.

Goodchild has been missing since last Tuesday, when he left home to hunt. A severe blizzard, with intense cold, has swept the mountains and it is feared that Goodchild has not survived the storm.

BOISE, IDAHO, Jan. 26.—The storm that swept down on this section Friday night brought a cold wave which dropped the thermometer this morning to a point lower than had been reported in several years before, the record being 8 degrees below zero.

KILLED BY WHEEL SPOKE.

The Result of a Demand For an Apology by the Man Now Dead.

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 26.—August Stagge died today from the effects of a blow administered last night with a wagon wheel spoke by Michael Rieger, a saloon proprietor.

Stagge's daughter was a domestic in Rieger's family. Stagge claimed that his daughter had been insulted by Rieger and he wanted him to apologize. Rieger in ejecting Stagge from his saloon struck him with a spoke. Rieger was arrested charged with murder.

New Jersey Town Suffers from Fire.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Fire at Montclair, N. J., early today destroyed several buildings in the business section. Other buildings were badly damaged. The loss is estimated at from $90,000 to $100,000 and the insurance at two-thirds that amount.

EVERETT-MOORE TANGLE BEING STRAIGHTENED

Bankers' Committee in Cleveland Makes Excellent Progress.

SITUATION ENCOURAGING

The Traction Lines Will Be Run as Separate Interests and Negotiations Are Now Going on, It Is Said, to Close Out Telephone Interests.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 26.—The bankers' committee has now so far progressed with the work of straightening out the affairs of the Everett-Moore syndicate that little more can be done of a decisive nature until the reports of the experts concerning the condition of the properties are filed. Because of this no meeting of the committee will be held until next Thursday.

According to a statement made last night the committee now stands ready to receive at bona fide bids for the purchase of certain of the syndicate properties. But negotiations of such a character can hardly be concluded in the absence of a detailed statement of the condition of the properties in question. During the past few days the financial circles of the city have been greatly encouraged at the general situation, as far as Cleveland is particularly concerned. It is said that the traction interests are to be allowed to swing out for themselves each one as a business proposition of its own standing. This being done, the situation evolves largely about the telephone interests. With the sale of the Federal company, indications for which seem to be good, the whole situation will be cleared.

The report was confirmed tonight that Henry Everett is in New York more on telephone business than anything else. It was stated that he is east in the interest of the negotiations for the sale of the telephone interests. Mr. Everett has practically been empowered to go ahead with the negotiations by the committee, but when it comes to a question of any final action the committee will be accurately informed as to the exact standing of the negotiations.

PAINTERS BROUGHT SUIT.

Labor Leaders Are Interested in Discharged Employes' Allegations of Conspiracy.

Pittsburgh labor leaders are much interested in a case brought by four suspended members of the Painters' union before Alderman S. F. Kerr on Saturday, charging three business agents of affiliated unions with conspiracy. The allegations are that Thomas Mitchell, F. E. Smith and Peter F. Mulvehill, business agent of trades affiliated with the Building Trades council, had threatened to call another general strike on the Union station unless these four painters were discharged, they being suspended members of the union with fines of $25 standing against them.

The painters who brought the suit are P. W. Gallagher, William H. Lapple, J. A. Welly and Barnest Mack. They had been working on the station before when the Building Trades council declared a strike in sympathy with the structural iron workers, who struck for recognition of their union. For this they were fined $100 and were subsequently suspended, and then the fine was reduced to $25 each. To show that there was no conspiracy Frank E. Smith, ex-secretary of the Building Trades council, said yesterday:

"Mulvehill and other members of the board of business agents, and myself, went to Union station last Wednesday to adjust a difficulty of the marble workers. We met Mitchell, who was trying to arrange for the payment of the fines against the painters. We heard Foreman Pearson of the painters tell Mitchell that if the four painters stood suspended they would have to pay their fines or he would have to discharge them.

"Pearson was not asked to do this, but he is a member of the union and understands its rules. All of the affiliated building trades will contribute and aid to fight the case in the courts."

KILLED FOR SORCERY.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 26.—The steamer Tees has arrived from the north with news of the arrest of two Indians charged with the recent murder of a Japanese, in connection with the tribal war at Matlakatla between Indians of rival villages.

From the statement of the prisoners it appears that they had blamed the Japanese, or a man living with him, for practicing sorcery, to which they ascribed the death of several of their tribe. By way of revenge they killed Kamamura, a Japanese, in the belief that his death would save the rest of the tribe from the consequences of his witchcraft.

Death of Mrs. Mary Ann White.

BUTLER, PA., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Miss Mary Ann White of this place died today, aged 80. She was a sister of the Rev. William White, deceased, a well-known minister of the Episcopal church, and an aunt of George B. Wilds, an attorney of Butler.

BISHOP POTTER IS CAUSING MUCH TALK

EPISCOPALIANS ALL OVER THE COUNTRY CRITICISE HIM.

They Do Not Like What He Said in Regard to the Saloon Question and Claim It Is Harming the Church's Interests in General.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Episcopalians in New York and over the whole country are much stirred up by two causes. One is the attitude which Bishop Potter has taken in regard to the Sunday saloon opening question, which has incidentally led to a serious situation in the Church Temperance society, and the other is trouble between the board of missions and its auxiliary, the American Church Missionary society, which, unless present indications are at fault, will lead to a permanent split and the organization of two new societies in the church.

Bishop Potter's opinions on the temperance question and on Sunday opening had already caused many Episcopalians to question his wisdom and to feel that general church interests were certain to suffer because of the expression of such sentiments on the part of one so prominent as he, but he has added to the feeling against him by the tone of the letter which he sent to the Church Temperance society, resigning from its executive committee.

Wrought Up Over a Letter.

The letter cannot be seen, but it is a part of the records of the society, and those who have seen it say that not only does the bishop maintain his expressed views on the Sunday opening question, but he intimates that those who do not agree with him are at fault, and particularly calls upon the clergy of his own diocese to support him.

While a very few of the clergy hold similar opinions to those of Bishop Potter on the Sunday question, it is safe to say that the greater majority hold opposite views, indeed, it is hard to find an Episcopal clergyman who will not openly regret the bishop's attitude. The laity are in like position, so the bishop has few followers.

Trouble Is Far Reaching.

The trouble in the missionary organizations is even more far-reaching. The American Church Missionary society was organized a number of years ago because of a division of sentiment in the Episcopal church, and for a long time carried on a work entirely independent of the regular board of missions. It established missions in Cuba, in the south, and even in the west. In course of time the feeling that had led to the organization of the society died out, and 25 years ago it became an auxiliary to the board of missions. By the articles of agreement then entered into the society retained its organization and character, and also the right to the administration and appropriation of funds entrusted to it; agreeing, however, to plant and maintain missions only in such fields as it and the board of missions might mutually agree upon, and to make annual reports of its work to the board.

Since this agreement was made the society has taken up the work of the church in Brazil and now controls all the Episcopal missions there and in Cuba.

The present trouble between the society and the board of missions has a money cause. A resolution was passed at the general convention in San Francisco in October directing the board of missions to apportion among the dioceses the amount to be annually contributed for mission causes by each. This apportionment was made by the board in December, but in the amounts which it notified the dioceses they were expected to give for missions there was no provision for the support of its auxiliary, the Church Missionary society. The missions conducted by the society require about $70,000 a year for their support and friends of the society claim that the board of missions should have provided for such a sum in their apportionment.

The board, on the other hand, says that it complied with the San Francisco resolution, in which nothing was specifically said about the missionary society.

ISLAND OF NEGROS IS TERRORIZED BY REBELS

AN APPEAL TO CONGRESS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MANILA, Jan. 26.—Col. Charles W. Miner of the Sixth infantry reports the conditions on the island of Negros to be unsatisfactory and that 400 bolomen and 40 men armed with rifles, under the command of the fanatical bandit leader Bapa Isio are terrorizing the people.

The American chamber of commerce here has formulated an appeal to congress in which it earnestly prays for the enactment of laws allowing Chinamen to enter the Philippine islands, under such restrictions as the United States Philippine commission may enact. The present restrictive laws concerning immigration, continues this appeal, is of no benefit to the Filipinos. Chinamen, if admitted, would not enter into competition with local labor and their entry into the islands is imperatively needed as the tobacco, hemp and sugar lands of the archipelago are only partially cultivated. Without this legislation the country cannot be properly developed. Building in Manila has been badly retarded because of this lack of labor, and for these reasons the American chamber of commerce, composed entirely of American citizens, representing commercial interests, respectfully prays for immediate action in this matter.

The United States Philippine commission has appropriated $5,000 for improving the harbor of Iloilo and $3,000 to be expended on Cagayan river in Northern Luzon.

Felipe Buencamino, one of the directors of the Federal party, is endeavoring to inaugurate an exhibition of commerce to be held next December. He relies mainly upon exhibits from the United States, China, Japan, Siam and Borneo. The merchants of Manila are inclined to think that this exhibition should be delayed another year, but, if sufficient support is promised, the United States Philippine commission will be asked to assist in carrying out the idea.

CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS.

Head of Colombian Revolutionary Junta in New York Laughs at the Government's Claims.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Dr. D. J. Restrepo, head of the Colombian revolutionary junta here, declared today that the address of Acting President Marroquin of Colombia was "a last specious appeal." He asserted that never before have the revolutionists had so many armies in the field and that Dr. Marroquin's prediction of the early end of the rebellion is absurd.

"Our recent success in Panama is well known," continued Dr. Restrepo. "We have armies operating that have so far met with no severe reverses for a year. I hold in my hand a cablegram, received today, acknowledging the receipt by Gen. Castillo, who commanded the recent successful attack on Rio Hacha, of 500,000 cartridges for rifles. The leaders of our armies report that they hold a post on the Magdalena river, an important water highway of Colombia. That is something we had never before accomplished.

"As to Dr. Marroquin's statement that the revolution is being conducted for private ends and that the leaders seek to make money, it scarcely needs refutation. Those who are engaged in the revolution have given liberally of their means to the cause. There is so little expectation of gain by the movement that we have never chosen any except military chiefs. Our leaders are not seeking political places."

PANAMA, COLOMBIA, Jan. 26.—A small gasoline launch belonging to the government and named the General Campo, bearing important dispatches for the government Gen. Castro, was sighted by the revolutionary fleet near Rio Grande, off the coast of Agua Dulce, southwest of Panama.

Two shots were fired at the General Campo from the revolutionary gunboat Padilla and the former was obliged to return here.

INVASION WELCOMED.

John Hare, the Actor, Praises Americans and American Theatrical Managers.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The leaders of the theatrical profession were the guests of the Old Players club of London at its annual dinner tonight. John Hare, the actor, in a speech, referred to the "American invasion," and said he had pleasure in heartily welcoming it and those bright and quick-witted men and women who "gave fresh life to this somewhat tired and blase old country."

Mr. Hare said he thought something was also owing to the American theatrical manager, and that he was glad to take this opportunity of denying that English actors and actresses returned from America with their finesse dulled and their methods coarsened.

MONEY FOR IMPROVEMENTS.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Will Spend Twenty Million Dollars for Betterments.

OTTAWA, ONT., Jan. 26.—The Dominion government has approved an issue of $20,000,000 of capital stock of the Canadian Pacific railway subject to the sanction of the company's shareholders. The proceeds are to be applied to improvements, enabling the company to handle the immense increase of traffic on its lines, especially in the northwest.

The $20,000,000 will be spent as follows: New rolling stock and locomotives, $8,000,000; tracking, $6,000,000; new plants and shops, chiefly at Montreal, $1,500,000; new elevators and improvement of terminals, $3,000,000; miscellaneous improvements, $3,000,000.

Police Seize an American's Trunks.

PARIS, Jan. 26.—At the request of the British government the police of this city have searched the domicile here of Charles Bright, the American engineer, who was arraigned in London on January 22 charged with concealing £100,000 of his assets in connection with bankruptcy proceedings, and have seized four trunks containing documents and negotiable securities.

Detected Thief Commits Suicide.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—According to the Sofia correspondent of the Daily Express, Diko Joseph, a politician and lawyer and the director of the newspaper Svet, committed suicide after his arrest in connection with a series of thefts of postage stamps from the government printing department, involving a loss to the state of $80,000.

Monastery Burns; Ten Monks Perish.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Telegraphing from Vienna, the correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says the newspapers of Athens report that the celebrated Saint Paul monastery on Mount Athos was burned last Thursday night. The prior and nine monks perished and 20 others were seriously injured.

The occupants of the monastery were sleeping when the fire broke out, according to the Athens papers, and the monastery itself was damaged to the extent of £80,000.

BRITISH CAPTURE A BOER GENERAL

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Jan. 26.—A report sent by Lord Kitchener from Johannesburg tells of the important capture of Gen. B. Viljoen, in the neighborhood of Lydenburg, Transvaal colony, as well as the capture of small parties of Boers elsewhere.

The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Brussels says in a dispatch that Mr. Krueger has received fresh invitations from Chocago, New York and Philadelphia to visit those cities, and that he will probably start upon an American tour next April.

PRETORIA, Jan. 26.—Col. Wilson captured 20 Boers near Frankfort, in Orange River colony, last Saturday. He was preparing at dawn the next day to move away with his captives, when a superior force of Boers made a desperate effort to recapture the prisoners. A hot fight ensued in which all but three of the prisoners escaped and in which a few men were killed and wounded on both sides.

GERMANS ARE ANGRY.

Newspapers, in Polite Parsseology, Call Lord Cranbornes State. ment a Lie.

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—The German press throughout shows irritation over the alleged British attempts to throw suspicion on the policy entertained towards the United States by Germany before the outbreak of the Spanish-American war. Nearly all the German newspapers regard these alleged attempts in the same light as does the Deutsche Tages Zeitung. Dwelling upon the motives which actuated the interpellations of Mr. Henry Norman in the British house of commons, January 20, that paper says:

"In the London reports cabled to New York it is alleged that Germany was the instigator of a plan to bring about intervention by the European powers against the United States. This is a direct blow in the face of truth. But what of it? It might, perhaps, on the verge of Prince Henry's visit, create ill-feelings in the United States, in which case the object underlying Mr. Norman's interpellation and the answer thereto of Lord Cranborne, as well as that of the inventions sent abroad by English newspaper agencies, would be fulfilled."

CAPTIVES LOCATED.

Money for Miss Stone's Ransom Has Probably Been Paid to the Brigands.

DJUMALA, EUROPEAN TURKEY, Jan. 26.—Miss Stone, the captive American missionary, and her companion, Madame Tsilka, have been located near Yapyak, in the vicinity of the frontier. The American delegates conducting the negotiations for the release of the captives have arrived at Banisko (about 30 miles southeast of Djumala), and will probably pay over the ransom money today.

ENGAGEMENT OFF.

Sybil Sanderson Will Not Marry Count Fitz-James, But Will Not Tell Why.

PARIS, Jan. 26.—A representative of the Associated Press today saw Miss Sybil Sanderson in conection with the statement that her engagement to marry Count Henri de Fitz-James had been broken off.

While Miss Sanderson confirmed this fact, she refused to give the reasons therefor, and added that any statement of these reasons which may be published could only be unauthorized, untrue and unjust to both Count de Fitz-James and herself. Count de Fitz-James refused to be seen.

Street Riot In Algiers.

GERMANS GIVE WALES A FRIGID WELCOME

DANCE PARTY AT PALACE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—The Prince of Wales, who is to represent King Edward at the celebration of the birth of Emperor William tomorrow, visited the Prussian princes, Count von Buelow, the imperial chancellor, the various ambassadors and other distinguished personages this morning. Soon after 1 o'clock Emperor William and the prince drove in a closed carriage to the barracks of the first royal dragoons, Queen Victoria's own. A triumphal archway of evergreen had been erected in front of the porch of the barracks and the regiment was drawn up in parade order. The band played the British anthem and after the regiment had marched past the emperor and the Prince of Wales, the latter proceeded to the regimental mess room, where luncheon was served. The party included the British ambassador to Germany, Sir F. C. Lascelles, and his staff, Princes Albrecht and Wilhelm Eitel-Friedrich and Prince Henry of Prussia. The luncheon terminated at 3 o'clock, when Emperor William returned to the castle and the Prince of Wales took a train for Potsdam, there to visit the Duchess of Albany and to lay a wreath upon the tomb of the late Empress Frederick.

In the evening Emperor William and the empress gave a dance party to the Prince of Wales in the Elizabeth hall of the castle, at which the British minister, Count von Buelow, and Count von Waldersee were present.

The day passed without any disrespect being shown to the Prince of Wales. German crowds have too deeply abiding respect for royal personages and are too thoroughly policed to ever jeer them. But in a city where the lifting of one's hat is as universal as ordinary civility, it was singular to see the passing crowds with never a hat raised and to hear no murmurs of applause.

While receiving the most elaborate attentions from the family of Emperor William and from German officialdom, the Prince of Wales must feel the chilling attitude of the German public. Almost all the newspapers refrain from editorial comment on his visit.

WILL VISIT THE CZAR.

Austrian Heir Presumptive Will Attempt to Cultivate Friendship of Russia.

VIENNA, Jan. 26.—The announcement that the heir presumptive to the Austrian throne, Archduke Franz Ferdinand, will go to St. Petersburg February 2 to present himself to the czar in his new capacity of a general of Russian cavalry, is much commented upon the light of the alleged weakening of the triple alliance, which. It is supposed, led to Prince Henry's approaching visit to the United States, and the idea of a rapprochement between Russia and Austria as a counter-demonstration to Germany's action.

FOUND BURIED TREASURE.

Chinese Unearth 100,000,000 Taels Which Had Been Concealed Beneath the Palace.

PEKING, Jan. 26.—Chinese officials have found treasure to the value of over 100,000,000 taels in gold and silver, which was buried in the women's quarters of the palace before the court fled from Peking.

The court has granted 5,000,000 taels annually to Yuan Shi Hai, viceroy of Chi Li, for the maintenance of an army of 100,000 men in Chi Li province.

Yuan Shi Hai has been given practical control of the army and navy of China and proposes engaging Japanese instructors for the new army and British instructors for the navy.

Ministers Want New Jail.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—The Ministerial association has taken up the matter of securing a new lock-up and will make a demand that one be built at once on humanitarian grounds. A committee of ministers visited the jail yesterday and pronounced it to be atrocious. The ministers will make an appeal to the city at their meeting tomorrow.

Prisoner Brought From Michigan.

Woman Sets Fire to Self--Cremated by Thieves

WOMAN LIGHTED FIRE TO CONSUME HERSELF

SHE STOOD UPON A PYRE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 26.—Miss Minta Moore, a milliner of Stockport, became suddenly deranged last night and attempted a peculiar and horrible mode of self-destruction. Removing the top from the stove she filled it with pattern hats and other inflammable material, including her family pictures, the frames of which she sawed into small pieces, and setting fire to it deliberately climbed upon her intended funeral pyre.

In an instant she was enveloped in flames, attracting the attention of passersby, who, after a desperate struggle, overpowered the woman and extinguished the fire.

She is in a critical condition tonight, but if she recovers she will be recommitted to the Athens Insane hospital, where she was an inmate several years ago.

SLEIGHING PARTIES LOST IN HEAVY FOG

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BELLEVERNON, PA., Jan. 26.—Last night one of the heaviest fogs this vicinity has ever experienced settled down over the Monongahela valley. It drifted in clouds like smoke and it was possible to see only a distance of a few feet.

A dozen sleighing parties went out from here and of these several became lost in the fog and did not get home until morning. One sled load dropped one of its party, Miss Lizzie Cooper, out into the snow and did not discover her absence until several miles had been traversed. When they went back for her she was sitting in the snow, not knowing which way to turn. Even freight trains were delayed by the fog.

COURT HOUSE LOOTED.

Poker Chips Taken from County Vault at Wheeling.

WHEELING, W. VA., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—A bushel of ivory poker chips that cost Fred Goldstrohm $350 were looted from a vault in the court house. They were taken in a raid on his place nearly two years ago, and were part of a gambling outfit worth $2,000. Goldstrohm was apprehended recently and last week was fined and sentenced to jail.

Sheriff Irwin has locked up the poker, faro, roulette and hazard layouts in the county jail and defies thieves to break in. Several clubs about town are said to have ivory chips bearing Goldstrohm's private mark.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

STEUBENVILLE, O.—The Republican city committee has decided to hold the primary election on May 8.

GREENSBURG, PA.—Mrs. Mary Swiger of Grapeville fell down stairs last night and was probably fatally injured. She is 75 years old and is the mother of Mrs. Wakefield of Jeannette.

BEDFORD, PA.—R. A. Stiver's livery stable was destroyed by fire yesterday. He succeeded in saving all his horses and all but two of his carriages. The loss on the building was fully covered by insurance.

TORONTO, O.—Philip Moffit and Perry Blivens were thawing a large quantity of dynamite at Coetonia, three miles from here, last night, when it exploded, shaking this place and fatally injuring Moffit. His companion escaped.

ALTOONA, PA.—Misses Laura Dowles and Emma Spyker left this city last night for New York, whence they will sail on Tuesday for India, where they will be engaged as missionaries. They are sent out by the local branch of the Christian and Missionary alliance.

SHARON, PA.—The board of county commissioners made an investigation Saturday of the report of Hickory township assessor, John Hope, which placed the valuation of the Sharon Steel Company's buildings at $2,165,000. The commissioners reduced the valuation to $1,020,000.

THE DEATH ROLL

Marshall Heinle.

Marshall Heinle, a well-known Alleghenian, died last night at the home to which he recently moved in Ben Avon. He was 90 years old. Mr. Heinle was born in Lancastar county in 1813. When he was a year and a half old his parents moved out to the state of Indiana, and when Marshall was 17 years old he came to Allegheny, where he had lived ever since. In 1846 he married Miss Elizabeth Froehlich, who survives him, at the age of 82, and whose family came from Alsace. Mr. Heinle's own family, originally from Germany, was transplanted to England and came to Pennsylvania in the early part of the eighteenth century. His father made a trip to Pittsburgh from Lancaster county in the first years of the last century. Mr. Heinle was a millworker, and for 32 years was manager for the firm of Graff, Bennett & Co. and its predecessor. In 1852 he was sent up to Lake Superior, where he built a mill for the firm. Mr. Heinle was a member of the Park Avenue (Allegheny) German Lutheran church. He was the last one of the old stock of the Heinle family, but he leaves several sons. The children who survive him are Mrs. W. H. McCleary, widow of the late Sheriff William H. McCleary; Misses Eugenia, Oda and Anna Heinle, with whom he lived in Ben Avon, and three sons, Emil of Chicago, Albert of Esplen borough, and Robert of Allegheny.

Hermon D. Rolfe.

Hermon D. Rolfe, son of E. W. Rolfe, died yesterday afternoon at his father's home, No. 812 St. James street, Shadyside, after an illness of only a few hours. For a year past Mr. Rolfe had been a sufferer from kidney complaint, but the troublewas not considered serious, and he was attending to his duties as usual on Saturday, in apparent good health. Yesterday morning he was unable to get out of bed. During the afternoon he grew worse and in a little while he died. Hermon Rolfe was born in Pittsburgh and spent practically his whole life here. During the last 10 years he was engaged in newspaper work, first with his uncle, Major W. H. Davis of the Pittsburgh News Agency, and afterwards with the Chronicle Telegraph and more recently with the afternoon news bureau. He was widely known and had many friends, to whom his kindly disposition endeared him. During the Spanish war he served with Company H of the Eighteenth regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers. Mr. Rolfe was 30 years old and unmarried. His father, mother and three sisters survive him. His mother is the sister of Mrs. Davis, and one of his sisters is the wife of Park C. Wood.

Dr. Theodore P. Simpson.

Dr. Theodore Perry Simpson died yesterday at his home, No. 302 North Highland avenue. Dr. Simpson was born in Prosperity, Washington county, in 1836. He was educated at Waynesburg college, studied medicine in New York and graduated in both schools and homeopathy in 1857, before he was 21 years old. He practiced medicine with his father, Jonathan Simpson, in Prosperity, spent a few years in New Brighton and came to Pittsburgh in 1876. Dr. Simpson was a prominent physician and was often consulted by brother practitioners in surrounding cities. He was a member of the Sixth United Presbyterian church. Four daughters survive him: Mrs. W. A. Black and Mrs. J. A. Reed, both of Pittsburgh; Mrs. J. P. Millikee of New Castle, and Miss Martha Simpson, who lived with her father. The interment will be at Washington, Pa., tomorrow morning.

Gen. Harrison C. Hobart.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 26.—Gen. Harrison C. Hobart, the last survivor of the Wisconsin constitutional convention, and one of, if not the, last survivor of the original men who planned and made the famous Ross tunnel, and or it once escaped from Libby prison, died this morning at the hospital of the Soldiers' home, early this morning. Gen. Hobart was born at Ashburnham, Mass., and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1843. In 1845 he came to Wisconsin and began the practice of law. On the territorial legislature of 1847 he represented Sheboygan and Washington counties, and on the organization of the state he was the first state senator from his district. He aided in the framing of the constitution and had a marked influence on much of the early legislation of the state. During the session of 1849 he was the speaker of the house.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gilbert.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gilbert died at the home of her nephew, Merritt Austin, in Hill street, Sewickley, yesterday at noon. Mrs. Gilbert was 93 years of age, and one of the oldest women in the Sewickley valley. Until a few weeks of her death she was in good health and able to walk around the streets. About 10 days ago she fell down stairs and her death resulted from the injuries. She was born in New York, and spent most of her life in Minnesota. She came to Sewickley about five years ago to live with her nephew. She had no other living relatives.

Mrs. Mary Bradley.

Mrs. Mary Bradley died early yesterday morning at the home of her son, John Bradley, No. 1810 Sarah street, South Side. Mrs. Bradley was 82 years of age and had lived the greater part of her life in Pittsburgh. She was the mother of former Prothonotary John Bradley, at whose home she died, and of City Detective William Bradley. The funeral services will be held from the residence of her son John tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

John Bost.

John Bost, for many years one of the leading contractors in the Monongahela valley, died in St. Francis hospital yesterday morning after a brief illness. He was born in Germany 59 years ago, and came to this country when a child. He located in Braddock and erected nearly all the prominent buildings there. He is survived by eight children and six brothers.

Michael Riley.

Michael Riley, aged 35 years, died at his home in McKeesport yesterday from typhoid fever. Mr. Riley formerly lived in Pittsburgh. The funeral services will be held in St. Peter's Roman Catholic church, on Ohio street, Allegheny, this morning at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Drusilla Holland Bell.

ALTOONA, PA., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Mrs. Drusilla Holland Bell, formerly of Allegheny, and wife of Editor Warren H. Bell of the Altoona Gazette, an ex-Pittsburgh business man, died of peritonitis in Hollidaysburg this morning after a week's illness. She was aged 29 years.

Harry E. Rowles.

CLEARFIELD, PA., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Harry E. Rowles, a prominent Democratic politician, deputy prothonotary, deputy sheriff and recently head of a lodge of Elks, is dead from paralysis. He was recently in the real estate business. Deceased is survived by his widow and two children.

Obituary Notes.

Christian Haag is dead at his residence, No. 842 Perry street, Allegheny. Mr. Haag was 62 years old.

Mrs. Eliza Bond died yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at her home, No. 156 Meadow avenue, Allegheny. She was 80 years old.

Charles Appelbach died yesterday afternoon at his home, No. 2610 Wylie avenue. He was 63 years old, and is survived by his wife.

Mrs. Eliza McAuley, the mother of the former alderman, John F. McAuley, died yesterday at her home, No. 542 Rebecca street, Allegheny.

Mrs. Margaret Irene Ralston died yesterday afternoon at her home, No. 2220 Center avenue. She was the wife of Samuel R. Ralston.

RIVER STEAMER SINKS.

The Oneida Cut Down by Ice in the Little Kanawha.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—The steamer Oneida, plying between here and Creston on the Little Kanawha river, sank last night at the Creston wharf after completing a trip from here to Creston through the ice. The ice, which was very heavy, cut holes in her hull.

Her stern is under several feet of water and her bow sticks up a few feet above the surface. Her cargo, valued at $3,000, is practically ruined. The boat was owned by M. R. Lowther and D. M. Miller.

ROBBED AND BURNED TO DEATH IN A TOWER

TARGET MAN MURDERED

Was Seen in Torture by Trainmen Who Could Not Give Assistance.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WARREN, O., Jan. 26.—Robbed and cremated in his lonely tower was the fate of Michael Sweeney, a Baltimore & Ohio target man near Niles, this county, last night. Coroner Hoover of Warren today found evidence tending to show foul play. It is believed Sweeney was robbed, tied and burned to death.

Passing trainmen saw Sweeney in the burning building, but could not aid him. he stood moaning apparently unable to move, and fell a victim of the flames. The body was horribly burned. Sweeney was single and had a mother in Columbus. The murder is attributed to tramps.

HALL'S NAME MENTIONED.

Elk County Democrat a Possible Candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26.—A special dispatch to the Philadelphia Times from Washington, D. C., says:

The Democrats of Pennsylvania will do nothing regarding the coming contest in the state until after the February elections. Shortly after these elections a conference will be held in Philadelphia, participated in by the leading Democrats of the state, when a plan of action to be pursued and also the selection of a candidate for governor will undoubtedly be agreed upon. This last is the most important matter to be decided at the conference. Many names have been mentioned as the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, among them being Representative J. K. P. Hall of Elk county, ex-Governor Pattison, ex-Attorney General W. U. Hensel and ex-Judge James Gay Gordon of Philadelphia. The former is willing to enter the race should the Philadelphia conference decide upon his name.

National Committeeman James M. Guffey has been in the city during the past few days. He has consulted leading Democrats from Pennsylvania on the situation in that city. He has also discussed the condition of affairs in the Keystone state with national Democrats, and they have become greatly interested because of the chance for winning next fall.

A MANUFACTURER ASSIGNS.

Canton Man Relinquishes Property for Benefit of Creditors.

CANTON, O., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Albert Hoeffer, who is largely interested in the Canton Surgical and Dental Chair Company and several other manufacturing concerns, and his wife, Mary P. Hoeffer, have made individual assignments to Attorney A. M. McCarty for the benefit of creditors. Mr. Hoeffer's assets are estimated at $30,000 and those of his wife at $25,000. Their joint liabilities are thought to be about $30,000.

Assignee McCarty says he does not think any of the manufacturing interests will be affected. He says the embarrassment grew out of heavy holdings of unimproved real estate, on which money could not be realized to meet pressing obligations.

Effort to Prevent Licenses.

WASHINGTON, PA., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—At the First Presbterian, First Christian and Jefferson Avenue Methodist Episcopal churches here tonight, union temperance meetings were held and attended by immense crowds. President J. D. Moffatt of Washington and Jefferson college, and other prominent men, made addresses. The Anti-Saloon league of Washington is making a determined effort to prevent the licensing of saloons in the borough.

Killed by a Train.

LANCASTER, PA., Jan. 26.—Henry Leitz of Glen Rock, York county, was killed last night on the Pennsylvania railroad at Mill Creek. A freight train on which Leitz was riding stopped at that place for water, when Leitz got off, and in walking across the track an express train struck him.

HAAS TO WED WIDOW OF HIS TWO BROTHERS

LOOKING FOR REVENGE

Prospective Bridegroom Wanted to Have the Ceremony Performed in the Nebraska Town Where Both Crimes Were Committed.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

OMAHA, NEB., Jan. 26.—When Jane Segur Haas of Cortez, Montezuma county, Neb., marries Henry Haas of Mount Gilead, O., she will have married each of the three brothers of the Haas family and her husband will have shown a degree of pluck not often equaled.

Mrs. Haas' first two husbands were shot from ambush and the third one will come under the ban of the evil power which is held responsible for the making her twice a widow.

Thirty years ago William Haas was a prosperous young merchant of Mount Gilead, O. He decided to go west and become rich quick, and went to Cortez at a time when civilization was not even skin deep. He set up a trading post, which soon promised to yield him the wealth he coveted, but Haas was a man of peace and business and bore no reputation as a crack shot, a good man in a fight, a good gambler or a good fellow. He was only tolerated in the community because it was necessary to have a storekeeper and the rough men who went to him for everything they needed, from a pair of socks to a drink of whisky, treated him as a necessary evil. They did not regard him as a real man because he had never shot anybody and never threatened to do so.

Siegel Brothers in Earnest.

The belle of Cortez was Jane Segur, a black-haired, black-eyed girl, graceful as a willow, fearless as the wild men around her and beautiful as a woman dared to be in that community. The cow-punchers and plainsmen were at her feet. The roughest gambler in the whole country would lay down his life to do her a favor and win her smile. Two brothers by the name of Siegel, among the roughest of the rough men of Cortez, were open suitors for her hand and vowed to kill any man who married her.

To the amazement of the entire country the belle fell in love with the storekeeper. Their wedding day was set. Then the Siegel brothers went to see Haas at his store and tell him what would happen to him if he married the girl they had sworn none but one of them should wed.

Revengeful Suitor Killed.

Haas listened in patience for a while, then shot one of the Siegel brothers dead and that afternoon married the girl of his choice. Cortez serenaded the storekeeper who had proved that he had blood in his veins.

One night he was shot through the head with a Winchester bullet as he was returning from work. The younger Siegel, the only man of the family living, was suspected, but he asked the leading men [illegible] to state publicly that they did not believe he murdered Haas. They obeyed. Siegel was the best shot in Cortez.

When John Haas went to Cortez from Mount Gilead to settle up his brother's business affairs he fell in love with his brother's relict, still young and beautiful, and married her. Within six months he, too, was shot from ambush and killed.

Third Brother Takes a Chance.

The murderer was not apprehended, and Henry Haas, the third brother of the family, went out to Cortez to console the twice-widowed woman and assist her in selling out her property, so that she could leave for the east. While he was there the last of the Haases fell a victim to the widow of his two brothers and they are to be married within two weeks at Mount Gilead. Haas wanted to be married in Cortez, but Mrs. Haas would take no more chances. She declared that the danger will be quite enough if the wedding takes place in Ohio, but that she positively will not permit another husband to expose himself to the dangers of this bloody feud which has twice put her into mourning.

Haas says he is willing to take all chances and would like to live in Cortez until he gets a chance to take a shot at his brothers' murderers.

FURNACEMEN BURNED.

Three Men Met With a Peculiar and Painful Accident Yesterday Morning.

Three furnacemen, employed at the Ellsworth furnace, were painfully burned early yesterday morning, owing to a peculiar accident. The injured men are Peter Mullen, William Morris and Frank Knox. Mullen and Morris are in the Mercy hospital and Knox was taken to his home. It is thought all will recover.

The men were drawing coke from beneath the furnace and had piles of hot coke and cinders barring the passageways from the furnace. They had nearly finished when a slight drop of slag in the furnace frightened them.

With visions of the Soho furnace disaster before them the three dropped their tools and tried to escape. Their exits were barred by piles of hot cinders, but fear behind was greater than the actuality ahead, and all crawled over the piles of glowing cinders in the passageways.

Other workmen were attracted by their cries and the blazing clothes were torn from the unfortunates and a doctor summoned. It was found that all were burned about the hands and face and painfully scorched about the body.

Knox, who was probably the least injured, was taken to his home in Irwin street. Mullen and Morris, who live in Second avenue, Frankstown, were taken to the hospital.

HUSBAND WAS ABUSIVE.

Resented His Wife's Attending the Theater With Another Man. Other Police Hearings.

Police courts of Pittsburgh and Allegheny were not as heavy as usual yesterday, 96 prisoners being heard. The majority were the regular grist of Saturday night drunks and disorderlies, many of whom were discharged while others paid small fines.

Magistrate Bernard McKenna, in Central police court, as usual lead the list with 50 prisoners. The only unusual case before him charged Calvin and Adaline Smith and John Kelly with disorderly conduct. The woman testified that she went to the theater with Kelly and that her husband, from whom she had been separated two years, started to abuse her when she came out. The men paid $5 fines and the woman was discharged.

Magistrate John M. Armstrong, in Oakland policecourt, fined Eondine Barbeau and John Messhoff $5 each for fighting with Edward Conroy. The three men had been drinking together and early yesterday morning got into an argument in Nixon street. Conroy alleged that the other two men attacked him and Barbeau drew a knife. Conroy had two severe gashes in his left side and shoulder, but neither are serious. Magistrate Armstrong advised him to make informations against Barbeau and Messhoff for felonious cutting.

For the year 1900 these manufactures required the moving of 65,000,000 tons of freight and that amount is growing each year. This amount was by far the largest produced by any industrial center in the world.

Coal shipments from Pittsburgh constitute a great part of the annual tonnage. Coal from the Pittsburgh district can be delivered now to tide water on the Atlantic coast for $2 a ton. To New Orleans the present rates does not exceed that figure. Therefore Pittsburgh coal may be gotten to tide water, either in the Atlantic ocean or Gulf of Mexico for $2 a ton.

Pacific Coast Trade.

Compare the distance from New York to San Francisco by the trans-continental railways and by the proposed isthmian canal route and the latter is only 60 per cent longer. With the difference saved in freight charges Pittsburgh would benefit heavily.

It is estimated that the amount of steel products consumed on the western coast of the United States amounts to about 450,000 tons annually. A large part of this comes from the Pittsburgh district. Freight rates from New York to San Francisco are about $15 a ton and from Pittsburgh little less. This freight on steel products alone amounts to $6,750,000. Assuming the freight from Pittsburgh to New Orleans by boat to be $2 a ton and the average ocean freight to be .06c per ton per mile, freight to San Francisco from Pittsburgh would be $6.45 per ton.

Saving $7 86 Per Ton.

Taking the freight rate from Pittsburgh to New York as $3 a ton the rate from Pittsburgh to San Francisco by way of New York would be $7 86. This makes a saving on consignments from Pittsburgh to San Francisco of $8 57 by way of New Orleans and $7 14 by way of New York.

The estimated tonnage shipped annually from Pittsburgh by the Ohio river is 7,290,000 tons, including coal, steel rails, etc. This freight does not go clear through to New Orleans, but it is estimated that at least 3,000,000 tons reaches the gulf coast. The average freight rate, except on coal and iron and such heavier products, is estimated to be $3 per ton net. The distance is approximately 2,000 miles.

The annual tonnage of the Pittsburgh district is immense. A compilation made in the year 1890 shows a total of 58,656,697 tons shipped, not counting the oil trade of the district, which amounts to about 30,000,000 barrels annually.

Enormity of Tonnage.

This tonnage was divided as follows: Iron, steel, merchandise, ore, etc., 25,310,360 tons; coal, 19,355,626 tons; coke, 4,709,225 tons; river coal, 5,863,120 tons; river miscellaneous, 3,318,566 tons, or the immense total of 58,656,697 tons. The total number of loaded cars handled in Pittsburgh during that year was 2,183,987. This estimate should be increased through the list about 15 per cent to cover the immense growth in production during the two years.

Products of fire brick, pottery, sewer pipe and such articles of clay manufacture are not included in the summary. It is estimated that the yearly output of clay products manufactured in the upper Ohio valley, within 50 miles of Pittsburgh, is worth from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000. The estimate is for 2,000,000,000 fire brick, equal to 700,000 tons, worth $1,800,000; 9,500 carloads of sewer pipe, equal to 250,000 tons, worth $1,800,000; and 70,000 tons of pottery, worth $10,000,000.

Railroad Charges Too Heavy.

The cost of freight to the Pacific coast is so great as to seriously handicap trade. It is estimated now, under existing conditions, that possibly 10 or 12 per cent of the product of fire brick, sewer pipe and pottery of this section finds a market across the continent. The estimated rate of freight is now $20 to San Francisco. With a reduction of $10 or $12 per ton by way of an isthmian canal there is every prospect of great increase in trade.

Western Pennsylvania, with Pittsburgh as a center, is known the world over as a great oil producing district. Millions of barrels of the oil supply of the world annually come from the Pittsburgh district. The benefits accruing to this industry alone are immense and are too patent to need comment.

What It Means to Coal Trade.

To the coal industry of Western Pennsylvania the benefits of an isthmian canal will possibly be greater than to any other export product. It is estimated that the coal fields hereabout are capable of producing coal at the rate of 35,000,000 tons per annum, which is about the rate of production now, for 1,000 years.

The Monongahela river drains one of the greatest coal fields in the country. Most of this coal is shipped by river to Pittsburgh, the locks and dams on the Monongahela keeping open navigation nearly the entire year. With the cheap freight rates of an isthmian canal, the impetus given the coal business would be incalculable.

Iron and Steel.

Pittsburgh manufacturers point to the vast advantage that this district will have in the growing iron and steel trade in the oriental countries through the construction of the isthmian canal. Trade in the Asiatic countries, China and Japan, and in Eastern Russia, which is now controlled almost absolutely by the German and English iron masters, will through the construction of this canal certainly come here. The present route to these markets is by way of the Suez canal, and the operation of the new canal would cut the breadth of the Atlantic from the trip, force the German and English manufacturers to use the isthmian route, which would mean their disadvantage to the extent of twice the breadth of this ocean.

The great canal enterprise would bring the Pacific coast trade to the doors of the Pittsburgh iron and steel center.

Present rates to the western seaboard are almost prohibitive, being at all-rail proposition, and encouraging iron and steel enterprises in the west which would otherwise not be considered. Then there is the advantage of reaching the natural market of Pittsburgh iron and steel in Hawaii. The route there now is the circuitous one around Cape Horn. The Pittsburgh and American trade right in the Philippines would also be vastly augmented. The present route to these islands is usually by way of the Suez canal.

A representative of the United States Steel Corporation said yesterday of these matters: "Our interests, greatest in Pittsburgh, look forward to the completion of the isthmian canal to give us the volume of trade in Japan, China and Eastern Russia.

6,000 Miles Saved.

"The isthmian route would probably reduce the distance about 6,000 miles, compared to the present distances, in shipping to the eastern seaboard and then by the Suez route. Substitution of the isthmian route will enable us to compete with the German and English manufacturers, now chiefly supplying these markets. We will then be nearer than they. They have the advantage now over us to the extent of $2, $3 or $4 a ton in freight costs in reaching these markets and the change of route would give us just about the same advantages over them. In other words, the width of the Atlantic ocean is now against us, while the linking of the Pacific and Atlantic by means of the isthmian canal would give us the advantage in distance of about twice the way across the Atlantic ocean, for they, too, would use our canal.

The Oriental Trade.

"In the oriental trade the all-rail route to the Pacific coast does not figure. This stretch of about 3,000 miles by rail costs much more than the entire 30,000 miles by way of the Suez canal, as the situation now stands. By way of the Suez canal the freight rate is about $8 a ton."

Representatives of Jones & Laughlins, Ltd., who are a substantial factor in the export iron and steel trade, regard the canal as the most important boon of decades for Pittsburgh's export trade. It was suggested by one of the representatives of the company that not only would the water route put Pittsburgh very near to the Pacific coast market, now only reached at a freight cost of $20 a ton, but it would encourage the return of the valuable lumber along the Pacific so much needed here.

Undeveloped Markets Reached.

Willis L. King, vice chairman of Jones & Laughlins, said: "The subject is of too vast proportions to discuss off-hand. As a general proposition it commends itself, providing the means of shortening the time, decreasing the distance and lessening the freight to the countries whose trade we should command, and others in which he have equal rights with European producers. Importance of the great prospective iron and steel market in Hawaii and the Philippines, especially, should not be overlooked, and this will be our means to retain these markets."

President W. H. Donner of the Union Steel Company said: "This trade in the oriental countries, especially Japan, should be recognized as a growing factor in international commerce. The isthmian canal is a great and excellent proposition and probably the best means of securing these markets and the others which Pittsburgh interests should not lose sight of."

The River Interests.

With the completion of the canal the Monongahela and Ohio rivers, with their 40 or 50 miles of harbor facilities, will from the mid-continental waterway to the Gulf of Mexico. Manufactured goods of every description, coal, steel and large ocean vessels can be moved when the rivers are navigable and goods can be loaded on sea-going craft in the Pittsburgh harbor and sent to the markets of the world without breaking bulk. Rivermen assert that no one can forecast the results of such an achievement.

The Riter-Conley Manufacturing Company is at present building a mammoth steel plate plant at Leetsdale on the Ohio river, and boat building will be one of the chief features of the works. Already the firm is figuring on erecting tank steamers for some of the large oil companies. These steamers will draw, when launched, seven to eight feet of water. When they are loaded they will draw 28 and 30 feet. In a few years the upper Ohio river dams will be completed and this will give the company ample facilities for harboring craft at all seasons.

Ocean Craft Built Here.

At the office of the company it was stated that the building of the proposed canal would stimulate this industry and that it will make business for the company. The firm now has contracts for converting steamers into tank vessels. These are being rebuilt at Philadelphia, the material being shipped there by rail.

In time the company expect to be able to repair ocean going craft at the Leetsdale plant. It was stated that the building of steel craft is now only in its infancy. There has been a demand for steel hull barges for carrying certain kinds of products, and the hulls of the coming river vessels will be made of steel. The company is now preparing to meet this demand.

Capt. W. B. Rodgers of the Monongahela Consolidated Coal and Coke Company said his company was especially interested in the construction of the interoceanic canal.

Vessels Could Come Up River.

He said in part: "It would be no great feat to build or bring ocean going, steel hull barges to Pittsburgh and load them to a depth of 10 feet, carrying fully 1,500 tons. My idea would be to build craft that could be loaded to a depth of 18 or 20 feet.

"It would only be necessary to give the barge a partial load at Pittsburgh. Then establish coaling or freight stations along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, where the barges could be loaded out to their full capacity. Barges could be loaded out at Louisville about nine months in the year, while the other three months, probably, they would have to be loaded out at Memphis.

"The barges could be towed across the Gulf of Mexico to either the Pacific or Atlantic coasts to the markets of the world without breaking bulk. There is no doubt but that some day Pittsburgh coal will be sent to the markets of the world.

Steel Barges for Trips.

"It will take peculiarly built craft to transport our home products. They will have to be of a special design. It will not matter as to speed, so long as they can maintain a normal gait. Square barges could be built 175 or 200 feet long. These would only draw about two feet of water, prior to loading them. The barges for that matter, could be constructed so as to be able to run under their own steam. Steel products can now be moved from Pittsburgh to New Orleans very profitably at $3 a ton.

"When this canal is built the dams on the Monongahela will be enlarged. When this is done, craft can be loaded deeper and to much better advantage. I do not think that the bridges now being constructed will interfere with the navigating of this style of craft."

No Transfer of Freight.

Rivermen contend that the commerce of the Ohio is only in its infancy. Capt. Isaac B. Williams, the local government steamboat hull inspector, says that there is no question about the feasibility of ocean going craft being started from Pittsburgh. He says that the rivers are the natural highways of commerce, and that the Ohio and Mississippi valleys will be heard from 10 years hence. He himself has loaded coal on ocean going barges at New Orleans and shipped the product to Galveston, Tex. The distance is short, but the captain stated that it will only be a few years until coal and steel in barge lots will be shipped from Pittsburgh to all parts of the world, and with a system of locks and dams on the Ohio river Pittsburgh, the supreme industrial center of this country, will multiply its export trade five or six times over.

Colombia Is Ready to Work.

PANAMA, COLOMBIA, Jan. 26.—The news received here from the United States concerning the Panama canal is welcome. The government has appointed J. G. Lewis, a banker, and F. Mueis, a lawyer, commissioners of this department to assist Senor Carlos M. Silva, Colombian minister at Washington, in matters pertaining to the canal.

Morgan Still After Canal Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Senator Morgan will try to have the Hepburn Nicaragua canal bill reported from the committee on interoceanic canals tomorrow. Senator Hanna will insist on delay so that he can make a minority report in favor of Panama.

Hackett Decides to Produce "The Crisis" for the First Time in This City.

BOSTON, Jan. 26.—(Special.)—James K. Hackett decided yesterday that he would produce Winston Churchill's dramatization of his novel, "The Crisis," for the first time on any stage in Pittsburgh on Monday evening, March 3.

Before the book was written Mr. Hackett and Mary Mannering Hackett entered into an agreement with Mr. Churchill by which one or the other was to have the dramatic rights of the book when finished, but owing to Mrs. Hackett's great success in "Janice Meredith," and Mr. Hackett's success in "Don Caesar's Return," the production of the piece has been delayed.

DECIDED DROP SCHEDULED FOR THE MERCURY

Non-Appearance of Shipping Stage of Water Disappoints Local Rivermen.

COLD WAVE ON THE WAY

Settlers and Indians in Oklahoma Suffer Great Hardships from Bitter Weather Which Prevails in That Territory.

Local weather forecasters are persevering if not infallible. The cold wave flag has been mast-headed again and zero temperature is said to be coming rapidly toward us out of the frigid west. According to the predictions confidently made last night, Old Boreas in one of his most biting humors will be with us by tonight, but in the meantime we are to have a miscellaneous assortment of sun, cloud, rain and snow.

Rivermen have given up looking for a shipping stage for the present. Reports from up stream indicate that nothing in the way of a rise is in sight. There has been no rainfall to speak of in the watersheds of the rivers which affect the stage of water at this point. The snow is not melting on the hills which are drained by the Monongahela or the Allegheny and no rise of consequence is reported from any point.

Coal Awaiting Shipment.

About 3,000,000 bushels of coal are awaiting shipment to southern points and in expectation of a rise preparations had been begun to get it away as quickly as possible. The up-river news, however, coupled with the confident predictions of colder weather, have put an end to the fond hopes of the rivermen for a coal-boat stage.

TOPEKA, KAS., Jan. 26.—Clear, calm and very cold, is the weather condition over the entire state. Cattle on the western ranges are suffering and much loss is likely to ensue unless the situation shall improve. Very little wind accompanies the cold and this makes the conditions more favorable. The coldest portion of the state tonight is the northern tier of counties. Phillipsburg reports the mercury as reading 10 below, with clear skies and little wind.

Zero Weather in Nebraska.

LINCOLN, NEB., Jan. 26.—Nebraska suffered from below-zero weather today. A brisk north wind blew across the state and intensified the disagreeable temperature. The weather was generally clear and the sun shone. None of the railroad lines was entirely blocked, although on many of the branch lines snow plows were found necessary. Trains from the west were from one to six hours late. Reports from the ranges indicate considerable suffering to stock. In Lincoln the street car lines were tied up. It is clear and cold tonight, reports from the state indicating a temperature of from 8 to 16 degrees below zero.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Jan. 26.—The coldest weather of the winter, with the thermometer at zero all day, and a brisk north wind, covers all Oklahoma. Large cattle interests will suffer greatly, no matter what provision has been made to protect them. The wheat crop will also suffer loss, as not enough snow has accompanied the blizzard to protect the rank growth.

Settlers Will Suffer.

In the new country settlers, and especially those in moving wagons, of which there are hundreds, will suffer. In the Indian territory, principally in the Creek nation, where the fullbloods are in destitute circumstances, the conditions are very bad for undergoing the rigors of such weather.

LACROSSE, WIS., Jan. 26.—The heaviest snow of the season fell here today. The thermometer is falling rapidly. The mercury now registers 10 degrees below zero.

DETROIT, Jan. 26.—A Free Press special from Niles, Mich., says: A terrific snowstorm set in here at 7 o'clock tonight. The temperature fell 20 degrees in three hours.

There is something wrong if you have a ravenous appetite, and yet keep growing weak. Dr. D. Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge removes such condition and brings strength.

MERCHANT STEEL POOL MEETS HERE

MEMBERS WILL HOLD A CONFERENCE TOMORROW.

Interests of General Trade and Advance in Prices Will Be Considered — Bar Iron Scarce and Prices Higher—Independent Sheet Mills Need Steel.

Members of the merchant steel pool will hold a conference in Pittsburgh tomorrow to consider the interests of their trade and possibly an advance in prices. Steel bar is now selling at $30 a ton and the mills here and in all sections of the country are crowded with orders from four to six months ahead. The price on basic open hearth bar is $2 a ton higher.

This is the first time since the interests of this trade associated themselves to maintain fixed minimum prices that a meeting has been held in Pittsburgh. For some time the interests have had no meetings at all, the custom prior to the organization of the United States Steel Corporation of a meeting every two weeks or so having been allowed to lapse. Purpose to hold this meeting in Pittsburgh has led to a report that the bar iron interests were to meet here tomorrow. While no meeting of the bar iron producers is to be held here, all in interest are demanding higher prices for their products, which have advanced from $2 to $3 a ton in a short time.

Bar Iron Is Scarce.

The Western Bar Iron association no longer exists, there being no occasion for its operation since the formation of the Republican Iron and Steel Company, taking in practically all the bar iron producers of the central west.

Some months ago the Eastern Bar Iron association reached a price agreement with the Republic company, abolishing the old differentials between the eastern and western trades. A very short time afterward this differential was re-established in a modified form. For some time the price on eastern bar iron has been about $1 a ton higher than the western price. Ostensibly quotations have been $30 a ton at Pittsburgh and west and $31 in the east. These prices no longer rule, however, the Republic company, declaring itself sold out for the first six months of the year and out of the market.

Bar Sells at $32.

Steel corporation bar iron, produced in and about Pittsburgh, is now understood to be selling at $32 a ton. The refined Pittsburgh bar iron is being sold at $1 85 for 100 pounds for months ahead, while $1 90 is being paid for prompter deliveries.

Independent plate and sheet producing interests are expected to meet in Pittsburgh or the east within the week to arrange a concerted plan to supply themselves with steel. The steel corporation sells very little tonnage of billets outside of its own component companies. On this account the independent interests who have been forced to go as far as Germany for their supplies are considering the erection of steel mills to produce their own supplies.

WAR VETERAN IN TROUBLE.

Colored Soldier Fought With His Wife and a Policeman and Was Arrested.

Charles Cooper, colored, of No. 2842 Penn avenue, a veteran of Troop K, Tenth United States cavalry, is under arrest in the Penn avenue police station as a suspicious person. He had trouble with his wife yesterday morning and as a result will probably be charged with felonious cutting and gayety of the peace this morning.

Mrs. Cooper says her husband came home early yesterday morning and tried to cut her throat with a razor while she was in bed. She managed to partially elude the stash of the razor, but was cut on the left hip. She says further that her husband said he would "fix her like Davis fixed his wife." Davis recently shot and killed his wife with a square or two of the Cooper home.

Mrs. Cooper says her husband threatened her all morning. She finally escaped and reported her trouble to the police. Policeman Charles Rodgers was sent to arrest Cooper. The colored man fought hard, but was finally subdued and locked up. The police say Cooper is a bad man, and was recently arrested for breaking the arm of a Mrs. Pendleton. Cooper denies being a bad man and lays his trouble to his wife, whom he says is unfaithful to him.

Pittsburghers in Florida.

PALM BEACH, FLA., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. James W. Scully, Master J. W. Scully, Jr., and Miss Walton of Pittsburgh arrived at the Royal Poinciana today. Miss Walton's engagement to James Herald Childs has just been formally announced in Pittsburgh.

HUSBAND KILLS HIS WIFE WITH SHARP HATCHET

THE MAN WAS JEALOUS

Victim Terribly Mutilated as She Was Preparing to Go to Her Parents — Negro Fatally Wounds a Railroad Construction Foreman.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Jan. 26.—Maddened by jealousy, George Bakes, a middle-aged man of this city, today cut his wife to death with a sharp hatchet, inflicting more than a dozen gashes about her head, four of which penetrated the skull. The tragedy occurred at noon in the rear yard of the home, the woman having run from the house in an attempt to escape. The first blow, which was over the right ear, felled her to the ground, and this would have been sufficient to have ended life, but the man continued cutting until her head had no semblance to that of human. Calmly the desperate man walked to the Chesapeake & Ohio station, nearby, and climbed on a freight train just pulling out for the west.

Was Ready to Leave Him.

Bakes and his wife were addicted to quarreling, and after a slight encounter late last evening the woman left home and did not return until today, her object being to secure some clothing that she might go to Ft. Pleasant, this state, the home of her parents. Bakes said her if she attempted to leave he would kill her. He waited while the woman dressed, and just as she was adjusting her hat to depart, he seized a hatchet and began wielding it.

Every effort is being made to capture the man, and should he be returned tonight it may be difficult to prevent mob violence, as public indignation was never greater here.

Bakes is a turfman, and is known in almost all the towns along the Ohio river. He has always been regarded as a desperate character, he having on two previous occasions emptied revolvers at his enemies on the streets of Huntington.

Shot by a Negro.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Jan. 25.—(Special.)—C. P. Johnson of Cincinnati, a white foreman on the coal and iron extension of the West Virginia Central railroad, building from Elkins, was fatally shot this morning by "Red" Knight, a negro. The tragedy occurred at the big tunnel, four miles south of Elkins. Knight was captured, and it is not known whether he reached the jail at Phillipi. It being regarded unsafe to take him to the jail at Beverly, as an armed mob started after him to lynch him and may have overtaken the officers with the prisoner. Johnson is being hurried to a Cincinnati hospital, but it is thought he cannot survive the journey.

Johnson, putting his head through the shanty door, called to the negroes, who were tardy, to go to work. Without warning Knight shot him through the head with a revolver, firing three times. The fatal bullet entered just behind the ear and shattered the jawbone. It is said the negro objected to working on Sunday, after carousing last night. Sunday work is necessary to hurry the tunnel to completion.

AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing and ordering the construction of a lateral sewer on Lacey street, Tenth ward, from Linwood avenue to an unnamed alley, and providing for advertisement and inspection of the cost and expense thereof.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the select and common councils of the city of Allegheny, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same: That the construction of a lateral sewer on Lacey street, Tenth ward, from Linwood avenue to an unnamed alley is hereby authorized and ordered, and the director of the department of public works is hereby authorized to prepare specifications therefor, and the city controller and the said director are authorized to advertise for proposals for doing said work in accordance with such specifications, award the contract therefor, subscribe, on behalf of the city, the proper articles of agreement in such cases made and provided.

The cost and expense of said improvement shall be paid out of the funds appropriated for the purpose of the loan of Pennsylvania providing therefor and hereby appropriated for the purpose of paying the cost and expense of the said improvement.

Sec. 2. That so much of any ordinance as may conflict with the provisions of this ordinance be and the same is hereby repealed.

Ordained and enacted into a law this 20th day of January, A. D. 1902.

P. J. TOMARATIS,
President of Select Council.

Attest: LAFAYETTE WILLS, City Clerk.

JOHN P. DENNISTON,
President of Common Council.

ROBERT DILWORTH, City Clerk.

City Controller's Office, Allegheny, Pa., January 20th, A. D. 1902. The above is a correct copy of the original ordinance on file in this office.

Pennsylvania Railroad Soap

Walker's Soap was selected to wash the cars of the Pennsylvania Railroad, after their chemists had analyzed hundreds of well-known brands and found every one of them so full of alkali that they would destroy the best varnish and paint—sometimes at one washing. It takes a great deal more alkali to consume hard varnish and paint than soft cloth—yet hundreds of these condemned soaps are sold for laundry work.

WALKER'S SOAP

Is good soap. Contains no alkali.

It is made from pure cocoanut oil and edible tallow—without a trace of anything that would injure the most delicate fabric or most sensitive skin. It is so made that it cleanses almost without effort—it simply releases the dirt, leaving nothing behind—but cleanliness. Look for the Game Rooster on the wrapper.

Local News of All Pittsburgh

Fifth in Volume of Bank Clearings. Fourth in Rank Among Cities.

Found Dead in Bed—Samuel Wilkinson, a colored man, 63 years of age, was found dead in bed at his home, No. 78 Fulton street, yesterday morning. His death was due to heart disease.

Sudden Death in Clairton—The coroner was notified last evening of the sudden death of David McKelvey at Clairton. The cause of his death was not stated. He was a married man, 43 years of age.

Planning a Joint Order—Pittsburgh organizations of the Brotherhood of Carpenters, Bricklayers, Plasterers and Stone Masons, with possibly one other trade, are planning the formation of a new joint organization on the lines of the Building Trades Council, but independent of it.

Col. Guffey's House Afire—A defective flue in the residence of J. M. Guffey, Fifth and South Highland avenues, at noon yesterday, started a fire. No. 8 engine company responded on a still alarm and had the fire out before any damage was done.

Convulsions Killed Babies—Mable Edwards, the 6-months-old daughter of Margaret Edwards of Welsh row, West Carson street, died of convulsions yesterday morning. Mary, the infant daughter of Mary Lindenmuth of Voder street, was found dead in bed early yesterday morning. She died of convulsions.

Heart Disease Caused Death—Michael Brennan of Clinton row, West Carson street, died suddenly on Saturday night. He took sick on the street and was helped home by two of his neighbors, but before a doctor could be called he was dead. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of death. He was a married man, 63 years of age.

Sewer Broke Again—The sewer at Center avenue and Chauncey street broke again last night and the streets, which have quite a dip there, were flooded. The Center avenue street cars were compelled to go around by way of Herron, Erin and Wylie avenues. The damage was not great, but a number of cellars were filled with water.

Payment Stopped—The Amalgamated association has ceased to pay benefits to the men thrown idle through the steel workers' strike. The payments had been continued 19 weeks, while the laws of the organization only provide for their running 13 weeks. It is said that the last payment went to fully 300 men, yet idle as a result of the strike.

Lecture on Temperance—The first of a series of temperance meetings under the auspices of the general assembly committee on temperance of the Presbyterian church was inaugurated last night in the Central Presbyterian church, Allegheny. Emmet M. Adair, a well-known attorney of Carrollton, O., was the speaker. His address was on "The Church and the Saloon."

Horse Ran Away—A horse hitched to a sleigh owned by John J. Carney caused some excitement last evening by running away in Larkins alley from South Thirtieth street to South Seventeenth street. The alley is narrow, but fortunately there were no teams along it at the time. At the cross streets several persons narrowly escaped from being run down.

Favor the Citizens—Adolf Batz, candidate for ward assessor on the Citizens ticket in the Twenty-eighth ward, is enthusiastic over his prospects. He said yesterday that he thought the whole ticket would be elected over the machine candidates with a big majority. The Germans of the ward are nearly all in favor of the Citizens straight ticket, Mr. Batz said.

Held a "Turntag"—Twenty-four associations of Turners took part in the bi-monthly "Turntag" in the Lawrenceville Turner hall and drilled under the supervision of William Hertel yesterday. Arrangements were completed for participation in the 'Bezirksturnfest," to be held in East Liverpool, O., in the beginning of July. The next "Turntag" will be held in March in Steubenville, O.

Two Coasting Accidents—Charles Peek, the 10-year-old son of Charles Peek, Sr., of Herman avenue, Wilmerding, broke his left leg while coasting near his home yesterday. He attempted to coast down a hill and collided with a pole. William Winters, a 13-year-old boy living in Eight street, Braddock, had his right leg broken by being hit by a sled while coasting in Fifth street, Braddock, late Saturday night.

Stole a Gold Watch—James Naughen, who refused to say where he lives, was arrested by Officer Mathew Carroll at First avenue and Ferry street yesterday afternoon on complaint of P. J. Murphy of Bell street, Braddock. The latter said Naughen stole a gold watch, pair of gloves and two handkerchiefs from him at 30 Second avenue. The articles were found on the prisoner, and he was locked up in Central station.

Councilman Arrested—The Monongahela hotel, McKeesport, was raided yesterday afternoon by the police, and the proprietor, Councilman Frank Dietrich, and 32 visitors were arrested. Dietrich is in the McKeesport lockup charged with keeping a disorderly house and selling liquor on Sunday. Fourteen men were found in the hotel barroom drinking. Proprietor Dietrich is threatened with expulsion from council if he is convicted.

Presented a Ring—Sixty of the former co-workers of Perry D. Mackey, who until two weeks ago was one of the turn superintendents of the converting department of the Edgar Thomson steel works, met on Saturday evening at his home in Wallace avenue, Wilkinsburg, and presented Mr. Mackey with a splendid diamond ring, valued at about $200. The gift came from the workmen. Mr. Mackey has taken the position of manager of the converting mills of the Republic Iron and Steel Company at Youngstown, O., and will move his family there this week.

Last Meeting Held—The Rev. S. Edward Young concluded his remarkable series of public sermons yesterday afternoon in the Bijou theater. Mr. Young advised the young men to attend the Y. M. C. A. during his absence. Prof. John S. Duss, whose band has been a feature of these meetings, was presented with a beautiful white and gold baton as a token of appreciation. Mr. Duss was likewise presented with a handsome edition of the Holy Bible. Mr. Young preaches his last sermon next Sunday in his own church before leaving for the holy land.

Appointed Organizer—Frank E. Smith, who closed a successful year as secretary of the Building Trades Council last week, has been recognized by his organization, the painters, by the appointment as general organizer with headquarters in Pittsburgh. Thomas Mitchell, business agent of the Pittsburgh district organization, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers, has been appointed deputy state organizer for the Western Pennsylvania district. On account of his appointment, Mr. Smith declined to stand for re-election as secretary of the Building Trades Council.

Deaths in City Home—Two deaths were reported to the Allegheny bureau of charities yesterday from the city home at Claremont. John Cummings, aged about 90 years, died at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. He was an old resident of Allegheny and for many years had a stand in the Allegheny market. He was sent to the home six years ago, having become too feeble to take care of himself. James Nicholason died in the insane department yesterday afternoon at 3 o'cock. Nicholason was a switchman and became insane about a year ago. He leaves a wife and child.

MORE HOPE FOR PITTSBURGHERS AT INDIANAPOLIS

WANT IOWA ADMITTED

Delegate Rees Has Framed Up a Resolution to the Effect That, if This Is Not Done, the Coming Conference Shall Adjourn Sine Die.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Jan. 26.—The committee composed of President Mitchell and District Presidents Duffy, Nichols and Fahey appointed by the anthracite miners at their conference Saturday to draw up a resolution in their behalf to be offered to the miners' convention met yesterday and practically completed its work. While the resolution will not be made public until it is introduced, it is understood that it demands the recognition of the union by the anthracite operators and that the latter meet the miners in joint conference to adopt a scale. The resolution binds the organization to use every peaceable means to enforce the demand.

The resolution will probably be introduced tomorrow and is expected to call forth a lively discussion. The convention may change or even refuse to adopt it, but as the anthracite delegates are the big power in the convention this is not likely.

Pittsburghers Hopeful.

The Pittsburgh delegates are hopeful today that the five delegates from that district, who have not been allowed to participate in the proceedings because the locals from which they hail are in arrears in dues to the national organization, will be seated. The Pittsburgh men have been talking the matter over with the other delegates and have convinced the leaders that the men are really entitled to seats. Several of the men who decide the affairs of the convention have agreed to bring the matter up before the convention again and move that the delegates be seated. The locals interested are located at Cuddy, Leechdale and Nixon, which have one delegate between them, two at McDonald and one at Sturgeon, all in Pennsylvania.

Want Iowa Admitted.

The resolution offered by Delegate Rees of Iowa to admit that state to the joint conference in 1903 will probably come up for discussion tomorrow. It is believed that the Pennsylvania delegation will oppose the resolution as it stands. The measure provides that in case the operators will not agree to admit Iowa and other states to the joint conference next year the coming conference shall adjourn without fixing a time or place for the next meeting.

The Pennsylvania miners are willing to make a strong effort to induce the operators to admit the other states sending delegates to the convention to future joint conferences, but believe the Rees resolution is too strong. They are opposed to any step that may jeopardize the interstate agreement and they regard the resolution as of such a nature.

Run of Mine Scale Basis.

The Illinois miners met today in regard to the scale. An executive session was held, but it is understood it was agreed to stand for a straight run-of-mine basis for all the states. This demand will be offered to the scale committee for its consideration. The latter committee did not meet today, as several of the members, living near Indianapolis, had gone home over Sunday. It will probably not be ready to report before Tuesday.

The question of the run-of-mine basis promises to be one of the most important questions that will come up for consideration this week. The Illinois delegates will probably put up a fight to have this system adopted generally. Delegates from other states would all like to favor the same method if it can be secured. The great objection to putting it arbitrarily in the scale is that the operators will never consent to the method and that the only way it can be enforced is through a strike.

Real Estate Men Who Expect to Secure Big Prices for Property Wanted for Terminal Purposes in New York May Be Disappointed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26.—Samuel Rea, fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, who will have direct executive charge of the construction of the extensive New York tunnel for that company under the two rivers and Manhattan island, today in discussing the reports that the company would be forced to pay exorbitant prices for property in New York for terminal purposes because speculators have obtained possession of much of the property needed, said:

"When the Pennsylvania railroad first began to purchase property in New York for terminal purposes and before it was known what the purpose of these purchases was or who the real purchasers were, certain real estate speculators, observing the activity in real estate in the vicinity of the proposed terminal, bought up certain properties and secured options on others in advance of the company's representatives. When it was finally announced that the Pennsylvania railroad proposed to tunnel under the two rivers and Manhattan island, together with the location of the terminal station these speculators at once placed a prohibitive value upon the property secured by them. Being unable to come to terms with them as to price there is nothing left to do but to secure it under condemnation proceedings, which will be instituted at the proper time.

"In the purchase of the property by the speculators the price paid by them was generally in excess of that paid for surrounding and adjoining property secured by the company and which under such proceedings will form largely the basis of value for the property yet to be obtained, some of which is held by the speculators. On that basis these speculators are likely to be awarded less for the properties held by them than they paid for them."

The company, Mr. Rea continued, would not in any way be handicapped, or delayed in the proposed work; that even were it necessary to resort to condemnation proceedings to secure all the property necessary for terminal purposes there was plenty of work in connection with the immediate project which could and would be carried on independent of the terminal to give ample time to clear up such proceedings should they become necessary.

W. H. Brown, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad, today emphatically denied the published story that the Pennsylvania railroad was about to establish a line of steamers from Montauk Point, L. I., to Milford Haven, England. The story said that the company intended running its trains through the proposed tunnel at New York and across Long Island to Montauk Point.

WILLIAM C. NEVIN DEAD.

Well-Known General Manager of Santa Fe Lines Expires.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Jan. 26.—William C. Nevin, general manager of the Santa Fe lines west of Alburquerque died suddenly today at his home in this city of paralysis of the heart, aged 47 years.

Mr. Nevin retired at an early hour Saturday evening in the best of spirits. This morning he awoke early and was about to rise when, with a scarcely audible articulation, he turned over on his side apparently dead. Mrs. Nevin rushed to his side and found him still breathing, but in a comatose state. Before the arrival of a physician Mr. Nevin died without regaining consciousness.

One year ago Mr. Nevin partially lost the use of his right arm and it was found that he was suffering from what is known as "creeping paralysis." He secured a six-months' leave of absence and took a trip to the east, visiting Boston, New York and Philadelphia. While in the east he consulted a number of eminent physicians and tried various methods of treatment. After an absence of three months he returned to Los Angeles greatly improved in health. Mr. Nevin was born in Philadelphia. He leaves a wife and two children.

One Pound From 14,000 Cattle.

Adrenalin, the newly discovered active principle of the suprarenal glands, will not become a common drug. Every pound made requires the glands of 14,000 cattle, each single gland weighing but two-fifths of an ounce and yielding but a quarter of a grain of adrenalin. The new product has promised much as astringent, opium antidote, etc.

Tea in Pills.

The tea-pills—14 to the ounce—of a Caucasus grower are simply compressed tea in a convenient form for travelers.

The discomforts of influenza, the danger from Grip, and kindred disorders, can be modified and cured—perhaps altogether prevented—by a prompt resort to Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant.

TROUBLE IN THE PHILIPPINES ENDED

TAFT SAYS THAT FACTS SHOW GREAT PROGRESS.

Many Former Insurgents Are Taking Up American Ideas and Are Now Giving the Government Valuable Assistance in Many Ways—Education Encouraged.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—William H. Taft, civil governor of the Philippine Islands, arrived in Chicago this afternoon from San Francisco. He was met at the depot by President S. M. Felton of the Chicago & Alton Railroad Company and went at once to Mr. Felton's residence, where he spent the day.

In an interview Mr. Taft said:

Revolution at an End.

"The only answer I have to make to the ideas of individual observers, who declare that the true condition in the Philippines is being concealed, or that we are hugging delusions of peace that can never be brought about, is that the government is concealing nothing, and that its conclusions are not based on wild theories, but substantial facts."

This was the reply Gov. Taft made to a statement published by Stephen Bonsal declaring that desperate opposition was still being encountered in the field and that the natives are irreconcilable and better organized than before the capture of Aguinaldo.

Sensationalists to Blame.

"As a matter of fact," he added, "the embers of distrust are being kept alive by sensationalists, who seize on every petty point and neck to twist it into some horrible barbarity of our government in the Islands. Take, for instance, the talk about concentration camps. Although I am not sufficiently well acquainted with the full military plans to speak with absolute authority, I can say that the whole subject is much misunderstood by our people.

"As a matter of fact there has never been any thought of establishing 'concentration camps' in the ordinary acceptation of the term. All that has been proposed is an insurgent cordon, the establishment of a dead line into which will gradually be drawn all the remnants of insurrection that exist.

Non-Combatants Treated Kindly.

"The non-combatants on the islands have never, even at the hardest period of the war, received anything but the utmost kindness and consideration at our hands, and it is hardly probable that this policy will be reversed now that the opposition is fast drawing to a close.

"The government believes that the only existing opposition to the authorities is being fomented by the men who form the Hongkong junta, most of whom were formerly residents of the rich coffee growing province of Batangas. 'It is in this province,' he went on, 'that we are now meeting our only difficulty. My statements concerning the close of the rebellion are not 'optimistic' in the sense that they are overdrawn. They are based on nothing but plain facts.

Much Progress Made.

"The natives are rapidly developing an affection for our institutions, and a large number of former insurgents have become valuable members of the community, fully worthy of any trust that may be reposed in them. The coming elections will develop the real progress in this direction and I am certain that the result will be gratifying.

"The restrictions placed on the privilege of the ballot are principally of an educational character, a fact that will, of course, cut out numbers of Filipinos. But this is a condition that will be bettered rapidly. The progress of education is satisfactory and our policy in this direction is liberal.

Education Encouraged.

"No obstacle of any character is put in the way of the parish school; indeed it is now generally understood throughout the islands that the government will eagerly welcome the establishment of additional institutions of this character as long as they conform to the educational standard demanded in our public schools and instruct pupils in the English language. It is utterly immaterial to us what the character of the school is. All factors that will aid in the work of education are welcomed."

Gov. Taft refuses to discuss the future of Aguinaldo. He says that the deposed leader's fate is in the hands of the military branch of the service entirely and that the civil arm has the responsibility of neither his custody nor his behavior.

SIGHED FOR MORE CAKE.

PALM BEACH, FLA., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—A witty speech was made at the conclusion of the cakewalk at the Breakers by Joseph Jefferson last night. He was requested by Admiral Dewey to say something apropos of the occasion, when they, with Mr. Fred Townsend Martin, acted as judges. His remarks kept the audience in peals of laughter. Mr. Jefferson said:

"Ladies and Gentlemen—Although we have awarded the cake to couple No. 1 we cannot hope that none of you will disagree with us. In fact, we expect you will. But let me tell you something. I know you will be surprised, mortified and grieved to learn that the judges have been tampered with. Before dinner the admiral told me that he had been approached. Then Mr. Martin told me he had been approached. I do not know why they came and told me of this, for no matter how corruptible they may be I declare to you that I am absolutely incorruptible."

Here he struck an attitude of righteous indignation that brought down the house. "I have the courage of my convictions, and nothing could buy my honest opinion, unless it were a promise of at least half of the cake. However it is no mean honor to have a cake presented to you by so distinguished a gentleman as Admiral Dewey. (Cheers and long applause.)

"It is a good thing you are two Americans. If you had been Spaniards the admiral would have made you dance higher than you did tonight. Bear your honors with humility and do not eat all the cake at once. We are sorry there are not more cakes, not for ourselves, but to divide among your competitors."

A Universal Provider.

It says a good deal for the enterprise of Chinese tradesmen that they will seldom allow business to pass their doors. One shopkeeper exhibited a notice: "Have got everything," as if he were a fully equipped store. Taking him at his word a foreign officer stepped in and asked for "one peecee hyena." This was his little joke, for this animal was quite unknown in that part of the celestial land. But the tradesman rose to the occasion. "Me just now," he said, "no got peecee hyena, but in one weekee me one catchee."

BALLINGTON BOOTH HERE.

Leader of the Volunteers of America Spoke at Two Large Meetings.

Gen. Ballington Booth, president of the Volunteers of America, addressed two immense audiences yesterday, one in Carnegie hall at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and another in the Sixth United Presbyterian church, East End, at 7:45 last night. His address in both places was a resume of the work already accomplished by the Volunteers.

"As president of the Volunteers of America," he said, "it may not be out of place to relate briefly the work accomplished in the five years of its existence. The work was inaugurated March 5, 1896. There was but a small bank balance, consisting chiefly of a loan from several friends.

"Today the Volunteers lease and occupy a four-story building in Cooper square, New York city. This is used as national headquarters. We have nine regiments in the field under the command of six able and intelligent territorial and regimental officers and their wives.

"These embrace nine companies that have met the higher requirements before becoming chartered by the incorporation, and nearly 100 self-supporting posts throughout the country, likewise outposts. During the last fiscal year these societies raised $81,012 65 in support of their rents, officers and general work.

"Our philanthropic work embraces homes provided for indigent men and working men. Of the latter there are four. Last year 234,487 people were lodged, and in five restaurants 871,297 were fed. The Mercy branch is another wing of our philanthropic work. Here is provided a home for young women. In the homes of Newark, N. J., over 2,000 beds have been provided for homeless women.

"Our newest development is the tenement work. You all know what that means. The Volunteers reach even the prison cell. Mrs. Booth's latest report from this field sets forth that there are 18 leagues formed in 18 state prisons, embracing 12,000 prisoners. A correspondence for the moral elevation of 19,000 men is carried on."

My Lungs

Perhaps they are sore and weak from constant coughing. How is this? Have you forgotten about the cough medicine your grandmother gave you fifty years ago,—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral? Ask your doctor how many years he has prescribed it.

"An eminent physician told me I certainly had consumption. I took Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and it completely cured me."

Isthmian Canal and Pittsburgh.

At one comprehensive glance may be seen the importance of an isthmian canal to Pittsburgh and the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, as diagramed on the map that appears in this issue of The Gazette in connection with an article detailing the value of this great scheme of water transportation. The isthmian canal will bring Pittsburgh into closer touch with the orient, with Hawaii and with the cities of our own Pacific coast and the Pacific coast of Central and South America. The orient includes our own Philippine islands and the islands of Japan, besides the gradually awakening continent of Asia. It is a great market now; it is a growing market, and by the time the canal is ready for business it will be a rich field for Pittsburgh enterprise. The canal is as yet born only in the minds of men. There has not even been legislation authorizing it. The particular route has not yet been chosen and a contest concerning it threatens to be protracted in congress. But public sentiment demands it, and we are hopeful that before the present session of congress adjourns all differences and difficulties will have been smoothed out and the nation seriously committed to the practical work of the great enterprise. Pittsburgh should use every endeavor to that end. Work once started on the canal there will be then, more than ever, need for the people of this district to impress on congress the necessity for improving our local waterways to make them available for navigation the year round. After the present congress adjourns Allegheny county will have four congressmen of her own to press for the desired results, and they will have the earnest co-operation of the congressmen and people of all the tributary territory.

Admiral Schley's Good Sense.

Admiral Schley's very positive utterances in Chicago last week with reference to his future career do that gallant officer eminent credit. It has been feared for some time that the friends of the admiral were doing him a bad service in much that has been brought forward as a defense against alleged injustice of the naval bureau of navigation and the subsequent action of the majority of the board of inquiry. In no particular, however, was this too zealous friendship calculated to do its object more serious injury than in the effort to make political capital out of the errors or mistakes of the navy department. As the case stood before and even after the board of inquiry rendered its decision Admiral Schley was really uninjured in the public esteem. Despite the controversy that arose over the honors for the American victory at Santiago the masses of the people were satisfied that Schley was the real hero and no amount of technical reasoning based upon personal prejudice could alter that conviction. The subsequent course of his friends, however, has threatened to detract somewhat from the patience of the public. The appeal to the president from the decision of the naval board and more recently the dramatic attempt of Senator Mason to have congress pass a vote of thanks to the "commander of the American fleet at Santiago" have been injudicious acts, not calculated to strengthen public respect for the wisdom of the Schley adherents. On top of all these occurrences and, indeed, using them as a sort of hoisting power it has been sought to place the admiral in the position of a political aspirant. We are glad to know that the sturdy old naval commander is wise enough to put the mark of his own disapproval upon these well meant but mistaken efforts of his friends.

Admiral Schley is happy in the love and esteem of his American fellow citizens because of his bravery and efficiency in the service of his country. Now that he has signified his content with these honors, and they are greater than any that could come to him as a mere political seeker for office, his friends should have the good sense to respect his wishes and let the case rest where it is.

The Cost of Filtration.

Some interesting comparisons are made this morning of the relative cost of mechanical and sand filtration. Since it has been revealed that to the original estimates for the sand filtration system decided on for this city there must be added the cost of houses to completely cover the acres of filtration beds to prevent freezing in winter and the consequent paralysis of the whole system, there has been much quiet thought and patient investigation of the whole subject. Before the final step is taken that will commit the city to the vast expense involved in the present scheme there should be further study of the matter and the result laid before the taxpayers. There can be no doubt that the present city administration, in the event that it can obtain a working majority in the councils to be elected in February, will endeavor to force another bond issue to cover several million dollars more of contemplated cost of filtration for the benefit of the favored few and without adequate return to the people who must pay the bills. It is a case, evidently, where haste will make waste. The Gazette favors heartily all improvements intelligently made for the benefit of the people. Our water filtration system should be for the benefit of the people and altogether free from the suspicion that it is for the benefit primarily of the contractors.

Booth vs. Flinn.

The statements made this morning by James J. Booth are an indication of the warmth of the contest for councils in the Fourteenth ward and the strenuousness of Flinn's efforts to keep his grip. While it is evident much personal feeling enters into the differences between Booth and Flinn, it is no less evident that it all grows out of questions of grave concern to the taxpayers. The subject matter of the differences is, therefore, of real public interest. The senator's former business partner may be assumed to know him and his aims and methods as well as does any person in Pittsburgh, and if he condemns him in his relations with the public there will be a general disposition to accept his estimate at something like face value. Senator Flinn, it is true, is not running for council in the Fourteenth ward, or any other ward, in his proper person. But he is running by proxy in practically every ward in the city, and what Mr. Booth has to say has a bearing on every ward contest. It is Mr. Flinn's intention to control, if possible, the next councils, as he controls the present bodies, and Mr. Booth has made it plain that he will not be dictated to. That is the situation in a nutshell. Flinn wants councilmen who will take orders from him regardless of their constituents' interests and the interests of the whole body of taxpayers. When one who was so closely associated with him rises to condemn him the things said constitute a formidable bill of indictment against the movement, of which he is the inspiration.

Mr. Booth, it is worthy of note, comes out squarely in favor of making the traction companies assume their proper share of the public burdens. We commend this attitude to the careful attention of other candidates for councils. His estimate that the franchises given the street railways for nothing are valued by them in their schedule of assets at $15,500,000 is some indication of the private view of the managers of these corporations as to the portion of the common burden they should properly bear. We have heard nothing from Mr. Flinn or any of his candidates on this important subject.

The Ship Combine.

Rumors have been in circulation intermittently for many months that a gigantic combination of the Atlantic passenger and freight carrying lines of steamers has been in progress. J. Pierpont Morgan, it was specifically assumed or definitely stated, was the organizing genius of the amalgamation. No scheme of this kind can be considered apart from Mr Morgan in the public estimation. He is to the financial affairs of the world what the head of King Charles was to Mr. Dick's historical speculations, inalienable as the predominating factor.

Investigation in London, Liverpool and New York fails to substantiate the actual existence of a scheme to consolidate the great oceanic steamship companies plying between the British Islands and America. There would not be anything very surprising in its consummation if it actually took place. Rather the contrary. The amount of capital invested in the transatlantic carrying trade is enormous, but its earning power falls remarkably short of its magnitude. Intense competition has reduced passage and freight rates to a very small margin over expenses, and a modest interest on investments. One of the oldest and safest lines crossing the Atlantic pays only a beggarly 2 per cent dividend annually, and would have hardly earned that were it not for the subsidy which it receives from the British government, its ships forming a part of the naval reserve fleet.

An Appropriate Appointment.

It is to be admitted that the sending of American representatives to foreign functions is a wise and excellent procedure then must President Roosevelt be credited with displaying excellent judgment in the nominations he has made for such positions. This wisdom is in no case more evident than in the selection of the Hon. J. L. M. Curry to be special representative from this country to attend the celebration of the 16th birthday of King Alfonso XIII. of Spain on May 17 next. Dr. Curry is not only a gentleman of broad culture and long experience as a diplomat, but his acquaintance at the Spanish court and his deserved popularity among the Spanish people peculiarly fit him for this mission. Dr. Curry was minister to Spain during the Cleveland administration, and arrived at his post on the very day that King Alfonso XII. died. He was present at the birth of the posthumous heir of the dead king, in accordance with a custom at the Spanish court which assembles the diplomats and members of court to be present at the birth of a royal heir. Dr. Curry was also present when the queen assumed the regency and was intimately associated with the court officials of that day.

It is a singularly appropriate and happy executive act that sends this courtly old Virginian as the United States representative at the ceremonies attending the young king's birthday anniversary.

Our Impartial Hospitality.

If there be any little side schemes of diplomacy by which the visit of Prince Henry of Prussia is to be used for the purpose of stirring up the British lion the American public is certainly not party to them. There is no reason why England should want to interfere with the pleasure of the visit to America of the kaiser's brother, who is nephew of the king of England. This country is entirely free from the small jealousies and the intrigue characteristic of European court affairs and would welcome with as much unaffected pleasure and cordiality a royal visitor of good standing from Russia or England as it is prepared to extend to Prince Henry. As to showing favoritism for Germany over England we do not believe there is the slightest disposition of the American government to have its courtesy so regarded. We have welcome for all and malice toward none, and are friends to all who would be friendly.

Doubtless Germany feels that Mr. Poultney Bigelow is a very fussy and disagreeable person.

Mr. Bryan's continued reminders to Perry Belmont of the latter's defeat in New York are very thoughtless. Mr. Bryan has bumped into a few defeats himself.

Of course, in the Indian barber shops there will be here and there a customer who will refuse to get next.

A number of letters directed to President Roosevelt at Washington, Pa., have at last reached their owner. Office applicants are not usually so absent minded.

They are giving President Schwab a regular Prince Henry of a time of it in Europe.

The author of "Ships That Pass in the Night" has gone into politics. Being a woman there is reason to assume that storms at sea will be the frequent result.

The South African trade has brought about a horse famine in Montana. It is stated, however, on good authority that there are still a few thousand mules in Missouri.

It is sincerely hoped that St. Louis will get through quaking before she opens her world's fair.

The gentlemen who lost the prize in the New Jersey senatorial contest are finding it quite hard to look pleasant and say nothing.

THE TEA OF PARAGUAY.

It Enables Natives to Live for Days Without Other Food.

Mate, or Paraguay tea, which is the favorite beverage among a population of some 20,000,000, grows wild in the woods of the southern half of South America. For many years its cultivation was a lost art. Although large plantations were planted by Jesuit missionaries more than a century ago, later attempts to raise the plant were fruitless. Not until recently have new plantations been established in Paraguay. The secret of cultivation, it is alleged, is that the seeds will not germinate until treated with a potassium salt.

The leaves are usually prepared for market by roasting over a brushwood fire, grinding to powder and ramming into rawhide bags, but the dried leaves are sometimes merely broken. With a liberal supply of mate, native Paraguayans are said to do hard work for days at a time with scarcely any food.

NEW YORKERS WANT FIFTH AVENUE WIDENED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Jan. 26.

Fifth avenue should be wider. Spasmodic effort to get at least 30 feet added to its present cross space has been made without avail for the last decade. Inconvenience of the present comparatively narrow thoroughfare is never brought home to the people with greater force than on a fine winter Sunday morning, when thousands of persons walk to church in the sunshine and like to be allowed to enjoy their promenade without jostling. There is not room enough to do that at present. The street was originally 100 feet wide. Sixty feet of this was used for the roadway, allowing a 20-foot sidewalk on either side of the street. This was more than half a century ago. Then the city fathers, in the days of our grandfathers, determined that so much room was not needed, and as some of the residents of Fifth avenue were desirous of having permission to build their area railings and other adjuncts of their brownstone mansions on the sidewalk, the available use of the street was cut down to 70 feet, with 40 feet in the roadway and 15 feet for each sidewalk. The city has grown to enormous population since that time, and John D. Crimmins is agitating the cutting away of area railings and stoops from the sidewalks and giving a clear 100 feet from house-to-house line. Fifth avenue has always been a bone of contention with New Yorkers. Persons living or doing business along this artery have a feeling that they own the sidewalk and roadway as well as the buildings, and they resent any attempt to make them stand back. The tendency of to-day to see that the ordinary people in this city get their rights, and the chances are that Fifth avenue will be widened by the removing of incumbrances. The church parade must have room to conduct itself with due ceremony and dignity, to say nothing of the continual procession of carriages, cabs, wagons and automobiles which makes the avenue the most generally used street in New York city six days in the week, if not seven. One of the institutions that the New Yorker insists as his very own is his Fifth avenue, and he wants it to the full extent, particularly on a fine Sunday.

Landmarks Threatened.

The agitation to remove building extensions may have some curious consequences. The department of public works has the backing of the corporation counsel, George L. Rives, and is determined to sweep away some of the familiar features of uptown life. Thus, the dining room of the Pabst restaurant at Forty-second street and Broadway, which is built over the sidewalk, is threatened, and it is even said that the great glass portico of the Waldorf-Astoria, in Thirty-fourth street, might have to come down. This last suggestion is appalling. The Waldorf-Astoria Thirty-fourth street front without its glass awnings, carriage entrances and massive ornamentation generally would be like a man in evening dress without a shirt front, collar or necktie. There is no question that many of the porticos upon are threatened, but it seems as if it would be sacrilege to take away the Waldorf-Astoria covered ways. This is the feeling in the hotel, and it is shared by many people to whom the Waldorf's magnificence, outside and in, has become a tradition. It is not yet established that the building department can go ramping through the district, tearing down extensions and portico at pleasure, and there may be some more fighting in the courts before actual destruction begins.

Dryden Not a Leader.

New Jersey politics are of more or less interest to all New Yorkers. Since the death of Senator Sewell four weeks ago the question of Republican leadership in the state has been of constant discussion. The election of Dryden to the senatorship will not give him the leadership. He will not inherit that position from the distinguished statesman whose seat he takes. He is not a politician in any sense of the word, and cares nothing about holding the reins of power over his fellow Republicans. John Kean is the man who will actually direct Republican movements in New Jersey. I give this as the current gossip across the North river. I believe it is based on sound foundation.

"Pelleas and Melisande."

Mrs. Patrick Campbell enters on her last week at the Theater Republic tomorrow evening. The principal feature of the week will be the first production in America of Maurice Maeterlinck's tragic romance in five acts entitled "Pelleas and Melisande." It has been translated into English by J. W. Mackay and special music has been composed by Gabriel Faure. The Maeterlinck drama will be the bill at the two special matinees to be given at the Victoria theater on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. The complete repertoire for the last week is as follows: Monday and Tuesday evenings and Saturday matinee, "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray;" Wednesday and Thursday evenings, "The Notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith;" Friday evening, "Mariana;" Saturday evening, "Beyond Human Power."

Before the Footlights.

There will be a number of changes at the theaters this week. Among Monday's openings are these: Eljou, Amelia Bingham company in "Lady Margaret;" Herald Square, Lulu Glaser in "Dolly Varden;" Garden, the Bostonians in "Maid Marian;" Fourteenth Street, Chauncey Olcott in "Garrett O'Magh." For Tuesday night there will be, at the Manhattan, Frank Keenan in "The Hon. John Grigsby," and for Thursday, according to present promises, "The Hall of Fame" at the New York. These are the attractions that ended their New York runs last night: May Irwin, Richard Mansfield, Mrs. Fiske, Virginia Harned and "Up York State," "Florodora" has gone away from New York, but another company to present the comedy will begin operations in the winter garden on the roof, displacing "The Supper Club."

Willie's Father Strong.

The father of Willie Hoppe, the boy champion billiard player, is often seen in the billiard rooms along Broadway. He is a quiet, unassuming man, with the frozen face of the billiard expert, and long fingers. He is generally willing to play pool or billiards with any stranger and if Hoppe has not scared him out of his game merely by the superior manner in which he chalks his cue before they have even "banked" for a start, you may be sure that the stranger has cast-iron nerves and plays mighty good billiards. Hoppe was approached by a young man last night who asked him if he would play a game of pool. "Don't care if I do," was Hoppe's careless response, and he took down a cue. After he had beaten the young man three games, each time by the exasperating advantage of one ball, the defeated one, with a strained smile, remarked: "Guess you are too strong for me. What is your name?" "Hoppe." "What? Any relation to that boy wonder, Willie Hoppe?" "Father." "Great Scott! the man that taught the kid to do up any one along Broadway on a billiard or pool table, and I thought you were from the woods." "So I am," answered Hoppe. "I am growing billiard players out there. I have a boy that I think will beat Willie in the course of a few months. But he is in the woods, learning, among other things, that you cannot tell a pool or billiard player's strength till you have seen him play. Catch the point?" Judging by the way the young man groaned most likely he did.

Fitz and the Game.

Robert Fitzsimmons is fond of billiards and plays a fair game. He takes on any one that offers, and although he often loses, he is never piqued by it apparently. He sometimes makes a good deal of noise over his game by hammering his cue upon the floor and laughing boisterously, but that is an idiosyncrasy to be noticed in many billiardists of less eminence than the jubilant Fitz. He was in a Broadway billiard room an afternoon or two ago giving a very good account of himself on the green cloth and did not show that he was at all the worse for his tumble down a flight of 20 steps in the Orpheum in Brooklyn the other day. It is not often that Fitzsimmons is to be seen in a billiard room or any other public place in the evening. He is a domestic man, and after dark he is generally in his own home with Mrs. Fitzsimmons and the little ones.

Side Doors Open.

This was a side-door Sunday. The outward indications were that there was no intoxicating liquor sold anywhere except in genuine hotels where regular meals were served, with wines and liquors as accompaniments. But the thirsty one who who did not care for water could get something stronger in any part of Manhattan if he had the money with which to pay for it. He just tapped at the little side door. Figuratively he tapped, that is, for all he had to do was to push the door open and, after traversing a small hall, pushed another door and found himself in the old familiar back room, with a sandwich in the middle of each table, and surly waiters to take his order. Then he knew that the threatened dryness had not sunk in far. Police Commissioner Partridge is enforcing the excise law as well as he can, but he knows, as does Mayor Low, Dr. Parkhurst and everyone else who has given the matter thought, that the easiest and most effective way to enforce the liquor law on Sunday is to do it judiciously and not too radically.

Prince's Troubles Coming.

Preparations for the reception of Prince Henry waxes warmer as time goes on. The German societies of New York met tonight at Terrace garden and have pretty well come to an understanding as to the methods they will employ jointly to prove to the kaiser's brother that he is heartily welcomed here. Of course, the comical board of aldermen has fallen foul of itself. There will be a committee of the board to welcome his highness, and President Fornes has become the subject of much abuse because he could not include the whole membership. It was said at first that such good Germans as Foley, Sullivan, Gaffney and McCall were to be on the committee. These were the gentlemen picked out by the Tammany element of the board. Then President Fornes became a little doubtful as to the Teutonic flavor of this list and he determined to revise it. He said he must have all real Germans on the committee and the Prussians from Cork, Kerry and Tipperary are all mad about it. There is a possibility that the board of aldermen welcoming committee may resolve itself into a burly-burly of struggling nationalities when the prince comes. It would give him a faithful impression of one phase of New York municipal government, at all events.

Goodwin on Acting.

Nat Goodwin is quoted as having said yesterday that he would rather make an audience laugh than cry. He asserted that in a tragic role half the work of the actor is done for him, because the situation itself appeals. "You can look and listen. Independently of the art of the actor. The author may write a funny speech or devise a comical situation, but it depends upon the player to give the speech or devise a comical situation, but win said, at the end of his little discourse, that he expects to put on a "creepy" play next season, but that was because really good comedies were so hard to find. By the way, the report that Nat Goodwin and Maxine Elliott will star separately next season seems to be determined on beyond peradventure.

Goff's White Hair.

Recorder Goff has snow-white hair and beard. He is a distinguished looking man and the color of his hair adds to his striking appearance. It will be remembered that J. W. Goff was a prominent man in the Lexow investigation, conducting the inquiry, in fact. That was only a few years ago. But his hair was dark at that time. The explanation of his white hair is thus given, and it may be true for anything I know: Four or five years ago a little daughter of the recorder died in his arms. He grieved very much and was stricken with the same disease that killed the child, which he caught as the dying girl kissed him. When the recorder recovered from his illness he had white hair and it has remained so to this day.

New Punch Recipe.

The Hohenzollern "punch" has been invented by a popular Broadway bartender. Here is the formula as it was given on excellent authority: In a large bowl mix one quart of St. Croix rum, four quarts of brandy, six bottles of Rhine wine, half pint maraschino, half pint curacoa, half pint chartreuse (yellow), one quart of sherry wine, one quart of sauterne, two quarts of moselle, one quart of port, two bottles of chambertin. Mix thoroughly and add some sliced fruit, namely, pineapple, oranges and preserved cherries, and one large piece of ice. When all is ready pour into same six bottles of extra dry champagne and serve to 24 persons. Take the whites of two dozen eggs, well beaten, and put on top, with German and American flags at the sides and name Hohenzollern in the middle in all colors.

STILL IMPROVING.

The Issue of The Sunday Gazette Yesterday Was in Every Respect a First Class Newspaper.

All things considered yesterday's Sunday Gazette was the most interesting edition yet issued. It is no small issue for a Sunday paper of a few months' standing to make the assertion that it has reached the top notch of Sunday journalism, but those who read yesterday's paper will say as much.

It was an edition that was the essence of the very best things to be had in both the news and literary world. Then, too, every article of moment was placed before the reader in such a manner that its message was clear. Yesterday's Gazette, in a word, was an intellectual feast, with each part of the menu served in proper order and good taste.

Let the reader look at his Sunday Gazette again today and observe the articles and the manner in which to use a typographical phrase, they are "made up." The news pages will bear any test.

Read the Editorials.

Take up any of yesterday's papers published in this city. Make a comparison of the news. Observe the value placed on news that is of world-interest. Look again at news of local interest and general happenings considered readable, and better told in a few lines than in a column.

The editorial page of a daily paper of import should always be read. The editorial page of The Gazette is second to none. Here are given The Gazette's opinions on the great incidents holding the attention of the world. No topic of interest is missed, from the local political issues to the more thoughtful and scholarly opinions on great religious questions of the day.

The magazine section of yesterday's issue contained so many rare bits of profitable reading that one is at a loss to know what to select as examples. "The Crucible of Nations," by that remarkable journalist, William T. Stead, was undoubtedly the interesting feature among yesterday's special articles. It is a thoughtful article on a question which has been better solved by the American nation than by any nation the world over.

The Carnegie of Germany.

From Germany The Gazette's correspondent sent the life-story of a man who is recognized as the Carnegie of the German empire—Friedrich Krupp. Col. A. K. McClure has rarely been more entertaining than in his latest "reminiscence" on "Frontier Travel." His descriptive story of staging along the Pacific coast is a rare bit of artistic work.

The London and Paris correspondents both have very latest gossip of these two interesting capitals. A delightful bit of reading was "A Pittsburgh Girl's Romance in Sunny Italy." This is not fiction but fact.

Of local interest Alexander Cott's "Romance of the Coke Ovens" was a readable and entertaining article. Mr. Cott tells some very clever stories for The Gazette.

The literary, religious and dramatic pages teemed with entertaining reading. The woman's page and children's page sustained the same interest that has marked them since the first issue of The Sunday Gazette.

If the reader was quite busy yesterday, let him take up The Sunday Gazette today, peruse it, compare it with the other Sunday papers and then tell your neighbor your honest opinion of yesterday's issue.

Mr. Carnegie's Own Library.

From the Chicago Tribune.

Up to the present time Mr. Andrew Carnegie has established 177 libraries in this country at a total cost of $47,804,000. He has now stepped his generous work long enough to arrange for a library of his own at his residence, Skibo Castle, the total number of volumes being 8,000, and the immediate outlay $50,000. The professor of history at Oxford is to select the books for him, but Mr. Carnegie has indicated the classes of books he would like to see on the shelves. They are of interest as showing the literary taste of the great library founder, and include 100 volumes of speeches, and sets of the lives of players, painters and men of letters. In other words, orations and biographies seem to be his favorites. He is interested in the lives of real men rather than the adventures of imaginary persons, the accomplishments of science or the speculations of philosophy. This goes to show that he is a practical literary man himself.

Making Bogus Meteorites.

In the eager collection of meteorites, stones most of celestial origin are brought forward in great numbers. Not long ago some Corsicans were convicted of forging meteorites by coating cobbles and serpentines with sulphur and lampblack. The famous meteorite of Ischut has been proved to be fortunes' slag. A three-pound iron, made up of pegmatite, described by Schwendfurth, who supposed it a meteorite from the Libyan desert.

A Look Ahead.

"Well, Charley, has your wedding day been set?"

"Yes, old chap. I had my fiancee agree to be married on her birthday."

"That does have a little romantic flavor."

"That wasn't the idea, you see. I was thinking that one present would answer for both anniversaries."

A Peace Offering.

"Johnny," said the teacher to one of her small pupils, "you were late this morning and you were late yesterday morning. Now, if you are late again you must bring a note. Will you remember that, Johnny?"

Johnny said he would and departed.

He was late again next morning, and the teacher said, severely:

"Johnny, you're late!"

"Yessum."

"I told you to bring a note. Have you brought one?"

"Yessum," said Johnny.

And he walked up to the teacher's desk and handed her a Gazette ballot for the European tour, inclosing in the 25 most popular travelers. Young observer of the mild that if this did not satisfy her she was exceedingly hard to please.

POINT BREEZE.

What the Editors Are Discussing

PICKED UP HERE AND THERE.

Eggs are now 35 cents a dozen and are almost as scarce as the proverbial hens' teeth.—Johnstown Democrat.

It is said that one of the school teachers in town the other day asked her pupils to write a long sentence, and one of the boys nearly caused her to faint when he wrote "Imprisonment for life."—New Brighton News.

Mack Maloney, the shoemaker, has captured a raccoon that possesses the temper of a wildcat. It has whipped half of the dogs in Brilliant and as readily attacks a man. Mack wants to match it against any dog in Jefferson county.—Steubenville Herald-Star.

One of the evidences of approaching spring was the appearance of Rev. E. H. Dickinson on the street last Monday wearing a straw hat.—Ligonier Echo.

The local sign painter who expects to catch Germans by advertising "krout" spelled like that and ic sell great stacks of shirts and drawers by advertising "underwars" so that it suggests crockery, ought to brush up a little on his orthography.—Morgantown Post.

The country correspondent, celebrated in ancient and modern lore, sometimes gets indignant when somebody in a newspaper office has a bit of fun at his expense. But he shouldn't. For the experience always does him good. For instance, the writer of the following gem, which arrived at the News-Democrat office yesterday from a rural town, ought to take warning and not do it again. The gem reads: "A small boy belonging to Alfred James had a narrow escape from death recently by being almost run down by a locomotive. He stopped from the track just in time to avoid being crushed to death by the grim monster. No blame rests on the engineer." Since the boy escaped, one naturally wonders what blame could rest on the engineer.—Canton News-Democrat.

Last night at a late hour while the editor was engaged in the indicting of a profound essay or editorial upon the causes and prevention of hollow horn in tomcats, he was interrupted by a burst of music coming from the lower hall. There was volume enough for an orchestra of humpsteen pieces, accompanied by a steam calliope of 16-horse power, or a brass band being overhed by a gas engine. It was good music, too, and the program varied from ragtime to music of Wagnerian order so quick that whoever was responsible was one of these musical geniuses that is equally proficient or a dogpoon or self-threading grand piano. An investigation showed that one performer was doing it all. The band was made up of William Newman, guitar; William Newman, harmonica; William Newman, cymbals; William Newman, director. It was really wonderful to see and hear how William tore the music out of these musical "instincts." He was a screaming success after and was surprising him with music by the gross ton, the bushel, the cubic yard—by yardes and acres and gallons and every other way. He kept it up for half an hour or more and it must be confessed that to listen to him was a treat. Whenever you want music in wholesale lots ring up Billy Newman.—Blairsville Courier.

THE STATE PRESS.

Some people feel very tender about a trolley line being given place on the streets. Those precious streets! How would it do to put them in glass cases, and bedeck them with a few bows of ribbon!—West Newton Times.

The appointment of Mr. A. L. McKibben of Raccoon township to the state board of agriculture, will certainly meet the approval of all those who hope to see the farming interests in this county advanced.—Beaver Falls Review.

If the Republicans of the great state of Pennsylvania favor ripper legislation—if they wish to perpetuate the present system of organized political plunder, they should take off their hats and hurrah for Elkin. He would, undoubtedly make fully as good a governor as Stone.—Oil City Blizzard.

Seventeen inches of snow fell in Buffalo and vicinity since noon Tuesday. The storm at Niagara Falls was the heaviest in years and railroads and trolley lines were badly blocked. The snowfall at Jamestown, N. Y., Warren, Pa., and other points was also very heavy.—Crawford Journal.

A McKeesport want which ought to be supplied is a storage warehouse. A prominent wholesaler says he has applications almost daily for space in his building and he asserts he could fill his three-story building with goods in storage. He opined that there is a splendid opening here for such a building.—McKeesport Times.

There are reports all over the county that Greenville is all torn up over the postoffice appointment and other things political. There is no truth in these reports. It is true there are a few candidates willing and want the postoffice. They have made a clean, modest effort, to advance their respective interests, and that is all.—Advance Argus.

The fight of the West Penn telephone company for a franchise to do business in Washington has at last been won. The borough council on Thursday night passed an ordinance granting the company the privilege of erecting poles and stringing wires in the borough, and for this grant the company is to pay the borough $500.—Washington Observer.

The date for the Republican state convention is not yet settled, but it will very likely be May 28, or near to that time. Somerset county is entitled to three delegates, Fayette county, five, Greene, one, which are the counties in the new congressional district, and Bedford two, Fulton, one, in the senatorial district. This representation is based on the vote cast for McKinley and Roosevelt.—Meyersdale Commercial.

The proposed law by the legislature of the state of New York fixing the legal rate of interest at 5 per cent instead of 6 per cent is a good move and might be emulated with profit by the legislatures of other states. While of course 5 per cent is not as good for the lender it is much better for the borrower, and is as much as the ordinary business man can afford to pay for the use of money invested in business, and it is a well-known fact that in the majority of the cities of the United States, money invested in real estate does not pay even 5 per cent.—McKeesport News.

FLOGGING IN THE NAVY.

Credit for Its Abolition Due to John P. Hale of New Hampshire.

C. W. Lewis in The Boston Transcript.

The Springfield Republican, speaking of Commodore Robert F. Stockton's service in the United States senate, says that "while there he crowned his career by securing legislation prohibiting the flogging of sailors in the United States naval service."

This is a perversion of history. Flogging in the United States navy was abolished before Commodore Stockton entered the senate, and the credit which the Republican gives to Stockton for its abolition belongs to John P. Hale of New Hampshire. Hale was a member of the national house of representatives in the twenty-eighth congress (1843-5), and on June 3, 1844 (which was in the course of the first session of that congress), he made an effort to abolish flogging in the navy by moving an amendment to that effect to the naval appropriation bill. The amendment passed the house, but was defeated in the senate. Hale himself became a member of the senate in 1847 (thirtieth congress), and in July, 1848 (which was in the course of the first session of that congress), the effort which he had unsuccessfully made in the house he renewed in the senate by moving to insert in the naval appropriation bill a clause abolishing the spirit ration and prohibiting corporal punishment in the navy. He addressed the senate in its favor, but only four senators arose with him. In February, 1849, he again presented petitions and made a strong speech, in which he depicted in glowing colors the brutality, degradation and outrage of punishment with the cat-o'-tails, but was voted down by 32 to 11.

In September, 1850, he made a final impassioned appeal to the senate to stand no longer in the way of abolition of flogging in the navy, and on the same day it was carried as a part of the appropriation bill by a vote of 28 to 24, and was concurred in by the house.

Thus, at last, his efforts were crowned with success. It was a joyful day for the American navy and for humanity. It was one of the most gratifying incidents of his life when, two years later, he was received by Commodore Nicholson and crew on board the man-of-war Germantown in Boston harbor, who thanked him for his noble efforts in abolishing flogging in the United States navy, presented him with a medal and manned the yards in his honor. (Page 54 of Daniel Holl's oration at Concord, N. H., on the occasion of the dedication of the statue of Hale at that place on August 2, 1899.)

Commodore Stockton did not become a member of the senate till the thirty-second congress (1851-3), the first session of which began on Monday, December 1, 1851, and it is thus seen that, when Stockton took his seat in the senate, flogging in the navy had already been abolished more than 14 months. At that same first session of the thirty-second congress an attempt was made to restore flogging in the navy, but the attempt was opposed by Hale, Stockton and others and came to naught.

PERSONALS.

Rollin C. Bardsell, president, and Pliny Fisk, treasurer, of the board of trustees of the Columbus library, are at Kowell's hotel. They have been visiting a number of eastern cities examining libraries and came to Pittsburgh yesterday. During their eastern visit they met Andrew Carnegie in New York. Mr. Carnegie has donated $100,000 toward a public library in the city of Columbus. "Mr. Carnegie told us," said Mr. Smith, "that his idea of a library building was that it should be plain and dignified. He also said that the handsomest library that had yet been erected by money donated by him was the Carnegie library in Fort Wayne, Ind., and advised us to visit it before completing the plans for the library in Columbus. At the present time Mr. Carnegie said that he was having erected 110 libraries in this country." Mr. Bardsell and Mr. Smith visited the Carnegie libraries in Homestead, Braddock, Duquesne and the branch library in Hazelwood yesterday. Today they will visit the Carnegie libraries in Pittsburgh and Allegheny. It is probable that some Pittsburgh architects will compete for the plans for the Columbus public library.

Charles A. Underwood of Bloomington, Ill., passed through Pittsburgh on the Pennsylvania limited yesterday. "I have traveled considerably through France and Germany and am very much impressed with the metric system," he said. "It should be adopted in this country, I believe."

James Weller of Cincinnati and H. Blakemore of Louisville passed through Pittsburgh last night. They were returning from a meeting of the Association of Distributors and Manufacturers of Food Products, which was held in New York last week. "About the most important matter that was discussed at the meeting," said Mr. Weller, "was how to secure better classification of freight rates in the south."

LION OF LUCERNE AND FAMOUS OLD REUSS BRIDGES

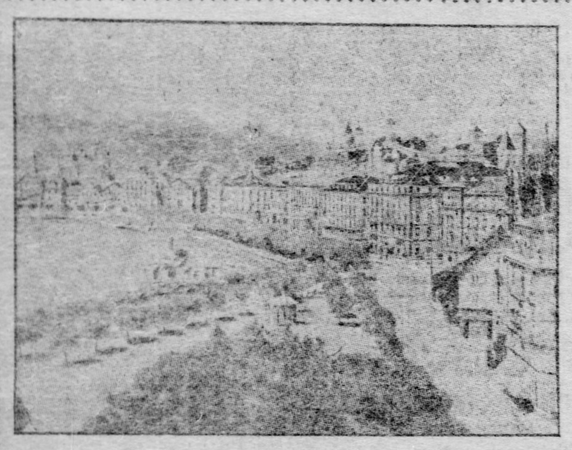
ERSONS WHO WANT TO GO

ublic Interest Manifested Throughout the Territory Affected in Many Ways'—Rules That Govern the Voting Must Be Obeyed.

The teachers touring Europe will leave the Rhine at Basle, a town lying on both sides of the river, in full view of the famous Black forest. At Basle there is a cathedral of the fourteenth century of some renown and a museum containing, besides curiosities, a picture gallery and a library of 200,000 volumes, with 5,000 manuscripts. The distance thence to Lucerne is 80 miles, one of the most picturesque journeys by rail in all Switzerland, the road skirting Mount Jura for



LUCERNE, SWITZERLAND.

This Delightful City on the Beautiful Lake of the Same Name Will Be Visited by the Teachers Who Tour Europe as Guests of The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph.

some distance and finally tunneling through it. Beyond the tunnel there are views of the Bernese Alps and later of Mount Pilatus and the Rigi, beyond Lucerne.

Lucerne is the capital of the canton of the same name, lying on both sides of the Reuss river at the point where it rushes out of the lake. It has a population of about 20,000, is important in an industrial way and is one of the most delightful cities in Switzerland. The city is well built.

Things to Be Seen.

The principal things to be seen are the old bridges, chief among them the Muhlenbrucke, with the quaint pictures of the "Dance of Death," referred to in Longfellow's "Golden Legend." The "Lion of Lucerne," in honor of the Swiss guards who fell defending the Tuileries in 1792, hewn out of the natural rock after Thorwaldsen's design, is, of course, seen by everybody. The Gletchergarten, or glacier garden, near the Lion, is a very interesting relic of the ice period.

Of the Lake of Lucerne, the Rigi and Mount Pilatus, a previous article gave some description. Suffice it to say here the lake, sometimes called also the Lake of the Four Forest Cantons, is a most beautiful body of water. The tour of The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph includes a boat ride over the lake from Lucerne to Vitznau, in the morning hours, a treat that will be relished by all.

More New Candidates.

Candidates announced since Saturday morning include the following names:

Miss E. Ingoldsby, Duquesne school, Allegheny county.

Miss Ida Bash, Johnstown schools, Cambria county.

Miss Margaret A. Tife, Bridgeville school, Allegheny county.

Miss Lacee Greenawalt, Manor school, Westmoreland county.

Miss Margaret Callan, Criste school, Munster township, Cambria county.

Miss Lillian Delamater, Lawrence school, Pittsburgh.

Miss Minnie E. Patterson, Larimer school, Westmoreland county.

From among many quarters we hear of ways and means for getting voters interested and for collecting ballots. These indicate the widespread public interest taken in the liberal offer of The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph quite as clearly as the flattering attention given it by the rural press. The people are obviously satisfied the contest is to be a fair one and with as many as 25 candidates who will be successful, they are turning in for their favorites with a vim that is refreshing. The balloting is proof that these surface indications are not deceptive.

Rules to Be Observed.

Ballots must be voted in series; those of one series must be deposited before midnight of the day the succeeding series closes. They must be filled out legibly, with full name of teacher, school where employed, town and county. They should be kept in good condition and sent in flat, not rolled or crumpled. Torn or mutilated they will not be counted.

The tour will be of more than six weeks' duration. Starts at Pittsburgh July 3; leaves New York July 5; arrives London July 15; sport line steamer; arrives London July 15; Antwerp, July 19; Brussels, July 20; Amsterdam, July 22; Cologne, July 24; Mayence, July 25; Heidelberg, July 26; Basle, July 28; Lucerne, July 28; the Rigi, July 29; Interlaken, July 30; Paris, August 1; London, August 6; Highlands, August 8; Glasgow, August 8; leave Glasgow by Anchor Line steamer Columbia, August 9; expect to arrive New York August 17.

Who Will Be Taken.

The party will be composed of 25 teachers of the public schools, i. e., persons engaged in teaching in schools supported by public funds. These will be apportioned as follows: Twelve from the cities of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, six from Allegheny county outside of the two cities, and seven from those parts of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia outside of Allegheny county but within the territory covered by the daily deliveries of The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph. They will be elected by the readers of these papers. Those having the highest votes in their respective divisions will be declared elected.

All expenses of the tour will be borne by The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph, and these papers will give each member of the party $50 in cash to gratify individual tastes. Representatives of the papers will accompany the party to arrange routes and look after the comfort of the guests.

The contest will close May 31 and the result will be announced as soon after as all of the votes are in as possible. Ballots from The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph will count one votes each, and those from Sunday Gazette will count ten votes each. The ballot will be found at the top of the second page in each issue, and attention is directed to the terms and conditions printed thereon. The ballots, including boxes, must be sent in

SERVANT GIRLS IN GREAT DEMAND

CAPABLE YOUNG WOMEN CAN FIND PLACES WITHOUT TROUBLE.

Employment Agents Cannot Fill the Many Requests They Receive for Housemaids — Farmers' Daughters Generally Make the Best Cooks.

With the progress of time the perennial housemaid problem has become no easier of solution than it ever was before. Housewife and domestic are still as far apart as of yore, and the employment agents are just as busy trying to suit the one to the other. Employment bureaus are crowded with would-be mistresses and maids, and the same old efforts, effectual and ineffectual, are still made by both sides to find some middle ground on which both can stand and retain their balance.

This season of the year is a comparatively dull time for the employment offices. Still a look into the interior of the places would lead the casual observer to think that the laws of supply and demand are in brisk operation, to the profit of the agents and to the agony of mind of employers and employes.

Demand Is Heavy.

There is a big demand for hired girls, servants, domestics and housemaids. The prosperity of the last few years has increased the number of families who can afford to employ girls to do their housework, and in the natural order of events, the number of girls who are compelled to go out to service to help support their families has decreased. Many mill men whose daughters in former years contributed to the family support are now prospering and keep the girls at home.

For some winters back farmers' daughters have been coming into the city for employment at housework. These country girls are in demand. They come to the city in the winter, and although they leave again in the summer to go back to the farm, they cause but little inconvenience to their employers.

The girls know all about cooking and housework. They are intelligent, well schooled young women, and they are eagerly snapped up by the richer clients of the employment agencies, who go away themselves in the summer and are, therefore, not inconvenienced by their servants' annual return to the farm.

Places For All.

Another class of girls who have been found satisfactory are girls from the mining regions. Nearly all of them were born in this country. They have attended the public schools and have learned to be neat and clean about a house.

Mrs. N. E. Mehan, the employment agent, said yesterday that there was a big demand for girls, although this is the dull season. Every girl who is a thorough servant can get a place instantly. Mrs. Meehan, as well as Miss Mary Walker, the Sixth street employment agent, both spoke of the country girls who are coming to town and praised them as good laundresses, breadmakers and cooks.

Charles Schwartz, whose office is in Seventh street, conducts an agency at which many foreign girls, as well as those born in American, apply for work. He finds that there is no objection to foreign girls, even though they do not speak English, as long as they are fairly intelligent and are willing workers.

Wages for general housework range, the employment agents say, from $2 50 to $3 50 a week and cooks get from $4 to $5 a week.

BRITISH ARE WAGING A WAR OF EXTERMINATION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The Rt. Rev. L. J. Coppin, who sailed from this city about a year ago on the Umbria to take charge of the Fourteenth Episcopal diocese of the African Methodist Episcopal church in South Africa, returned by the same ship, arriving here today. He is from Philadelphia and was the first bishop sent out by the A. M. E. church to take charge of this diocese, which lies south of the Zambesi river and comprises two conferences, the South African and the Transvaal.

"I found plenty of work awaiting me when I got out there," he said today. "The two conferences were mapped out but were not organized, and only a start had been made in their development. We now have between 40 and 50 churches established with over 100 traveling ministers. We have recently bought a large building in Cape Town, where in February next we will open a school to prepare students for a collegiate course. We are also hoping soon to start an industrial and literary school near Bloemfontein, modeled on the same general plan as the school at Tuskegee.

"We are seriously handicapped in this project by the unsettled condition of the country on account of the war. There seems little hope of the terrible war cloud lifting. You cannot conceive the condition of affairs over there. The Boers are gradually being wiped off the earth. It is no longer war but a process of slow extermination. England will never listen to any arbitration proposition which means restoration of the republic and the Boers will accept no other settlement. Just as long as they are able to keep up the guerilla method of warfare they can, notwithstanding the fewness of their numbers, keep thousands of soldiers in the field busy watching them and trying to head them off."

MARTYRED DEAD IS HONORED IN MANY CHURCHES

A CHRISTIAN STATESMAN

Pastors Tell of Stainless Character, Lovable Traits and Great Policy, Which Has Given Freedom and Chritianity to Millions.

The memory of America's third martyr president, William McKinley, was honored yesterday in various churches of the two cities and in the Eighth Street Jewish synagogue. Deeply impressive were the ceremonies in Oakland Methodist Episcopal church, the Rev. Thomas J. Leak, D. D., pastor. The choir sang the dead president's favorite hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," after which Dr. Leak mounted the pulpit and preached an eloquent discourse on "McKinley as a man and a Christian."

"Great lives," he said, "are an inspiration to those who follow them, showing the possibilities that exist for all. Mr. McKinley, during a long political life, won the friendship and love of those with whom he associated. Senator Tillman, an extreme Democrat, said of him: 'He was the most loveable man I ever met.'

A Religious Man.

"As Christians we are especially interested in the religious side of his life. At 16 years of age he arose in a Christian meeting and said: 'God is a Being above all to be loved and served; I have sinned. I want to be a Christian, for I believe religion to be the best thing in the world. I give myself to my Savior.' Mr. McKinley was a regular attendant of church services all his life.

"His life was a preparation for the great tragedy. In death he showed a Christian resignation to God's will. Listen to these expressions, first to his wife: 'My constant prayer is "Nearer My God to Thee;" then to those about him: 'Good-by, it is God's will, his will, not ours, be done.' The tragedy was a dire one for the American nation; but it revealed much that we had not known. It revealed the inner life of a truly Christian man."

Rabbi Levy's Meed of Praise.

Rabbi J. Leonard Levy's tribute to the martyred president in the Eighth street temple yesterday morning was probably one of the most touching expressions of the day.

His subject was: "Gone, but not Forgotten." He said in part:

"May we not include among the names of men whose influence shall be undying that of the man around whose bier we gathered a few months since and whose birthday, had he lived until today, would have been joyfully celebrated by millions of our people? William McKinley, in whose honor today thousands of churches hold memorial services, may be placed among those whose sanctifying influence shall yet lead men onward and upward.

"As Moses of old reached the heights of Moab, and thence saw before him the promised land, but which he was not permitted to enter, so McKinley caught a glimpse of America as a world power, though he did not live to see the inevitable greatness consequent on his new policy.

The New World Power.

"The promised land lies before the American people. ...o more shall the flag we honor only protect this continent, but out upon the islands of the sea that flag shall fly, a symbol of liberty, a plea for equal rights to all who look upon it. It was McKinley who placed the flag beyond the continent.

"There may be men who doubt whether McKinley was a great man, whether he ought to be called the equal of Lincoln, but the city of Pittsburgh is a monument to his memory and the tears of 80,000,000 a tribute to his goodness.

"As a husband he is an inspiration to every man who has taken a woman; as a son he ranks among those examples who sanctify childhood; as an American none were more loyal nor faithful."

Memorial services were also held in Bellevue Methodist Protestant church and a sermon preached by the pastor, George Shaffer. In the First Church of Spiritualists, Allegheny, memorial services were held last night. The Rev. George Day, pastor, spoke of President McKinley's qualities as a Christian and a statesman.

In Wilkinsburg.

Memorial services in honor of the late President McKinley will be held Wednesday evening in the Wilkinsburg Presbyterian church. There will be an address and an excellent musical program. The talk concerning the Rev. Thomas Parry's refusal to grant the use of the Presbyterian church for the occasion has dwindled down to a statement from both sides that indicates a misunderstanding. Mr. Parry did not absolutely refuse the use of the church, but stated that he did not wish the meeting to interfere with the regular services held in his church Wednesday evenings. It is understood that his congregation fully supports the pastor's stand.

GUEST OF MASONS.

President Roosevelt Will Attend Celebration of Anniversary of Washington's Initiation.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Jan. 26.—Announcement has been made by the committee which had the matter in charge that President Roosevelt has accepted the invitation of the Grand lodge of Pennsylvania, Free and Accepted Masons, to be its guest on Tuesday, November 4 next, at the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the initiation of George Washington into the Masonic order. The celebration, is to take place in the Masonic Temple here.

President Roosevelt became a Mason about two years ago, joining the lodge at Oyster Bay, L. I. George Washington was initiated at Fredericksburg, Md., on November 4, 1752.

WORSHIPERS GREET HERO OF SANTIAGO

Program for Today Includes Several Receptions and Visit to Winfield Scott Schley School, Where the Rear Admiral Will Make a Short Speech.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Visitors were not permitted to see Admiral Schley today and he was given ample time to rest after yesterday's arduous program. After breakfast in their apartments at the Auditorium, the Admiral and Mrs. Schley, with Mrs. Munger, attended services at the Trinity Episcopal church at 11 o'clock. As their place of worship had not been made public, only the usual congregation was present. The sermon was preached by the Rev. W. A. Guerry, chaplain of the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., but the only reference he made to Admiral Schley was when he notified the congregation of the admiral's presence. When the service ended the congregation stood in line at the door, and as Admiral Schley passed out he shook hands with them right and left. Returning to the Auditorium, Admiral and Mrs. Schley were driven to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Washburn, where they took luncheon. After a short drive through the parks the couple returned to their apartments, where they remained until 7 o'clock. Then they were driven to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Morris, where a dinner in honor of the admiral and his wife was served. The affair was private, only immediate friends being invited.

The admiral will be kept busy tomorrow from early morning until late at night. Commencing at 9:30 a. m. he will visit the Winfield Scott Schley school, where he will deliver a short address.

At 11 a. m. he will be presented with resolutions from the German societies of Chicago. The presentation will tage place in Memorial hall. At noon he will lunch with E. A. Munger, president of the Hamilton club, and a few others. The rest of the day's program follows:

BOOM MAY BE A BOOMERANG

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Rear Admiral Schley's popularity as shown by his western trip will have no effect upon President Roosevelt's action upon his arrival from the findings of the court of inquiry which investigated his conduct during the war with Spain. On the other hand, it is likely to have a positively injurious effect upon his future, for the reason that his development as a presidential possibility may cause many of his influential friends to withdraw their support.

The president will not act until he has received the comments of the navy department upon Rear Admiral Schley's brief, the ablest yet filed, and has considered them in connection with the arguments of counsel for the appellant. While Mr. Schley stated on three separate occasions yesterday that he was not in politics, some of the high political powers of Maryland fear that an attempt will be made to force him forward as a presidential possibility. One Maryland politician of prominence said today that already there is a disposition to drop Schley and two prominent papers of Baltimore are only awaiting an opportunity to do so. By appealing to the president Rear Admiral Schley has lost the active support of several prominent politicians who advised him against such action. So apparent would be the result that they thought it would only place him officially in a more awkward position than he now occupies.

Free Thinkers Organize National Political Party at Cincinnati. Paine Memorial.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 26.—The National Liberal party was organized here today by representatives from all parts of the country. The preamble to the constitution which was adopted declares for the separation of church and state to the extent of abolishing chaplains in the army and navy, many legislative bodies and all public institutions, the taxation of church property and the abandonment of Sabbath observance.

The party is the amalgamation for political purposes of Free Thinkers, and it is more distinctly in politics than the American Secular union. The temporary organization was formed at Buffalo last October, with T. J. Bowles of Muncie, Ind., as president, and W. F. Jamison of Cincinnati as secretary.

The free love element was not admitted into the new organization, but the woman suffragists were admitted. At the Thomas Paine Memorial tonight addresses were made by C. S. Darrow of Chicago, J. T. Wiscarver and others.

PRISCILLA'S PENCIL

In following up the history of a unique watch charm the other day, happened upon a pretty romance in which the sinews of old England and the grace of America are mingled. The charm in question is cut from a gold sovereign, the head of the queen being drilled out into sharp relief, while the circle of gold is left intact, giving the effect of a head inside a circle. It was worn by a dainty East End matron and pressing her for its story I got the following: Sixty some years ago, when the coins bearing the head of Queen Victoria were still new enough to be uncommon, a pretty maid of Pittsburgh visited some English relatives. In the family was a cousin about her own age who proged his gallantry by promptly falling in love with the fair visitor. International marriages were not so common then as now, besides which the English branch of the family, being Roman Catholic, strongly objected to a marriage between cousins. The pretty American lass, whose heart was not very deeply touched, refused the suit, and the disappointed lover, left alone to bewail his loss, was borne off by influence of his father to a regiment stationed in India. Here he amused himself by cutting out of a gold coin the head of the young queen to whose delicate features the entire family avowed the pretty cousin bore a striking resemblance. This coin, almost finished, was found in his pocket, after his death, which occurred in a skirmish between the followers of a native prince and the young officer's regiment. With his other effects it was sent home, and as he had dedicated it to his love in a letter, his mother sent it to her. She afterward married a sturdy Pittsburgh business man, gave the unique coin to her daughter on her marriage, and it recently came to this daughter's daughter at her wedding day, being invested by the fancy of the family with the privilege of conveying pure happiness, the blessing of the hapless young lover who carved it on the bride who wears it from her marriage day.

Family Portraits—

Which are somewhat more common in Pittsburgh than in many a larger city are invariably framed in round or oval walnut frames nowadays. The older the frame the better, and many a canvas which has lived its many years in the square frame given it when it was painted has lately moved to the oval shape supposed to be more in harmony with the colonial days from which these family possessions are always avowed to have descended.

Chafing Dish Aprons—

Are a late and exceedingly dainty fancy for the pretty girl who has studied the fascinating lore of drawing room cookery. Most of these are mere fluffs of lawn and lace with a bow or two to give color, but some of them are sensibly constructed and afford real protection in case of a stray drop of sputtering grease. One of the latter is of blue chambray, long enough to reach the knees and trimmed daintily with a band of white linen outlining its edge, its square bib and the long sash ends which tie behind.

CURED OF NERVOUS PROSTRATION
—BY—
WHEELER'S NERVE VITALIZER.

Such cures as the one recorded below has the semblance of a miracle, but there is nothing marvelous about them. The simple facts are that Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer will cure any case of Nervous Prostration, no matter how far advanced it may be.

"I was stricken with nervous prostration and severe irritation of the spinal nerves so bad that I was confined to my bed—could neither eat nor sleep. It was necessary to inject liquid food into my body to keep me alive. The many physicians who treated me were unable to help and finally gave me up to die. While in that condition I was advised to try Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer. I could feel the good effects of the third dose, and the first bottle helped me so much that my friends could hardly believe so much benefit could be derived from so little treatment. After using three bottles I was entirely cured and I was my healthy self again. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer certainly saved my life and I can recommend it to anyone afflicted with any nervous trouble. Mrs. Mary Linsea, Charlotte, Mich."

There is no form of nervous diseases from Sleeplessness to Epileptic Fits that will not yield to Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer. Proof will be sent to anyone making the request.

For sale by druggists, or by express, prepaid, $1.00 per bottle, 6 for $5.00.

Sec. 2. That so much of any ordinance as may conflict with or be supplied by the foregoing be and the same is hereby repealed. 120dju

(No. 284.)

AN ORDINANCE—Exonerating the resident taxables of the city from the payment of the one dollar "poll tax" levied by councils in the year 1900, amounting to eleven thousand five hundred and forty-four ($11,544 00) dollars and directing the delinquent tax collector to credit the accounts on his books with such exoneration and the city controller to enter credits on his books.

Whereas, In pursuance of an act of assembly requiring the same, the councils of the city of Allegheny, in the year 1900, levied and caused to be assessed a poll tax of one ($1 00) dollar on each resident taxable in the city, and

Whereas, A large proportion of the said tax became delinquent and was referred to the delinquent tax collector for collection, and

Whereas, While $11,544 00 of said tax remained yet uncollected, the act of assembly requiring the same, providing for collection of said tax was declared unconstitutional and thus the collection of the same cannot be lawfully enforced, but said amount is still charged against the delinquent tax collector on his books. Now, therefore,

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the select and common councils of the city of Allegheny, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the resident taxables against whom the one ($1 00) dollar "poll tax" was levied and caused to be assessed by councils of the city of Allegheny for the year 1900 who have not paid the same and who are charged therewith on the books of the treasurer's department, be, and they are hereby exonerated from the payment of the same.

Sec. 2. The delinquent tax collector be and he is hereby authorized to enter the above exonerations in the proper manner of a credit to said charges to the amount of eleven thousand five hundred and forty-four ($11,544 00) dollars. And in pursuance of this ordinance the city controller is hereby authorized and directed to enter a credit to the amount which he holds against the delinquent tax collector for said amount, itemized as follows:

Third ward	1,775 00
Fourth ward	1,380 00
Fifth ward	1,066 00
Eighth ward	538 00
Ninth ward	538 00
Tenth ward	284 00
Eleventh ward	512 00
Twelfth ward	387 00
Thirteenth ward	320 00
Total	$11,544 00

And the said collector is hereby discharged and released from any and all liability for said unpaid poll tax.

Sec. 3. That so much of any ordinance as may conflict with or be supplied by the foregoing be and the same is hereby repealed.

Ordained and enacted into a law in councils this 16th day of January, A. D. 1902.

Basketball on Ice to Be Played

NEW ICE GAME TO BE PLAYED BY LOCAL ATHLETES

CONTEST TO BE NOVEL

The Idea Originated at Shadyside Academy and Teams to Try New Sport Will Be Composed of School Hockey and Basketball Players.

If the plans of some of the local school athletes do not miscarry the lovers of ice sports in Pittsburgh have a chance to witness one of the most novel contests ever played on the glassy surface at Duquesne garden or any other frozen field of sports.

The new sport might be called basket-hockey, hockey-ball or just plain basket-ball on skates for that is the project which has been filling the minds of numerous school athletes with unrest for a week or more past.

Idea Originated at Shadyside.

The idea first originated at Shadyside academy and both the hockey players and basketball followers of that school have lent eager support, it being a question of dispute as to which could be learned the more easily, skating by the basketball players or basketball by the hockeyites.

It is generally believed that the hockey players should be the ones to try a hand, however, as no matter what their skill is in the gymnasium sport the basketball players would cut sorry figures unless they were adepts at maintaining their equilibrium on the ice.

The students of Fittsburgh High school and East Liberty academy have also lent themselves kindly to the project, but no definite arrangements have yet been made, as an effort will be made to determine in what light the Duquesne garden management looks upon the scheme before it is carried any further.

Attraction Will Be Great.

The boys feel, however, that such a novel event should prove a strong attraction and it seems reasonable to suppose that many would rather see such a novel contest than the best basketball or even hockey, while the room for amusing features appears unlimited.

Baskets or nets would, of course, be fixed at either end of the ice field in use, and the imagination can easily picture the dexterous skill and attractiveness of a contest where the skaters, while going at full speed, would make quick tosses of the ball through the air and be required to catch the same while gliding so speedily.

It would be far more difficult to maintain the balance than in a hockey contest, and efforts to pick the ball up while it was gliding over the ice can easily be pictured as a hard feat.

It is to be hoped that something will come of the agitation among the school athletes, as there are many who would enjoy such a contest.

BIKE RACERS' PROFITS.

Over $25,000 Divided Among Cyclists at Indoor Meetings This Season.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(Special.)—More than $25,000 in prize money was divided among the cyclists who took part in the indoor meetings this season.

Many of the riders will go to Atlanta to compete in the six-day race. On March 1 the new track at Jacksonville will be opened for Sunday racing. Birmingham will follow with night racing on April 1. Some of the men will enter this competition. Others will go to Hot Springs, Ark., for a month's rest.

The season has not been very profitable to a great number of the riders, for those who failed to land winnings in the long-distance races feel that the experience and training will put them in condition for fast work behind motor machines when the hour races begin.

Some fast men from Europe are expected to follow the N. C. A. circuit next summer.

FOGEL'S NEW PLAYERS.

Not Thought He Will Secure Any Such Stars as Rusie and Mathewson.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Horace Fogel, the 12th consecutive manager of the New Yorks since they passed into Freedman's hands, says that he has personal contracts with half a dozen good ball players, including several American league stars. But when the press agents make Fogel say that he has a second Rusie, another Rusie, some more Mathewsons and Davises, together with a batch of Joe Kelleys and Keelers, it is placing the new manager in a false position.

Fogel really has in mind several minor league players and semi-professionals of some promise who have asked him to find berths for them during the coming season. If Fogel can succeed in moulding the present aggregation into a championship team, even a four-club circuit, he will be entitled to a world of praise.

SHARON BENCH SHOW.

Over 350 Dogs of Nearly All Breeds Have Been Entered for the Event.

SHARON, PA., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—The following is a list of entries by breeds of the dogs that will be exhibited at the bench show, January 30, 31 and February 1: St. Bernards, 13; great Danes, 5; fox hounds, 7; beagles, 16; pointers, 37; English setters, 45; Irish setters, 8; Gordon setters, 2; field spaniels, 2; cocker spaniels, 24; collies, 18; dalmatians, 6; poodles, 7; bulldogs, 17; bull terriers, 16; Boston terriers, 6; fox terriers, (smooth), 65; fox terriers (wire), 6; Airedale terriers, 1; Irish terriers, 3; black and tans, 6; dachshounds, 6; Italian greyhounds, 29; pugs, 19; toy terriers, 2; miscellaneous, 2. Total, 502.

ST. LOUIS FRANCHISE SOLD.

Killileas Dispose of Their American League Holdings to R. L. Hedges.

CHICAGO, ILL., Jan. 26.—The St. Louis American league franchise was sold today by Matt and Henry Killilea of Milwaukee to R. L. Hedges, who represents a number of St. Louis capitalists.

The price paid was not made public. The new owners of the club will hold a meeting in St. Louis Wednesday to form a permanent organization and elect officers. It is said Mr. Hedges will be elected president of the club.

East Liberty Versus Manchester.

The East Liberty Jr. team, which will oppose the Manchester Juniors tonight at Manchester Turner hall is, in reality, an all-star combination got together for the purpose of defeating the Lower Allegheny team on their own floor. They have undertaken a hard task, however, and will have to put up an exceedingly fast game to accomplish their object. The game will be called at 8:30. The line up follows:

East Liberty Jr.	Manchester Jr.
Lewis-Orr	Forward	Skillinger
Siebel	Forward	Koch
Hayes	Center	Wallise-Barr
Nickel	Guard	Graham
Brunner	Guard	Burry

Referee—Mills.

Friedman Was Knocked Out.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 26.—At the St. Louis Rowing club Lou Friedman of Rochester, N. Y., was today knocked out by Andy Stevenson of St. Louis in the first round of a ten-round match.

LONDON MAY GET THE BIG FIGHT

JEFFRIES AND SHARKEY LIKELY TO MEET THERE.

If the Sailor Refuses to Accept the Offer of the National Sporting Club Fitzsimmons May Be Offered a Bout With Jeffries for Coronation Week.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

It is possible that the London National Sporting club may give Jeffries and the sailor a chance to decide their match if the club cannot secure a better attraction, namely, a bout between the champion and Bob Fitzsimmons.

Certain it is that Jeffries and Sharkey cannot fight in this country, at least in the near future. In San Francisco, where championship fights can be pulled off, they do not want the match.

Louisville has been mentioned as a point where the men might be brought together. This is out of the question at present, because it is understood the promoters of boxing in that city do not wish to take up a championship battle in the face of the strong feeling against fights of this character.

The sailor has been challenged by "Wild Bill" Hanrahan, the New York middleweight, who thinks he can beat anybody, barring Jeffries, in the heavyweight division. When it is decided to everybody's satisfaction, Sharkey included, that he and Jeffries cannot fight just now, Tim Hurst will probably put Sharkey and Hanrahan on before the Southern A. C. of Louisville.

It is expected that within a few days Fitz will openly announce his determination to accept Jeffries' offer to fight for the championship of the world and the entire gate receipts, after which there may be less talk of "something doing."

GOAL RECORDS MADE IN JR. BASKETBALL LEAGUE

The past week witnessed several changes in the individual records for goal-throwing of the players, composing the junior basketball league, and also in the record of points scored by and against the different teams. Manchester leads in number of points scored, with 226 to its credit; South Side is a close second, with 214. The other teams have scored as follows: Carnegie Steels, 127; Homestead, 112; Lyceum, 66, and Carnegie, 23.

The South Side boys rank first in defensive work, having had but 68 points scored against them; Carnegie is second, with 41. Manchester has 82, Carnegie Steels 126, Lyceum 145 and Homestead 218.

Members of the Manchester and South Side teams head the list of players in goals scored from field and foul. Koch of Manchester leads in field goals, with 31, Lieban of South Side being second, with 28. Graham of Manchester leads in foul goals, with 30.

Following are the records of the different players for games and total points:

MAY SWIM IN EUROPE.

Champion Schaefler Likely to Contest With English Swimmers.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Champion E. Carrol Schaefler of the National Swimming association, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania, may go abroad this year to meet the English swimmers. Schaefler has had a remarkable career. In 1899, under Prof. George Kistler, the red and blue swimming instructor, he first came into prominence, and since that time he has been breaking American records by the wholesale. He will be seen at Chicago in the coming Sportsman show, February 3 to 20, where he will meet the best American swimmers, including J. S. Leary and H. F. Brewer, the California champion. It is expected that these two will make young Schaefler extend himself to win and several records are likely to go.

MICHAEL MAY BE BARRED FROM CYCLE RACING

Famous Wheelman Has Refused to Ride With Archie McEachern.

SAYS HE FEARED DEFEAT

Refusal to Race After Contracting to Do So Will Be Reported to the National Cycling Association for Action.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Jan. 26.—Jimmy Michael is in a fair way to find himself forever barred from cycle racing. The wonderful midget has backed out of the match he made in good faith with Archie McEachern. The men were to have met in a 15-mile motor paced race at the 8th Regiment armory Tuesday night and the managers, C. Ross Klosterman and Jack Prince, had gone to great expense to advertise on an extensive scale the farewell appearance in America of the Wee Wonder and McEachern.

Michael today served notice on Manager Prince that he would not ride. His only excuse was that he thought McEachern might defeat him because the Canadian is just now riding in remarkable form. No amount of persuasion would induce Michael to change his mind and the coliseum managers were in a bad fix for awhile.

Finally Benny Monroe, the little southern champion, agreed to take on McEachern and as both Howard Freeman, the Oregon wonder, and speedy Otto Maya issued challenges to race either McEachern or Monroe.

Klosterman and Prince last night decided to have a three-cornered race of 15 miles Tuesday evening. Monroe, McEachern and either Freeman or Maya will be the stars. The trio will be paced by single man motors in the race.

Michael will no doubt be reported to the National Cycling association, as the managers of the local track have several reputable witnesses, among them some noted riders who heard Michael promise faithfully to race Tuesday night. Michael intends to visit France to become a jockey, but will attempt to ride the wheel there if unsuccessful with the horses. It is said he has signed a contract to give some bicycle exhibitions there, but if suspended by the National Cycling association in America he cannot ride in Europe.

SPANISH GAME TO BE INTRODUCED IN AMERICA

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Pelota, the national game of Spain, similar in many ways to handball as played here, will shortly be introduced in this country. The first games in public will be played in New York.

The first move toward the introduction of the game here, which in Spain is centuries old, is the puchase for $1,000,000 of the block on Central park west, between Sixty-second and Sixty-third streets. A syndicate, headed by J. L. de Soia arranged the purchase, and has announced plans for the construction of a court in the Moorish style of architecture that will cost between $800,000 and $500,000. In other words, the syndicate will spend nearly $2,000,000 to make the game a "go" in this country.

Pelota is a sort of combination of tennis, racquet, handball and baseball, resembling handball most, for the reason that the ball is played with the hand. In the latter game, ordinary strength, quickness, endurance and a good eye are necessary to the successful player.

A ball somewhat smaller than the tennis ball is used. It is a solid steel knot in the center covered with gutta percha and wound with fine cotton thread. A rawhide covering is put over this.

The ball possesses an unusual degree of elasticity, in play it is never touched with the hands, but it is caught by and served from the cesta. The cesta is covered with stout hide. It is about a foot and a half long, is made of springy wicker, bound with thongs, and is fastened to the wrist by long leather bands and buckles. It looks like a huge concave claw, being grooved on the inside.

The players take their places near the front wall, while the server, or "boutler," stands back 25 feet. He sends the ball to the floor, and on the rebound strikes it swiftly, sending it with great force against the front wall. On the rebound it is caught by a player of the opposing team and hurled by him to the opposite side of the court. The possibilities of curving the ball on this return are greater than in baseball. Should the ball be missed the failure to strike it counts a loss, and service of the ball is renewed. The number of points which constitute a game is decided upon by the contestants, the usual number of points being 40. So rapid is the play that from three to five umpires are required.

NEW LEAGUE FORMED.

Atlantic City Basketball Teams Unite and Elect Officers.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Six basketball teams are in process of organizing a city league. The Atlantic City Regulars, who are to defend the city pennant, will be composed of the best players among the associated clubs.

The officers of the association are: C. F. Rilley, president and manager; Steele Blair, secretary; William Heald, treasurer; W. Greiner, floor manager; William Seaman, referee. The sport is growing in popularity here.

BLOOD HISTORY

Born in bone marrow—dies in the liver. This is the beginning and the end of the rich, red blood that keeps us all alive. Blood history makes a fascinating story.

Scott's Emulsion often plays a most important part in blood history. At the very beginning—that is where its influence is greatest.

FREIGHT YARDS TO BE ENLARGED

BIG IMPROVEMENT JUST STARTED ON P., V. & C. RAILROAD.

Works Costing $1,000,000 Will Be Rushed Through to Assist in Handling the Freight Traffic of Pittsburgh and Vicinity.

The Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad, from Port Perry to Brinton, presents a scene of unusual activity, as the company has started work on improvements which will require a year to complete and will cost $1,000,000. The improvements are being made in order to better facilitate the handling of freight traffic in and out of Pittsburgh and to relieve the congested condition of the yards of the Carnegie mills at Braddock, Homestead and Duquesne.

The first active operations commenced Friday when the H. S. Kerbaugh Company, which has the contracts for the bulk of the work, started 800 men at work enlarging the tunnel near Port Perry. The tunnel is 600 feet long. It was built in 1872 and contains a single track. It will be enlarged to allow for two tracks.

Work From Both Ends.

The contractors expect to have it completed, without interfering with the operation of trains, in the specified time of nine months. By February 1 600 men will be employed and provisions are now being made to have work pushed from both ends.

The enlarging to the tunnel is only a small part of the improvements planned for the road between Port Perry and Brinton, where it joins the Pennsylvania railroad.

As outlined the plans provide for the enlargement of the transfer yards at Brinton to such an extent as to permit the handling of all shipments to points on the Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio systems. The two roads now exchange business at Brinton, Everson and Hyndman, but it is understood that Brinton will be made the central point.

Space Badly Needed.

Another point to be improved and one which at present causes considerable delay to traffic on the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston is the bridge which spans the Monongahela river between Port Perry and Oliver. It is now a single track structure, but it is to be extended for a second track.

The necessity of more room was severely felt during the recent freight congestion. It is believed that with the completion of the improvements a great deal of the confusion resulting from exchanging cars will be avoided and a more perfect system established for the delivery of freight. The company is reported to have acquired considerable property at Brinton, adjacent to the present yards, which will be used for the laying of additional tracks.

KINNEY SUCCEEDS LEMON.

Is Now Superintendent of This District for the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company.

Several of the leading operating officials of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company have been promoted through Charles C. Adams, superintendent at Philadelphia, being put in charge of southern division, with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga. Leon Lemon, superintendent of the Pittsburgh district becomes superintendent of the Third district, with headquarters at Philadelphia. Manager Edson E. Kimmey, in the Pittsburgh district, succeeds Mr. Lemon. A. W. Rinehart, who has been night chief, becomes manager here, and H. J. Colebrook succeeds him as night chief. The changes will take place either the first of next month or March 1.

All of the promotions carry recognition of ability and substantial advances in salaries. Mr. Adams is one of the oldest in the service of the officials of the company. Years ago he was manager here of the old Mutual Union Telegraph Company. Mr. Lemon was transferred here from Baltimore about two years ago. Mr. Kimmey has been manager for about the same period.

FINISH WAS EXCITING.

Fahey Wins 16-Hour Go-as-You-Please Race from Mitkus in Last Lap.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHENANDOAH, PA., Jan. 26.—The finish of the 16-hour go-as-you-please race here last night was the most exciting event ever witnessed in this section. Fahey and Mitkus, who were tied from the start, kept up a fast pace to the end and neither one would allow the other the slightest advantage.

Both men were cheered on by their admirers among the large crowd present and for one-half hour before the finish the din and noise was so great that many of the timid spectators left the hall, fearing trouble.

Mitkus led until the last lap, when Fahey spurted, taking a slight lead. At this stage the excitement was intense. Both men were urged on and with every nerve strained and with heads bent forward they pushed madly forward. Fahey gained an inch at a time and crossed the line three feet ahead of his opponent. The management retained 50 per cent of the receipts. The balance being divided among the runners.

The final score follows: Fahey, 121 miles, 19 laps, 3 feet; Mitkus, 121 miles, 19 laps; Dolan, 111 miles, 23 laps; Goldbrick, 106 miles, 18 laps; Brett, 87 miles; Hewitt, 88 miles, 17 laps.

THREE THIEVES ROBBED MAN IN FORBES STREET

STOLE WATCH AND CHAIN

J. L. Elliott Was Assaulted Within a Few Steps of His Home and His Assailants Escaped in the Darkness.

One of the most daring hold-ups that has occurred in this city in years took place last night in Forbes street. J. L. Elliott, a milliman, employed in the Homestead steel works, of No. 1714 Forbes street, was attacked on the street at 9 o'clock by three men, robbed of his watch and chain, valued at $65, and then assaulted. The men made their escape.

Elliott struggled and twisted. He was powerless to protect himself from being robbed. Being a small man he was no match for his assailants.

Searched His Pockets.

They took his watch and chain. Then they stripped his trousers' pockets and secured a small pocketbook that contained 60 cents and some old coins, which Elliott valued highly. One of the highwaymen called to his companion to "hurry up."

After stripping him one of the men struck him on the head, knocking him down. Then they separated and ran in different directions. One of the men went through Munn's court, another ran through the alley to Gibbons street and the third ran out Magee street.

Stunned and blinded Elliott got to his feet and started after the man running through Munn's court. He was too weak to keep up the chase and turned back to his home.

The only witness to the robbery was a woman who was getting off the car just where the robbery occurred. She stepped off the car and saw the struggling forms in the darkness. She called for help. Elliott was liberated about this time and he called for someone to aid him. The men ran away and disappeared.

No Policeman in Sight.

An effort was made to learn the name of the woman who saw the robbery, but the officers were unsuccessful. There was no officer in sight when the robbery took place. In fact, the policeman on that beat did not make his appearance until 10 minutes after the theft occurred.

When Mr. Elliott was seen at his home last night by a Gazette reporter he was still bruised and sore. He said that he had left his money in the house before he went out. Otherwise the men would have secured $60.

In their hurry the robbers failed to notice Elliott's diamond. He wore a fancy colored vest and the garment just covered the stud. This prevented the robbers from seeing it. As the men held Elliott's head up he was unable to see them at all and had no idea that their looks were like. The report was made at No. 4 police station.

WILL PROVIDE A REFUGE.

Hebrews Decide to Re-Establish the House of Shelter in Gibbon Street.

Steps were taken last night by the Hebrews of the city at a largely attended meeting in the Beth Hamedresh synagogue, in Washington street, to re-establish the House of Shelter for Indigent Hebrews at No. 24 Gibbon street. The institution has been in existence for a number of years, but for several years past it has not been in a flourishing condition.

It is proposed to refurnish the home so as to provide accommodations for all needy Hebrews who come to the city, and to allow them to remain there until they can find employment and a home elsewhere. At the meeting last night members of the congregations of Beth Hamedresh, Beth Jacob, Poale Zedeck and Shara Torah were present.

It was decided that the home in Gibbon street should be supported by the voluntary donations of members of all the Jewish congregations of the city. Contributions of 5 or 10 cents weekly from each member of the various churches are considered ample to maintain the home.

SPEAKEASIES RAIDED.

Police Arrested 75 Men in Two Houses—One Place Raided Twice.

Capt. Fred Will and a squad of police were most aggressive yesterday. They arrested 75 men in two houses they raided. At the rooms of the National Marine association at No. 59 Ross street, 46 men were found drinking and playing cards.

William Shaffer, James Martin and Owen Hughes were charged by the police with maintaining the place and keeping a gambling establishment. The others were charged with being visitors.

There were two poker tables, a lot of chips and cards found. The police also discovered two slot machines. They confiscated everything in the place.

The house of Bernard Kelly, at No. 516 Wylie avenue, was raided twice. The officers visited the place at 2 o'clock and arrested Kelly and 19 men. Later the house was reopened by Mrs. Kelly and her daughter, Dorsey Callahan. The women were found serving beer to eight men. All were taken to the Central police station. They will be arraigned for hearing this morning before Police Magistrate Bernard McKenna.

AIRSHIP INVENTOR AFTER THE PRIZE

FIRST ENTRY IN THE CONTEST AT ST. LOUIS NEXT YEAR.

Connecticut Man Says That He Has Already Constructed 21 Different Machines and Is Still Working Hard for Success—Flew a Mile and a Half.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 26.—The first entry for the airship contest at the Louisiana Purchase exposition has been received. The inventor, who announces his intention to compete for the prize of $200,000 offered by the exposition, is Gustave Whitehead of 241 Pine street, Bridgeport, Conn. Mr. Whitehead has been at work along practical lines, building one machine after another, preserving the good points of each and discarding those that have been found undesirable. This is the process by which all valuable machines and devices have been brought to present day perfection. Mr. Whitehead has met with an encouraging success in his efforts. He writes as follows:

"I have read in different newspapers that you are going to offer a prize for the best dirigible airship or flying machine. I have been working on the problem for the last 10 years. The latest of my results is a one and a half mile flight. I am improving every day, employing a force of men in order to come to a practical conclusion in regard to the flying machine. I herewith take the liberty of asking for rules and conditions under which your prize may be won. At any rate, you will kindly put my name down on your list as one of the competitors."

Mr. Whitehead sends a number of views of his machine. He calls it the Aeroplane flying machine, and he has now reached number 21 in his series of machines.

He says regarding it: "This machine is built of wood and bamboo and covered with silk. The body is 16 feet long, 3 feet wide and 3 feet deep, something in the shape of a fish or bird. On each side are great wings or aeroplanes stretched tightly on a bamboo framework. Four wheels support the machine while standing on the ground. A 10 horse power engine is connected with the wheels in order to get the running start in the way a bird starts to fly. In front of the wings and across the body is a double compound high pressure engine (about 20 horse power), revolving a pair of propellers in opposite directions about 700 revolutions per minute.

PERSONAL—
HEART TO HEART TALKS.
My Dear Fellow Pitt:
There has been too much saving at the spigot and wasting at the bung hole; too much littleness and not enough public spirit shown; can you think of any better way of helping the city than by keeping up a good appearance, making our city attractive to strangers and satisfying to ourselves? No man should have a dingy looking house when painting is done so reasonable as here.

WIERD RUMORS OF POLITICAL DEALS ABROAD

The Coming Election and the Governor's Chair Are the Causes.

HARMONY DEAL POSSIBLE

Guffey Denies the Story and Declares That He Is Making the Fight of His Life to Elect John S. Larkin.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.

An interesting rumor, relative to the coming political campaign in Pennsylvania, was in circulation among Pennsylvanians here today and found some believers. It was to the effect that the forthcoming street railroad deal in Philadelphia, which is to be pulled off during the coming week, will simplify the contest in the Republican ranks, and, in fact, make certain the nomination and election of John P. Elkin as governor and the election of a straightout Republican legislature.

The meeting on Tuesday of the Union Traction Company is the basis for the story. A new deal, it is said is to be then perfected in which Elkins and Widener are to be taken care of in Philadelphia, while the Philadelphia Company in Pittsburgh is to take care of Col. James M. Guffey. If the alleged deal is carried out then Elkin, Widener and Guffey, so the story goes, are to pull the wires that will make fusion of the Democrats and insurgents this year impossible and result in the election of an organization majority in both branches of the legislature. Mr. Guffey, it is said, is also to quietly aid in the defeat of Mr. Larkin for controller.

Quay Non-Committal.

Senator Quay was asked about this rumor this afternoon, and he said that it was one of numerous rumors that had come to his ears since his return from Florida. He did not know whether there was any truth in this particular rumor or not. All that he did know was that he had not declared in favor of the nomination of any man for governor and was of the opinion that the convention was too far off for any one to have been decided on for the Republican nomination.

So far as Col. Guffey is concerned he assured a personal friend here on Friday that he was making the fight of his life to elect John S. Larkin as controller of Pittsburgh, and that he was confident of success. He said that he had to go into court to get his tax receipts, with which to qualify the Democratic voters. That he was compelled by the opposition to do this would indicate that he is loyally in earnest in his support of Mr. Larkin.

Municipal Fight Important.

The coming municipal contest in Pittsburgh is regarded by many here as having a decided bearing upon the Republican fight for governor. If the Stone-Flinn combine is overthrown the majority of the Pennsylvania politicians believe that it will be followed by the withdrawal of John P. Elkin from the race for governor. Word reached here from Pittsburgh tonight that the confidential returns of the Flinn meeting only showed a plurality of 2,600 for Lewis, the machine candidate for controller. On the other hand, the opposition are counting on a majority of from 5,000 upwards for Mr. Larkin.

In reply to hundreds of letters received by him asking if he was a candidate for the nomination for governor, Representative Sibley will, in a day or two, make public a letter that he has written defining his position.

Sibley Would Accept.

In substance, Mr. Sibley will take the ground that he will not make an active canvass for the nomination, but that if he is nominated he will accept the nomination and believes that he will be elected. He calls attention to the fact that when he was first nominated for congress in the Erie-Crawford district he was not a candidate for the nomination and that he was not a candidate either when he was first nominated in the Warren-Venango-McKean-Cameron county district. He accepted both nominations and was elected. So far as the governorship is concerned he occupies the same position. Thus he places himself at the disposal of the delegates to the state convention.

Advices received here from the state indicate that the revolt against the nomination of John P. Elkin for governor is increasing daily and is now assuming the proportions of a revolution similar to the Delamater campaign.

Many Votes Assured.

Representative Sibley's friends have assured him that he is certain of from 75 to 100 votes if he will publicly announce that he will accept if nominated. State Senator W. M. Brown of Lawrence county was here today in conference with Senator Quay. He was received cordially and the senator had no criticisms to offer for the action of Lawrence county ten days ago in declaring against the nomination of Mr. Elkin. He assured the senator that he would be satisfied if the Republicans elected their legislative ticket in Lawrence county. This indicates that the senator is more interested in the election of a Republican legislature than in the personal triumph of Mr. Elkin.

CHARLES W. METZGAR.

A DEBATE INEVITABLE.

The Passage of the Philippine Tariff Bill Sure to Make Much Talk by Democratic Senators.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—The senate will devote its principal attention this week to the Philippine tariff bill. It is the purpose of Senator Lodge, who is in charge of the bill, to keep it before the senate persistently until it is disposed of. He does not count on final action for some time.

It is not the present purpose of the friends of the bill to debate it, but the attacks which will be made on it and upon the entire administration of Philippine affairs inevitably will bring replies from many of the Republican senators. It is understood that a majority of the senators on the Democratic side of the chamber will be heard before the bill is passed.

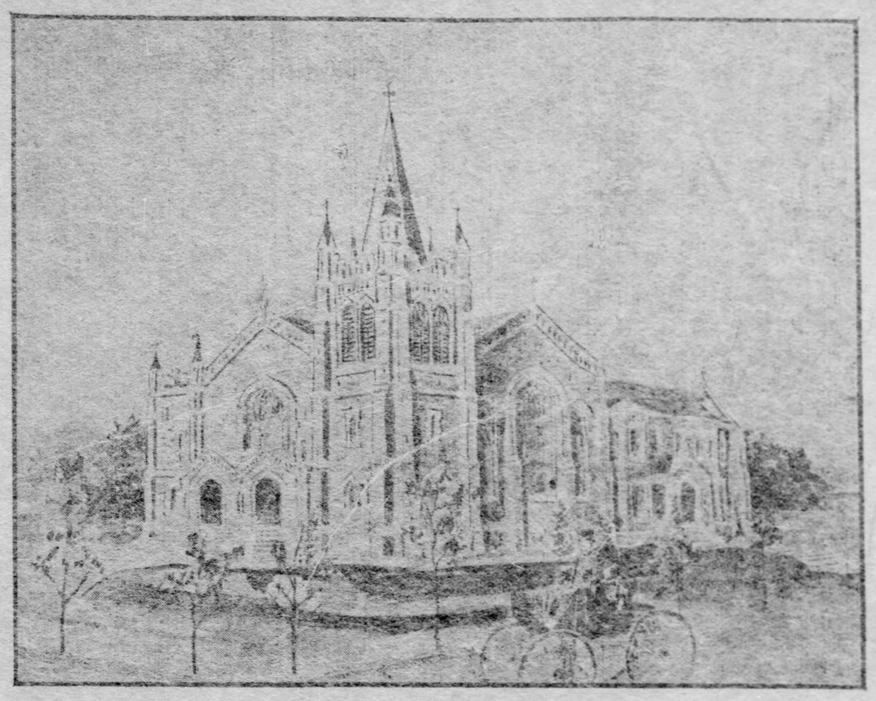
Among those who will speak early are Senators Carmack, Money, Teller, Culberson, Turner, Patterson, Jones of Arkansas and Bacon. Senator Lodge will seek the earliest opportunity to have the amendments recommended by his committee formally adopted, but probably will not press these when senators are prepared to proceed with set speeches.

Senator Nelson will take advantage of every chance to have the bill creating a department of commerce considered, with the hope of securing action upon it during the week if possible.

QUIET WEEK IN THE HOUSE.

No Measures of Extreme Importance Now Pending to Take the Attention of Congressmen.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—The house leaders have made no program for the work of the present week, as there are no measure of importance pressing for attention, although the anti-oleomargarine bill and the Hill bill for the exchangeability of gold and silver are both on the calendar and may be taken up before long. Thus far no exact time has been fixed for either of these measures, and the house bills will take their chances as opportunity [illegible]. There promises to [illegible] considerable time to spare during the [illegible] there are no appropriation bills ready to fill the gap when bills of a general nature are lacking. The chief interest of the week centers in the opening of hearings by the ways and means committee on the reduction of war revenue taxes. The committee gives tomorrow to this subject, hearing the beer interests in the morning and the tea interests in the afternoon.



SIXTH PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The congregation of the Sixth Presbyterian church, which was organized in 1850 and worshiped for over 50 years in the building at the corner of Franklin and Townsend streets, will soon see the foundations laid for the new structure to be built at the corner of Forbes street and Murray Hill avenue. The work of grading the lot has already commenced, and the church will be completed by April 1, 1903. The structure will be built of Beaver sandstone in the English Gothic style. Its dimensions are 82x132 feet. The auditorium will have a seating capacity of 700, and the Sunday school room and lecture room will accommodate 400 more. The entire interior is to be finished in oak and with its open truss ceilings will be one of the most tasty auditoriums in the city. The plans, which were drawn by Architect J. Lewis Beatty, call for a pastor's study, trustees' room, infant class rooms, ladies and gentlemen's retiring room, and all the conveniences that are known to the modern church. The estimated cost of the church is $50,000. The members of the construction committee are Captain J. A. A. Brown, John Burford, S. A. Dies, and Dr. A. M. Stevenson, and the Rev. J. S. Nichols is the pastor.

INDUSTRIAL GROWTH HAS BEEN WONDERFUL

Statistics Show That Uncle Sam Has Made Great Strides in the Last Fifty Years.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.

"The Progress of the United States in Its Material Industries" is the title of a monograph issued by the treasury bureau of statistics, which contains a series of statements which show the rapid development during the century of the important factors in the present prosperity of the country. These tables, which occupy a number of closely printed pages, show the development in products of the field, forest, mine and manufactory, the growth in our population, wealth and commerce, the extension of railways, telegraphs and other methods of communication and transportation.

The production of wool in this country has increased from 35,802,114 pounds in 1840 to 302,542,203 pounds in 1901; wheat, from 157,909,906 bushels in 1866 to 522,229,505 bushels in 1900; corn, from 807,946,295 bushels in 1866 to 2,105,102,516 bushels in 1900; copper, from 650 tons in 1850 to 270,588 tons in 1900; pig iron, from 165,000 tons in 1880 to 15,800,000 tons in 1901; petroleum, from 21,000,000 gallons in 1860 to 2,661,233,558 gallons in 1900; coal, from 3,358,899 tons in 1850 to 267,850,000 tons in 1901, and gold, from $50,000,000 in 1850 to $79,171,000 in 1901.

During the period under consideration exports of merchandise have grown from $370,971,780 in 1800 to $1,487,764,091 in 1901; the per capita in 1890 being $13.27 and in 1901, $18.81. The imports of merchandise have grown from $91,252,768 in 1860 to $823,172,165 in 1901, while the per capita imports have fallen from $17.19 in 1800 to $10.58 in 1901.

Turning to the figures which show the net results of these developments, those relating to wealth, circulation, deposits, etc., the tables show that the wealth has increased from $7,135,780,000 in 1850 to an estimated $94,300,000,000 in 1900; the per capita wealth, from $307 09 in 1850 to $1,235 86 in 1900. The public debt less cash in the treasury was in 1865, $76 08 per capita, and in 1901 was $13 44 per capita; while the interest on the public debt which in 1867 was $143,781,592 had fallen to $32,342,797 in 1901. The figures of money in circulation show in 1860 a total of $435,407,252, and in 1901, $2,175,687,277. The circulation per capita in 1860 was $13 85; in 1901, $28 02. The deposits in savings banks in 1830 were $6,973,304; in 1883, 53 years later, they were $1,924,856,787, and by 1901, a further period of only 18 years, had reached $2,537,094,389. Meantime the national banking system had come into operation, and in 1865 the deposits in national banks were $500,810,873; in 1889, $1,000,452,852, and in 1901, $3,044,600,000. The number of depositors in savings banks grew from 38,085 in 1830 to 1,067,051 in 1868, and 6,358,723 in 1901. Railways grew from 9,021 miles in 1870 to 199,378 in 1901; and freight carried one mile increased from 39,302,209,249 tons in 1882 to 141,162,109,413 tons in 1900, freight rates falling meantime from 1.24 cent per ton per mile to 75.100th of one cent per ton per mile.

WIDENER IS PLANNING A MAGNIFICENT FEAST

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Jan. 26.—President Roosevelt may be the guest of P. A. B. Widener at the dinner which the latter will give at his Ashbourne mansion on the evening of February 5, with one of the most notable assemblages of public men ever seen in Philadelphia as guests. Plans for the dinner are being kept secret, but it is known that the feast and reception will be the most sumptuous ever given at the Widener mansion.

At Ashbourne a score of artisans and artists are preparing for the event. Mechanics are working on structures of various kinds which will be a revelation to those bidden to the banqueting board; the markets of the world are being laid under tribute to furnish their best for the tables; the floral decorations will be the most exquisite which nature can be coaxed into giving in the middle of winter. There are 200 rooms in the Widener mansion, and nearly all will be bowers of floral beauty. A hundred great palms will be a detail of the plan of decoration.

Among the names mentioned as guests, in addition to President Roosevelt, are J. Pierpont Morgan, Charles M. Schwab, August Belmont, C. Oliver Iselin, Herman Oelrichs, William C. Whitney, Henry C. Frick, Marshall Field, Abram S. Hewitt and William E. Dodge.

Bears Hammer Cereal Market

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, ILL., Jan. 25.—Reported improved conditions in the winter wheat belt, together with the decided slump in corn, caused an unmerciful hammering of the wheat market today, and May wheat closed with a loss of 1¾@1⅞c at 78⅛c. Corn was in a worse dilemma than wheat and closed 1⅝c lower for May. Liquidation by the bull clique apparently secure profits caused the break. Oats closed ⅝c lower in sympathy with the other grains. Provisions ruled steady throughout the session.

Marshall County Shows Improvement.

Operators in the lower southwest fields had a little more to discuss in the way of field development during the past week than for some time. In Marshall county, West Virginia, the Gordon sand territory shows a decided improvement, judging from the showing made by some of the new wells drilled in during the week. All are test wells and of double importance. The South Penn Oil Company secured a 150-barrel producer when it drilled in its test on the A. S. Leach farm and another still better when it tapped the pay on Saturday at its No. 2, on the Alley-Lewis farm, and got a producer that started to flow at the rate of 10-barrels an hour and is the largest producer in Marshall county. Benedum Bros.' No. 1, on the Booher-Hicks farm, now two weeks old, is holding up at 140 barrels a day.

In the "Little Germany" district, four miles southwest of this cluster of good producers, the South Penn Oil Company drilled in its No. 30, on the Breiding heirs' farm, and will have a 40 or 50-barrel pumper. Operations are quite active in the whole stretch of territory extending from the old Garner pool in Wetzel county to the Cameron district to the northeast in Marshall county.

The coming week will be interesting on account of a number of important test wells being due in the sand.

In the Pine Grove district, Wetzel county, several good producers were completed during the week, but all are located inside defined limits and consequently of little importance to any except those directly interested. Within a few weeks more should be known of the new Gordon sand development in the vicinity of the South Penn Oil Company's producer on the Jacob Cunningham farm, near the Marion-Wetzel county line. Some eight or ten wells are drilling in this locality and they are so located as to test the territory in all directions, from the Cunningham farm producer.

In the Salem district, Harrison county, operations are active and operators are meeting with fair success. Southwest of Salem the United States Oil Company has a couple of fine producers on the J. W. Williams farm. The South Penn Oil Company's test, on the J. M. Pratt farm has been completed and is producing at the rate of 20 barrels a day from the Gordon sand.

On the west side of the Wallace district the South Penn Oil Company drilled its test well on the J. A. Lambert farm, into the stray sand and developed a strong gas pressure. Near Sedalia, Doddridge county, the Carter Oil Company drilled in a second test well on the Samuel Garner farm, and secured a 20-barrel producer.

In the lower end of Gilmer county, near the Braxton county line, the South Penn Oil Company added another failure to its list of dusters. This made the ninth well this company has completed in that section in an effort to develop a pool of salt sand production. Of the nine wells completed all but two are dusters. One more well is drilling in this development and if it comes in dry it will probably put an end to any further work in that part of Gilmer county.

Work in the Big Injun sand, in the south fork of Hughes river, Ritchie county, is increasing. The Carter Oil Company is drilling seven wells on the J. Flanaghan and Perry Davis farms. The Hartman Oil Company's No. 8, on the George M. Ireland farm, coming in a duster, rather gave a black eye to the northern end of the pool. The Consolidated Oil Company also ran up against a duster when it drilled its test well in the Frank Maxwell heirs' farm into the Gordon sand.

On Big Knot run, Lafayette district, Pleasants county, Mallory Bros. have a 150-barrel producer at their test, on the C. C. Weekly farm. There is no doubt but a pool of oil much larger than has been defined will be developed in this territory. This is evidenced by the way the oil fills up and with an increased production when shot.

On Bins run, Pleasants county, operations are declining, the territory, or at least the best of it, has been drilled over.

Southeastern Ohio.

On the Ohio side the past week proved dull and the wells completed were not important as to location or size.

In the Richards Mills district, Washington county, the Carter Oil Company's test well, on the Enoch Cline farm, continues to hold up at better than 100 barrels a day. This, and the Big Lime producer on the Spicy farm, near Lewisville, in Marion county, are the only two wells in southeastern Ohio that can claim a production of 100 or more barrels a day.

The shallow sand territory, in Morgan county, is completing a large number of wells. Thirty-four wells were completed in this territory during the month and more than 31 per cent proved failures.

The extension of the old Mordoxville field, near Burgettstown, Washington county, Pa., is the most active of any of the local developments. Several good producers were added to the list during the week. Across the state line, in Hancock county, W. Va., is a development that is causing some excitement and is encouraging the starting of some new work.

In Butler county the Speechley sand development failed to present any new attractions during the past week.

CHAMPION SWIMMER ARRIVES

Lady Constance Mackenzie, Who Holds the Amateur Championship in England, Is in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Lady Constance Mackenzie, niece of the duchess of Sutherland and sister of the countess of Cromartie, arrived today on the Cunard liner Umbria. Lady Constance is the champion woman swimmer of England having booked much throughout the United Kingdom for her repeated triumphs at the London swimming bath contests.

Last August she carried off for the third successive time the ladies' challenge shield, a feat which rivaled her claim on the championship. Her favorite swimming costume is bright green, with tartan trimmings, in honor of her Scotch connections. She is an all-around athlete and excels in many sports. She is also an accomplished player upon the guitar, as is her sister, the countess.

Lady Constance is the possible heiress to one of the largest fortunes of England. Her sister, the countess of Cromartie, who is also viscountess of Tarbat, and Baroness MacLeod of Castle Leod, is possessed of vast estates, whose income is estimated at $200,000 a year.

OPPOSITION TO SIX COMPANIES KILLED PROJECT

OLD GRUDGES REVIVED

Bitter Feeling Engendered Many Years Ago Caused Small Response to Appeal for Funds to Fight Re-enactment of Exclusion Law.

The Chinamen of this city have practically abandoned all hope of preventing the re-enactment of the Chinese exclusion act when it is presented before the house of representatives at Washington next week. The Chinese leaders of this city have been unremitting in their efforts to secure funds to make the contest, but the dissenting opinion that prevailed among the Chinamen, who were opposed to the members of the Six Companies making the contest, was too great for them. The local Chinamen raised over $4,200, and this money was sent to California by the representative of the Six Companies, Que Wong Lee. This fund was turned over to the promoters of the plan to oppose the re-enactment of the exclusion act.

There was a large meeting yesterday afternoon of Chinamen at the store rooms of Quong On Wah, at 445 Water street. Yee Chin, president of this firm, presided at the meeting. The purpose of the meeting was to take some definite action for raising more money to oppose the re-adoption of the act, and to appoint delegates to go to Washington when the test on the re-enactment of the law is made.

Few Were Present.

Owing to the fact that the weather was so bad very few of the Chinamen from the surrounding counties and suburbs of the city were present. There was quite a lively discussion at the meeting.

The Chinamen connected with the movement of the Six Companies undertook to censure the recalcitrants for opposing them. The insurgent element replied that they were justified in doing so, as they had no faith in the motive of the Six Companies.

They said that the Six Companies, which was then composed of many of the same persons, had oppressed and harrassed them 24 years ago. These same men, who now ask them to contribute for the cause named treated them and their relatives in a shameful manner at that time. Yee Chin attempted to show them that this was not in accordance with the patriotic spirit they should manifest at this time. He attempted to show them that they should be in unity with the measures already taken to permit their fellow countrymen to immigrate to this country.

Six Companies Opposed.

Instead of this he said they openly opposed the action of the Six Companies and deliberately sent agents through the country to argue against any aid being given the Six Companies.

Lee You of 210 Grant street opposed Yee Chin. He said that he was at first in favor of lending all the aid he could to support the Six Companies. He said, however, that many of the friends had come to him and refused to contribute any money, or have anything to do with the movement. Lee You told the gathering that the labor organizations were too strong for the Chinese. He said that they had thousands of dollars to use in the contest with, and all the money expended by the Six Companies would be of no avail toward securing them free immigration. He told them that he would be in favor of making amendments to the present act. He said that he thought the Chinamen in this country would be fortunate if they were permitted to journey to any from their country.

Project Fell Through.

They are permitted to do so, but the clause was so rigid that few of them that returned to their country were ever able to come back again. There were about 160 Chinamen at the meeting. Most of them were from this city. There were a few celestials from Greensburg and Latrobe.

Most of the Chinamen who were appointed to solicit for contributions throughout the surrounding counties said yesterday that they were unable to stir the enthusiasm among their countrymen. They said that the bitterness against the Six Companies was too great for them to combat. When they solicited for money and said that the Six Companies were going to make the contest the Chinamen would immediately manifest their disapproval and refuse to contribute a cent.

FUGITIVE SURRENDERS.

Sheriff Had Made Futile Trip to San Francisco, While Culprit Hid Near Home.

PANA, Ill., Jan. 26.—Sheriff Miner of Shelby county was surprised Saturday by the surrender of a fugitive whom he has been hunting for a year and for whom he went to San Francisco three weeks ago. This man was George Larison, wanted also by the United States authorities for desertion while on duty at Porto Rico in 1899. He was once arrested after having reached his old home and taken to Jefferson Barracks, but escaped within a few hours and was heard from next near Shelbyville, where he and Tone Barker broke into a Big Four freight car and stole some of its contents. Both were arrested, but escaped.

Barker was arrested recently in San Francisco, where Sheriff Miner went to look for them. For the last three weeks Larison has been hiding at Lithia Springs and claims not to have been outside the county since his last escape.

REMNANT DAY TOMORROW.

The Third of the Winter Remnant Days—and the Best One of Them All.

A Day Among the Remnants of Remnants. Store Open 7:45.

To Out-of-Town Residents.

Last Tuesday forcibly demonstrated to us that many residents of neighboring towns were greatly interested in these Remnant Sales. We give the news of tomorrow a day in advance so that all may have plenty of time to study the underpriced values.

Much more than the expense of the trip can be easily saved by spending the day with us.

Remnants of Colored Dress Woolens.

Fifth Street Aisle.

2½ to 7 yard Remnants of 35c all-wool Mixtures and 25c double fold Cashmere in a pretty red, both marked to 15c a yard.

All the Remnants of choice plain and mixed 46c, 50c, 85c and 75c Dress Goods will be tossed out tomorrow in this third Remnant Sale, at 25c a yard. Two-thirds of these colored woolens are composed of the 50c and 75c grades.

All Remnants of whatsoever length and color of this season's best styles and colors in Suitings—both solid colors and mixtures—the grades that sold rapidly for $1 and $1 25 a yard will be sold for 50c a yard. There are skirt and waist lengths in this greatest of remnant offerings.

Imported Novelties and Suitings—English and French weaves in lengths of from 2 to 6 yards—sold for $1 25, $1 50, $2, $2 50 and $3 a yard—will be sold for the special price of 75c a yard.

Second Floor.

The news would be rather tame did we not say they formerly sold for $20. Blue and brown cheviot. The former price says they are tailored right.

Girls' Jackets for $2.50—former prices were $5 and $8. Sizes 4 to 6 years.

Remnants of Colored Silks

Fifth Street Aisle.

Some of the following paragraphs need a careful reading to understand the news correctly—notably the one about Foulard lengths.

Taffeta Silks in waist and skirt lengths—the 75c and $1 grades, in all the leading colorings—tomorrow 50c and 58c a yard.

Waist lengths in Novelty Silks—3 and 3½ yards—marked very cheap to close them out. Such a variety of qualities that prices cannot be given.

Foulard lengths containing 3 and 3½ yards—the piece for the former price of a yard. Former prices were 85c, $1 and $1.25 a yard.

Foulards that sold for $1, $1.25 and $1.50 a yard, Liberty Satins that sold for $1, $1.25 and $1.50 a yard—newest colorings and designs—in lengths of from 12 to 15 yards—are to be sold for 65c and 75c a yard.

Black Silk Remnants.

Fifth Street Aisle.

Fine news for women who want Black Silks.

Wash Waists.

Second Floor.

One lot of colored Madras Wash Waists.

Aisle Right of Main.

Such a rush for remnants of ribbons the other two remnant days that every last remnant was cleaned up. We can do nothing better than put in fresh ribbons at half prices.

Satin Face Velvet Ribbons in widths from 1 inch to 2½ inches, 10c, 15c, 20c, 25c and 50c a yard. Former prices were just double.

Sixth Floor.

All Toys, even the mechanical Toys, are reduced out of all proportion to the amount of amusement the youngsters can get out of them. Some very clever things at prices like these:

Annex, Street Floor.

Remnant Lots of Women's Tailored Suits.

Second Floor.

There's a cant phrase that runs "Everything comes to those who wait." True about women who have waited to get good and stylish suits for a song.

$10 for suits that sold for $18 and $20. This lot—about 20—has both black and colors.

Fifth Floor.

Aside from the fact that these are just the right kind of pieces for pillow covers, or for re-covering the seats of chairs, it is interesting to know that they are remnants of upholstering stuffs that sell anywhere from $2 to $4 a yard.

Annex, Street Floor.

Remnants of bleached Barnsley Crash—all linen and 7½c goods, will be sold for 5c a yard.

Several remnant lots of bleached and cream Turkish Towels and those extra good Huckaback Towels, will be sold for 7c each.
